ALLIES GAIN EVERYWHERE

TEUTONS ARE FORCED BACK IN ALL AREAS

Slavs Win Stanislau; Italians Near Triest; Anglo-French Make Gains.

LAUNCH BALKAN DRIVE.

In the three principal theaters of war—the French, the Russian, and the Italian fronts—the armies of the entente allies continued yesterday their steady pressure against the forces of Germany and Austria.

In addition, a new field of operations by the allies was opened by a revival of activity on the Balkan front.

The Russians captured Stanislau, the principal railroad center in southeastern Galicia, in their southern flanking campaign against Lemberg, capital of the Galician province, and are continuing their advance.

The Italians continued driving the Austrians back east and south of Goritz and were reported to have advanced within eighteen miles of Trieste, one of the main objectives of the Italian campaign.

In France, both the British and French armies made further gains in the region of the Somme river, capturing German positions and trenches and advancing their own lines.

On the Balkan front the Anglo-French-Serbian forces attacked the Bulgarians on the Grecian frontier and captured important positions near the city of Doiran.

SLAVS TAKE STANISLAU

PETROGRAD, Aug. 11.—Stanislau, the important railroad center southeast of Lemberg, capital of Galicia, has been occupied by Russian troops, the war office announced in the official statement given out this evening.

The capture of Stanislau gives the Russians another gateway through which they can march toward Lemberg. Like Brody, Stanislau is an important railroad center. Railroads radiate from it in five directions. It is eighty-seven miles southeast of Lemberg and is situated between two forks of the Bystritsa river, ten miles south of the Dniester.

Stanislau was a manufacturing city and agricultural center before the war and had a population of 33,000.

ADVANCE ON HALICH.

The troops of Gen. Letchitsky captured Stanislau Thursday evening and pursued the Austrians, who retreated in the direction of Halich.

The Russians also have made important successes in the Sereth region. They compelled the Austro-Germans to retire from the fortified positions of Gliadka and Yorobievak, and have occupied the town of Monasterzyska. The official statement reads:

As a result of our success on the river Sereth in the region of Nesterovce and Yankovce, the enemy was compelled to retire from the fortified positions of Gliadka and Vorobievak. In conjunction with the success achieved by us in the vicinity of the Monasterzyska-Niznioff railway line, our troops resumed the offensive in the region north of Monasterzyska.

OCCUPY SEVERAL TOWNS.

After capturing an enemy position by assault, our troops advanced to the middle Koropice river, and, after driving the enemy from fortified works, definitely occupied the town of Monasterzyska.

One of our mounted machine gun detachments, after having repaired the destroyed bridge at Monasterzyska, pushed along to the rear of the Third German reserve regiment, and the latter, still offering resistance, was annihilated by our armored machine guns. In the vicinity of the confluence of the Zlota Lipa, our cavalry detachments, continuing the advance, occupied the village of Ustiezeliono, at the junction of the river of Khoro-

Lord Northcliffe Paints with Pen Scenes in Goritz

STRATEGY WINS CITY

BY LORD NORTHCLIFFE.

[Owner and Editor of the London Times.]

GORITZ, Aug. 10, via London, Aug. 11.—To have broken bread well inside the enemy territory is quite a new experience in the war. This afternoon I had an excellent Austrian meal at Grosse's café in Goritz.

As recently as Tuesday this dispatch would have been dated Goritz, Austria. Today, though the pink and white Austrian shrapnel is still bursting fitfully over the town, Goritz is firmly Italian. The billboards are covered with German advertisements; German newspapers still hang in the racks outside the shops, but the brilliant green, white and red of the Italian flag with the cross of Savoy flutters from the windows of the beautiful villas along the Corso.

Friendly with Italians.

The inhabitants wish the shelling would cease, but they wave friendly signals to serried masses of gray clad infantry with blue steel helmets who are sweeping through the delightful city on their way to the conquest of the Carso plateau.

It will please believers in the mounted men to know that the cavalry already are taking part in the pursuit and are expectant of great things in the near future. With the cavalry are the gray armored motor cars, which the Austrians after their bitter experience of the last few days are known to dread.

Enters Austrian Territory.

We entered what was till lately Austrian territory at Cormons and after pushing our way for an hour and a half through the clouds of dust raised by the outgoing transport of men and great guns, ammunition and food and the incoming motors of the Italian and British Red Cross, we arrived in sight of the serpentine Isonzo, the bluest of rivers.

Here we left our car in hiding and walked, sometimes under cover, sometimes in the open, to the lower bridge, which the Italian engineers, with wonderful promptness, have already repaired.

Trenches Badly Battered.

On our way we examined the Italian and Austrian trenches, which for many long months had been within speaking distance of each other. So accurate was the Italian artillery fire that, while their own trenches, neatly lined with steel lattice work new to me, were intact, those of the enemy, which appear to be lined with a kind of basketwork such as is often seen in the Tyrol were as badly smashed as the German trenches on the Somme.

On our left rose Monte Sabotino, key to the whole formidable bridgehead of Goritz. When, on Sunday last, it was taken by the Italians its loss, combined with the terrific bombardment that has

MARKET RISE REVEALS U. S. GRAIN QUIZ

EVIDENCE IN HAND.

That a federal investigation of an alleged conspiracy formed a month ago between a number of big milling interests with a number of grain operators to manipulate the wheat market has been under way for four weeks became known yesterday. This revelation led to the assumption that the sudden jump in the price of wheat is not wholly due to the prediction of a shortage, as claimed by board of trade operators.

The government's investigation of an alleged plot by speculators was started, it is said, one week before the annual crop report was made public, after information had reached the department of justice that such a conspiracy had been formed.

CLYNE ASSIGNS FLEMING.

District Attorney Clyne, it is known, has assigned Assistant Joseph Fleming to handle the local end of the operations of big speculators on the board of trade. Also documentary evidence, which has been gathered by Hinton G. Clabaugh, is in Mr. Clyne's hands.

That investigators have gathered evidence throughout the northwestern territory and compiled figures which they say tend to show that big milling interests of the northwest and several big Chicago grain operators are working in conjunction was admitted yesterday by an attaché of Mr. Clyne's office.

SIGNIFICANT CONFERENCE.

Following the discovery of this information, despite the numerous denials that the government was making an investigation, there was a conference between District Attorney Clyne and E. N. Hurley, chairman of the federal trade commission. The subject of the conference is said to have been the recent rise in the price of wheat.

Mr. Hurley arrived in the city in the afternoon. It was denied in the district attorney's office that Mr. Clyne and Mr. Hurley had held a conference to discuss the investigation of the wheat market, but such a conference did occur. The reason for the denial of the report that the government was making an investigation was said to be their reluctance to make any statement which might cause unnatural fluctuation until sufficient evidence was at hand.

HAS DATA ON "CLEANUPS."

The office of District Attorney Clyne is said to be in possession of the amount of the several enormous fortunes made by local speculators on the jump in price of the last three days. The names could not be obtained last night nor the amounts.

When asked about the government's investigation, District Attorney Clyne said:

"Whatever action the government might be taking in this matter necessarily must be withheld. Should there be any investigation under way, it is the policy of the government never to reveal the information. To do so would be defeating the very thing we desire to accomplish in such matters. An investigation of the wheat situation or of any other situation must require deliberate action.

WOULD TAKE TO COVER.

"Should any plans be made known in advance of our attempts to gather sufficient evidence to indict, it would be the signal for the market manipulators to take to cover. It also might result in a serious situation in the wheat market."

Although Mr. Clyne refused to discuss the matter, it was learned that he has in his office figures, dates, and the names of men who are on the "inside" of the big jump. He also has figures of the amount of grain stored in the big granaries of the northwest. Most of these figures were gathered by agents of the department of justice under the supervision of Hinton Clabaugh.

WORKED FROM ST. PAUL.

These investigators made St. Paul their headquarters. One of the reports turned in by an investigator shows that there will be on hand, in round figures, 654,000,000 bushels of wheat from this year's crop. It also shows that the millers of the northwest and other wheat dealers held out 160,000,000 bushels from the crop of 1915.

Most of this is being held or is con-

Today May Decide Strike or Peace Upon Railroads

INSIST ON DEMANDS

New York, Aug. 11.—[Special.]—Mediation between the railroads and their employés seems to have failed, as one discouraging development followed another today through a gloomy twenty-four hours.

The crisis is expected tomorrow at 10 a. m., when the brotherhoods' representatives meet the federal board of mediation in Webster hall, East Eleventh street, to hear whatever proposal it has to make. The men refused to wait forty-eight hours more for the board to frame its proposals.

The one glimmer of hope which penetrated the clouds was the suggestion that an expansion of the size of the board of arbitration, under a liberal interpretation of the Newlands act, may meet the objection of the union men that they have no representation among the arbitrators. It was reported efforts were made by the mediators today to get Washington's approval of such a change as to give the brotherhoods four arbitrators, the roads four, and four to be neutral.

Wilson Appeal May Fail.

Even President Wilson's intervention may be of little avail, for the four big brotherhoods, representing the 400,000 men who have voted overwhelmingly for a strike, are so firmly against arbitration that they are in no mood to listen to Mr. Wilson's moral suasion. They as much as said so.

Back in the inland states union men are growing impatient and are sending their delegates here telegrams demanding to know the cause of the delay.

The union representatives here realize that they have told their men to vote a strike—which they did—and that they told them at the same time how easily it could be won. Now the leaders feel that it is squarely up to them to achieve the victory they had promised. As to arbitration, they bring up the unsatisfactory awards that fell to the western firemen and engineers in 1914.

"If you burn your fingers once you're apt to be afraid of the fire," said A. B. Garretson, president of the Railway Conductors.

Do Not Fear Compulsion.

The threat of compulsory arbitration found this response from him:

"That old chestnut has had its whiskers trimmed for the last twenty years. Any legislator who depends on the popular vote is careful of what legislation he proposes."

"What is your attitude toward arbitration?" President Warren S. Stone of the Locomotive Engineers was asked tonight.

"Concessions by both sides," he replied. "When a dispute goes to arbitration the men never get as much as they start out after. In former years the men always were anxious for arbitration. Now it is the railroads that consider arbitration the panacea for industrial upheaval."

Switchmen a Big Factor.

One of the most important factors in the situation is in the hands of the switchmen, Mr. Stone said. Nearly all western freight, he pointed out, passes through a narrow neck of tracks in Chicago where "laying down" of switchmen would block trains for a hundred miles.

Up to the last the railroad managers are expected to maintain their present tactics, without making any definite declaration regarding what concessions they would be willing to make to the employés.

Wilson Gives Up Trip.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 11.—President Wilson decided tonight to give up a week end cruise he had planned to take on the Mayflower because, White House officials said, he was anxious to keep in close touch with the negotiations in New York for averting a general railroad strike.

60,000 DIE OF STARVATION IN SYRIA, WRITER ASSERTS.

LONDON, Aug. 12, 3:35 a. m.—A Times correspondent back from Syria writes concerning conditions there:

"The state of the people of Syria is past all belief. It is estimated that from 60,000 to 80,000 have died from starvation in northern Syria. The Turks are proceeding with great thoroughness in removing large sections of the population, and in some vilayets there are no Arabic speaking Christians left."

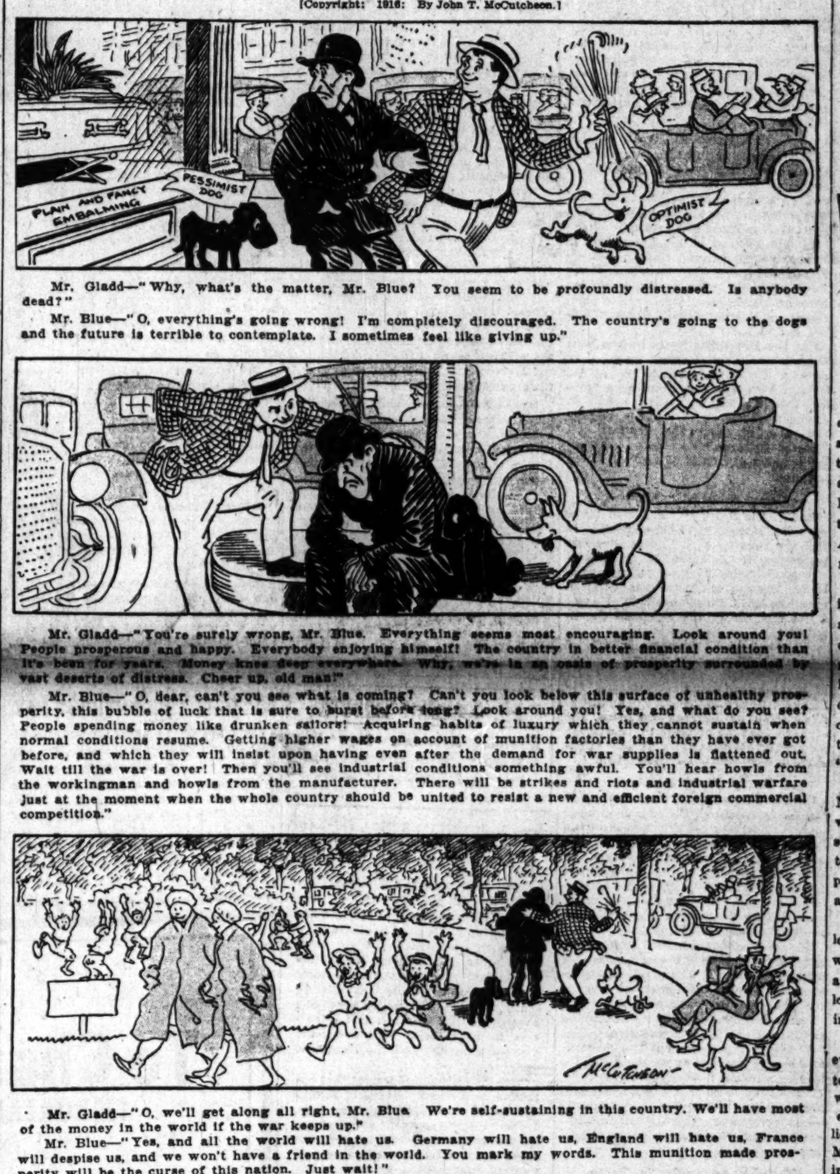
[Copyright: 1916: By John T. McCutcheon.]



Mr. Gladd—"Why, what's the matter, Mr. Blue? You seem to be profoundly distressed. Is anybody dead?"

Mr. Blue—"O, everything's going wrong! I'm completely discouraged. The country's going to the dogs and the future is terrible to contemplate. I sometimes feel like giving up."

Mr. Gladd—"You're surely wrong, Mr. Blue. Everything seems most encouraging. Look around you! People prosperous and happy. Everybody enjoying himself! The country in better financial condition than it's been for years. Money knee deep everywhere. Why, we're in an oasis of prosperity surrounded by vast deserts of distress. Cheer up, old man!"

Mr. Blue—"O, dear, can't you see what is coming? Can't you look below this surface of unhealthy prosperity, this bubble of luck that is sure to burst before long? Look around you! Yes, and what do you see? People spending money like drunken sailors! Acquiring habits of luxury which they cannot sustain when normal conditions resume. Getting higher wages on account of munition factories than they have ever got before, and which they will insist upon having even after the demand for war supplies is flattened out. Wait till the war is over! Then you'll see industrial conditions something awful. You'll hear howls from the workingman and howls from the manufacturer. There will be strikes and riots and industrial warfare just at the moment when the whole country should be united to resist a new and efficient foreign commercial competition."

Mr. Gladd—"O, we'll get along all right, Mr. Blue. We're self-sustaining in this country. We'll have most of the money in the world if the war keeps up."

Mr. Blue—"Yes, and all the world will hate us. Germany will hate us, England will hate us, France will despise us, and we won't have a friend in the world. You mark my words. This munition made prosperity will be the curse of this nation. Just wait!"

Mr. Gladd—"O, cheer up, Mr. Blue. Let's go out and watch the bathers."

WINDSOR-CLIFTON GUEST FALLS FROM FOURTH FLOOR.

J. M. Gallagher, New York Traveling Salesman, Hangs for Time in Guy Wires of Sign.

J. M. Gallagher, a traveling salesman from New York, fell from a fourth story window of the Windsor-Clifton hotel this morning at 12:55. He fell onto the guy wires of the hotel sign and hung there until just before the hotel employés reached him. Dr. Gill, the house physician, said he had his chest crushed, his back injured, one leg paralyzed, and probably a skull fracture.

It is not known whether he jumped or fell. All the word from him was, "Dr. Gill, save me, save me; don't let them do this."

He is married and his wife is in New York. He was taken to St. Luke's hospital.

He had been registered at the hotel for ten days. He sells cloth and trimmings to tailors. He is a regular Chicago visitor, according to H. J. Rottman, manager of the hotel. He has a brother who sells the same line.

HINDENBURG PROMISED THIRTY MORE DIVISIONS?

LONDON, Aug. 12, 3 a. m.—A dispatch to the Morning Post from Budapest says:

"Gen. Hindenburg has been promised another ten divisions shortly and twenty more within a month. The ten are to come from Turkey and the twenty from the western front.

"The need for men in the dual monarchy is such that men who have lost one arm or who have a paralyzed arm are now being trained to operate machine guns.

"The work, which is marvelous, can be done by men with one hand apiece, it is said by an officer who is instructing men of this class."

MAYOR SHUTS UP THE CADILLAC

Big Bill at Last Takes Notice of All Night Levee Resort.

Mayor Thompson yesterday afternoon put the Cadillac café out of business. He revoked the restaurant license of that remnant of the old levee, thereby stamping out of existance the only all night unlicensed saloon in Chicago's recent history.

Policemen will serve written notice this morning upon the licensees, Samuel Rothschild and Louis Bahlou, that their grant of authority to conduct a restaurant at 2136 Wabash avenue has been terminated. Once more the doors of the old adjunct of the underworld will be closed.

Thompson Blames Olson.

"I have acted entirely upon the recommendation of the law department in this matter since its inception," he said, before leaving for Oconomowoc. "It had been intended to await the outcome of the cases for selling liquor without a license, but I understand Chief Justice Olson of the Municipal court continued those cases for a long time, and for that reason the law department considered the use of extreme measures necessary."

Corporation Counsel Ettelson presented to the mayor with his concurrence the recommendation of City Prosecutor Miller that the place be closed at once.

Long Fight on Cafe.

The fight against the café has been waged almost unaided by the Juvenile Protective association. Miss Amelia Sears, superintendent for the organization, caused the investigation which led to the presentation of evidence to Chief of Police Healey and the law department which furnished the basis for the institution of suits. Miss Sears generally is given the credit for the persistent battle which finally wiped the all night café off the city map.

Find Woman; Throat Cut

At 12:30 this morning the West North avenue police received a message to the effect that a woman had been murdered at 1846 North Mozart street. When they reached the place they found Mrs. Emma Bender, a widow, lying on the floor with her throat cut. She was rushed to St. Elisabeth's hospital, where physicians say she has little chance of recovery.

According to information furnished the police by neighbors, Christ Wolf of 2004 North avenue, who had been paying Mrs. Bender attentions, was seen in the widow's home during the evening. They were told Mrs. Bender had rejected his offers of marriage, and it is believed that in a jealous rage after a final effort to induce her to marry him he seized a razor and slashed her throat.

HIS LIFE'S END HASTENED BY HOT WEATHER

Wife and Medical Colleagues at Bedside in Island Hotel.

Dr. John B. Murphy of this city, one of the leaders among American surgeons and known in his profession throughout the world, died at 3:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the Grand hotel, Mackinac Island. Mrs. Murphy was with him at the time of death, as was Dr. L. L. McArthur of Chicago, who is a summer resident at Mackinac.

The first news of Dr. Murphy's death indicated that a form of heart disease—an inflammation of the aorta—was the cause of death, but the surgeon's close medical friends in Chicago who had knowledge of his symptoms, ascribed death to diabetic coma. He had for days complained of an almost intolerable thirst and latterly of drowsiness.

"NEARLY THROUGH," HE SAYS.

"I'm pretty nearly through," Dr. Murphy told a friend in Wheaton—where he was spending the summer—some ten days ago as they were walking together. He was suffering some heart pain during the intensely hot weather and was depressed.

He did not grow better—he actually lost fifteen pounds in weight within a week or so, and lost Monday evening he and Mrs. Murphy, with Dr. J. E. Keefe, a long time friend, a dentist, went to Mackinac by train, arriving Tuesday morning.

He was up and about until Wednesday evening, but he told friends that the intense heat in Chicago, coupled with hard work, had been so severe it had weakened him almost to prostration. He believed he was suffering from angina, but Mrs. Murphy hoped he would recuperate in the cooler climate.

CONDITION BECOMES ALARMING

On Thursday there were alarming reports of his condition and yesterday until his death he was under the constant care of Dr. McArthur, who is one of his eminent colleagues in surgery.

Mrs. Murphy left last night with the body and will arrive in Chicago just after noon today, going to her town residence, 3305 Michigan avenue.

Dr. Murphy had not been in good health for several months, and some had ascribed his condition to the poisoned soup eaten at the Archbishop Mundelein dinner at the University club last winter. It was remarked that he is the third well known Chicagoan present at that banquet who had subsequently died, the other two being Andrew J. Graham, the banker, and Judge Richard E. Burke.

Physicians, however, declared these deaths were merely coincidences, and Dr. John F. Golden, Dr. Murphy's nephew and close associate, specifically repudiated the theory that the poisoned soup had anything to do with his uncle's illness.

DEATH SHOCK TO ALL.

News of the death of Dr. Murphy was a shock not only to his colleagues in the medical and hospital world, but also to thousands who have known him as patients and to the general public. Dr. Murphy was 58 years old. Recently he was knighted by Pope Benedict because of his researches in surgery.

HIS WIFE A PARTNER.

He had never been a man of rugged health, and he had carved out his career through his own efforts and practically without assistance. His wife, Jeannette C. Plamondon, sister of George and A. D. Plamondon and Mrs. John Amberg, is credited among his friends with having been a real partner in his success. Her brother, Charles A. Plamondon, and his wife lost their lives in the Lusitania disaster. Her unusual business ability is said to have been of great assistance, leaving him free to devote himself to his surgical and hospital work and his scientific research.

DEFIES DEATH DECREES.

Somewhat more than thirty years ago Dr. Murphy, who had then been married but a year, was stricken with an attack of pulmonary tuberculosis. He went to see Dr. Jacob Da Costa of Philadelphia, at that time a leading diagnostician of the disease. Dr. Da Costa advised him that he had about a year to live and said he should spend it in Florida. Instead of doing so, Dr. Murphy went to Colorado and returned cured. His own determination was a factor in his cure.

Some years earlier—back in the '80s—he became ill while a medical student abroad, and leading physicians of Vienna pronounced his ailment tuberculosis of the kidneys and sent him back to America to die. That time also he "fooled the docors." Of recent years he has had no apparent trace of these earlier illnesses.

WANTS FACTS KEPT FROM WIFE

When he became seriously ill on Thursday at Mackinac Dr. Murphy was unwilling that his fears of a fatal outcome should become known to Mrs. Murphy.

He attributed his ailment originally to a throat infection, and it is said he told Dr. Keefe that an autopsy should be held to show whether his diagnosis was correct. He called for Father Sommers of St. Ann's parish, Mackinac, who was with him through yesterday, and administered the rites of the church.

Of the doctor's immediate family, only Mrs. Murphy was with him when he died. His three daughters—Mrs. J. T. [Cecille] Benedict, Mildred, whose engagement to E. N. Hurley Jr., of Wheaton was a midsummer announcement, and Celeste—wer in Chicago. The family had been living at the Chicago Golf club during the summer.

A steady stream of friends of the family, scores of them persons who owe their lives to the skill of Dr. Murphy, called at the Murphy home from late in the afternoon until late at night. The telephone bell rang continually as messages of condolence arrived. Many telegrams arrived from all parts of the country.

PAPAL DELEGATE SEES HIM.

The Most Rev. Father John Bonzano, papal delegate to Washington, who was with Dr. Murphy on Wednesday, passed through Chicago yesterday returning from a vaaction.

"I called on Dr. Murphy at 5 o'clock Wednesday afternoon," Father Bonzano said. "He told us—Bishop Dunne was with me at the time—that he was feeling indisposed. He had lost fifteen pounds, he told me, during the hot weather at Wheaton. However, he was very cheerful about his health.

"Somehow, we started to talk about his admission into the Order of St. Gregory. I am a member of the order and I told him that we all felt highly honored by the association, but he passed it off with a smile. 'When Archbishop Mundelein admitted me into the order,' he said, 'he was honoring the laity. The archbishop would have done far better if he had given the order to a really representative member of the laity—my hostess Mrs. Amberg, for instance.'

"Then, when I started to say good-by, Dr. Murphy made a very prophetic remark. He pressed me to stay longer, saying, 'There is no reason why you should not waste more time on me, father. Your office and your work run on in Washington whether or not you are there to direct them. With me it is different. My work ends with me.'"

DR. DUNNE ASTOUNDED.

"I was amazed when I heard of Dr. Murphy's death," said Bishop Dunne of Peoria. "When the papal delegate and I saw him in Mackinac he gave no indication of the coming tragedy. He was thinner and weaker than he was when I saw him a few weeks ago, but otherwise I would have looked upon him as a well man. He joked continually all through my interview with him.

"There seems little need to emphasize our loss. Every one knew Dr. Murphy and every one respected—more than that, every one stood in awe of the work he has done for the world. I suppose Chicagoans will feel his death is peculiarly their loss, but I am speaking for the rest of the country and for the church when I say that it is equally our own bereavement."

ANECDOTES TOLD OF HIM.

Dr. Murphy was known not only for his incisive judgments in diagnosis but also for his quick wit. On receiving the order of knighthood from the pope he is said to have remarked:

"Now I have the same title at both ends of my name, 'Sir John Murphy, Surgeon.'"

One anecdote illustrates the diverse character of his patients and, incidentally, his philanthropy. One afternoon he was leaving his Michigan avenue house with Dr. Golden when he was accosted by an anarchistic looking individual, a Russian. It appeared to Dr. Golden that the intruder was about to strike the famous surgeon and he was on the point of interfering.

WANTS TO KISS HIS HAND.

The Russian, however, simply wanted to kiss Dr. Murphy's hand. It developed that he had come a long distance to thank him for curing a paralyzed nerve by an operation. He had been a clinical patient. Dr. Murphy's eyes filled with tears.

Another story, related by a close friend, brought out Dr. Murphy's innate amiability of character. A doctor, who had been persistently antagonistic to Dr. Murphy, got into trouble and a word from Murphy would have ruined him.

"Now is your chance," said one of Dr. Murphy's friends, "now you can get the goods on that rascal."

"Up to this time," was Dr. Murphy's reply, "I have never said an ill word about anybody, and I'm not going to begin now."

DOCK SPACE FOR BREMEN, BUT NO SIGHT OF U-BOAT.

New York, Aug. 11.—Persistent rumors current in shipping circles that the Bremen was, nevertheless, approaching this port, or submerged outside the harbor, were followed by the discovery this afternoon that one of the North German Lloyd merchant ships at Hoboken had been shifted to another pier, leaving docking space in which it was suggested that the Bremen might be berthed. Two barges were moored near by, as if in readiness to form an enclosure for the submarine, as was done in the case of the Deutschland at Baltimore.

Paroled After Riot Killing.

Calumet, Mich., Aug. 11.—[Special.]—Edwin Poldinghorne, Houston county deputy sheriff, who was involved in the killing of three strikers during a riot at Beeberville in 1913, has been paroled from Marquette prison, where he was sent on conviction for manslaughter.

MURPHY KNOWN AS A PIONEER IN NEWER SURGERY

HONORED BY UNIVERSITIES.

Dr. John Benjamin Murphy was born in Appleton, Wis., Dec. 21, 1857, the son of Michael and Ann [Grimes] Murphy. He studied in the public schools of Appleton, graduating from the high school. As a youth he worked on his father's farm. He began the study of medicine under Dr. John R. Reilly of Appleton.

Dr. Murphy graduated with the degree of M. D. from Rush Medical college in 1879 and entered at once upon his service as interne at Cook county hospital. He received his certificate from the hospital in 1880. In the same year he began the practice of medicine and surgery with Dr. Edward W. Lee, one of the attending surgeons at Cook county hospital.

From September, 1882, until April, 1884, he studied surgery in European hospitals. He married Miss Jeanette C. Plamondon in 1885. Mrs. Murphy has always taken the keenest interest in Dr. Murphy's work and has been a great factor in his undertakings.

Instructor at Rush.

Dr. Murphy's first teaching position was as instructor in surgery in Rush Medical college in 1884. He next filled the position of professor of surgery in the College of Physicians and Surgeons in 1892. For two sessions he was professor of surgery and co-head of the department in Rush Medical college. For the last fifteen years, with the exception of the three years (1905-'08) at Rush, he has been at the head of the department of surgery at Northwestern University Medical school.

For the last thirty years he has been attending and consulting surgeon at Alexian Brothers hospital, and at the time of his death was consulting surgeon for that hospital as well as for St. Joseph's hospital, Columbus Memorial hospital, and the Hospital for Crippled Children. He also was attending surgeon and chief of staff of Mercy hospital.

Many Scholastic Honors.

In 1902 the University of Notre Dame gave Dr. Murphy the Laetare medal. In 1905 the University of Illinois gave him the degree of LL. D.; in 1908 the University of Sheffield, England, the degree of D. Sc. The degree of A. M. was conferred upon him by St. Ignatius college. He was a life member of the Deutsche Gesellschaft für Chirurgie, an honorary member of the Société Chirurgicale de Paris, an honorary fellow of the College of Surgeons of England, and a charter member of the American College of Surgeons. He had held the presidencies of the American Association of Railway Surgeons, the Chicago Medical society, the American Medical association, and the Clinical Congress of Surgeons of North America.

Early Field Narrow.

Until 1880 surgery had but a limited field. Generally speaking, the science essayed to relieve certain conditions in the arms, legs, neck, and even in the trunk, provided it was not necessary to enter any body cavity to do so. If the operative procedure required opening the abdominal cavity or the chest cavity or much work within the cranial cavity the surgeon very wisely left it undone.

The man who contracted appendicitis must die unless nature was able to wall off the pus sac and thus save him. However much he pleaded with his surgeon for help his plea was unheeded. The surgeon dared not open up the abdominal cavity and subject it to infection.

It was at this point that the surgeons of America began to be recognized as the leading spirits in the surgery of the world. Of the little band that carried this banner, none was so frequent or so original a contributor as Murphy, the former country boy from Wisconsin, wha had to fight his way upward.

Taught Appendicitis Facts.

Dr. Murphy's first general campaign was for early operation in appendicitis. He threw his dominating personality into a campaign of education addressed to the profession and to the laity as well. As a result of this people are well informed.

Twenty-five years ago the man with an intestinal perforation was in a a hopeless situation. The operation used to require from one to four hours for its performance. The technical skill required was beyond any except the best trained surgeons. It followed that a large portion of those having wounds of the intestines, strangulations with gangrene, intestinal and gall bladder perforations could not get the opportunity for life held out by operative procedure.

To meet this situation Dr. Murphy devised an anatomical button, which was so simple and so easy to use that at once the custom of immediate operation on proper cases by the surgeon at hand was established.

The most recent surgical proposal made by Dr. Murphy was a group of methods for the restoration of the function of joints and the replacement of diseased and lost bones.

Loss Felt at Mercy Hospital.

Dr. Murphy's death will be felt most keenly by Mercy hospital, of whose medical and surgical staff he was chief. He had been associated with the hospital for many years and it was here his greatest work as a surgeon was performed. Surgeons of world wide fame considered it a privilege to attend his clinics. Prominent physicians were to be seen in the amphitheater every day an operation was scheduled by him.

It was Dr. Murphy who was instrumental in bringing Dr. Lorenz, the famous Austrian surgeon, to Chicago to operate on Miss Lolita Armour, then, as a child, suffering what was feared might prove a lasting affliction.

In 1912 Dr. Murphy attended Theodore Roosevelt, when the latter was the victim of an attempted assassination in Milwaukee. Col. Roosevelt was brought from Milwaukee to St. Luke's hospital where Dr. Murphy operated.

Chicago Pays High Tribute to Dr. Murphy and His Work

Chicagoans generally were shocked yesterday afternoon by news of the death of Dr. Murphy. Business and professional men joined physicians in paying tribute to him as a trail blazer in the realms of medicine. Following are some of their views:

Dr. Frank Billings—He was great in surgical diagnosis and great as an operator—one of the greatest in the world. He was a man of wonderful energy, broad views, and fine initiative. In his clinics he did an enormous amount of work for poor people.

Dr. W. A. Evans, health editor of THE TRIBUNE—I think he was the greatest surgeon of his day in the world. His greatness consisted in his originality and inventive genius. His research work had been more productive of practical good than that of any laboratory man in the city.

Dr. Arthur Dean Bevan—Dr. Murphy was the most brilliant and original American surgeon of his generation. He was a man of enormous energy, great enthusiasm, vivid imagination. He attacked many surgical problems and left his impress on all of them. Dr. Murphy and Dr. Charles McBurney of New York contributed more to the development of the surgery of appendicitis than any other men. Dr. Murphy did a great deal of work in abdominal surgery, and the last few years of his life were devoted to surgery of bones and joints. In this he did some brilliant work. His work was better known abroad than that of any other American surgeon. His sudden death is a pity, because he should have had ten or fifteen years more to devote to the service of surgery and humanity.

Dr. Harvey Cushing, of Brookline, Mass., wired—John B. Murphy's unusual quickness of thought and action, combined with his inexhaustible energy, would have made him a leader in any walk of life in his chosen profession. He stood second to none in this country and to few in the world. His contributions have been many and valuable.

Dr. Charles H. Mayo of Rochester, Minn., wired—The medical world has sustained a great loss in the passing of Dr. John B. Murphy. The chief is dead. In him were combined industry and inventive genius with a surpassing amount of general information. He possessed that rare faculty of stimulating thought as well as of imparting knowledge and was the greatest surgical teacher of his time. Dr. Murphy will live in history as one of the greatest builders of modern medicine.

Dr. D. A. K. Steele, dean of the Illinois College of Medicine—Dr. Murphy, as a doctor, was one of the most exceptionably capable men in the world. He was a born teacher, the best clinical teacher of surgery in the country. He was original, emphatic, and of marvelous personality. As a man and a friend I have known him many years. He was not a man of light vein. He cared little for club life. He was devoted to his family. Mrs. Murphy always looked after her husband. Theirs was the ideal family relation.

Bishop P. J. Muldoon, Rockford—Am heartily sorry to hear of the death of Dr. J. B. Murphy, who has been such a splendid example of what the physician should be. The medical profession loses a leader, the Catholic church a most devoted friend, and Chicago a loyal and progressive citizen. The law of Christ governed and guided Dr. Murphy in his private and professional life, and with unsullied hands he can meet his Maker who gave him such an unusual knowledge of the human form.

The Very Rev. Francis C. Kelley—Dr. Murphy was a man of science who was also a man of faith. His very greatness as a man of science was living proof that faith is the mother of science.

Dr. Charles P. Caldwell, head of the municipal tuberculosis sanitarium—I knew Dr. Murphy before he was Dr. Murphy. At that time he was a junior at Rush Medical college and I was a senior. I very deeply regret his death. He was an explorer in the realms of medicine, a ceaseless worker, and a stimulus to those about him. I have known no other like him.

Dr. F. S. Hartman of the West Side hospital—I saw Dr. Murphy a few weeks ago and he appeared cheerful. He was exceptionally endowed with gifts that he used to the best advantage. He had tremendous energy and capacity for work. He delighted in solving problems that are always coming up to puzzle scientists.

The Rev. Father James M. Scanlan of Our Lady of Lourdes—I was once a patient of Dr. Murphy and have known him intimately for many years. Few realize his kindliness toward the sick and still fewer know how very many of his cases were handled for charity's sake alone. The world has lost one of its great surgeons and a lovable man.

Dr. A. Augustus O'Neill, president of the Chicago Medical society—No greater calamity could befall the public than the loss of so great a surgeon as Dr. Murphy. He was world-renowned, a pathfinder, an experimenter in so many departments of surgery. No man living or of the recent past has contributed more to his science than Dr. Murphy. He died a martyr to his profession—the result of overstrain.

Thomas Cannon, chief ranger of the Catholic Order of Foresters—I know I am speaking for all Foresters in Chicago when I say we have suffered a great loss by the death of Dr. Murphy. We loved him as a splendid specimen of Catholic American manhood. He had done as much for medicine as any living man, but beyond all this he was a man who drew other men.

Dr. W. W. Grant, Denver, wired—From a close acquaintance and friendship of tweny years with Dr. Murphy I have no hesitation in saying that a surgeon without a superior in initiative and skill and in bone and joint surgery probably the most brilliant in America, died today. His death is a sad loss to surgery.

George Plamondon, brother of Mrs. Murphy—He was a great man. Everybody knows of him, knows what he has done, and what he was doing, so why should I comment.

Judge Thomas F. Scully—There was one trait about Dr. Murphy of which many people know nothing. That is, he was extremely charitable with his valuable time and his services among the poor.

DR. GOLDEN'S TRIBUTE

Lifelong Associate Says Dr. Murphy Was Greatest Surgeon and Teacher of Surgery of His Age.

DR. JOHN F. GOLDEN, a nephew and a professional associate of Dr. Murphy, wrote the following tribute:

"Dr. John B. Murphy was undoubtedly the greatest surgeon of the age, and his success was founded absolutely on doing good to others.

"He was always dissatisfied with uncertainty. On entering the profession he found uncertainty in diagnosis and uncertainty in the treatment of many diseases. He shaped his course accordingly and attained his first success in appendicitis by making the diagnosis certain and the treatment certain.

"He discovered and taught that operation in the early stages of appendicitis is always followed by cure. He was the first man who achieved the suture of blood vessels. Among his other great works are those on pulmonary tuberculosis, surgery of the intestines, and surgery of the nervous system. He made it possible to transplant tendons from one part of the body to take the place of those paralyzed in another part. He also accomplished the transplantation of bones and succeeded in making new joints in the place of those rendered helpless by means of the Murphy operation.

"Unsatisfied with the good he was able to do personally, he began to train and to teach others. He became the greatest acknowledged teacher of surgery in the world. He did more good with less publicity than perhaps any man that ever lived. His capacity for labor was enormous.

"He was generous to a fault. His work ennobled him, and he ennobled all who came in contact with him.

"He considered his discoveries as belonging not to himself but to the whole human family, and he passed them out ungrudgingly for the benefit of mankind."

HIS DAILY ROUTINE

From 6:30 A. M. Until Late In the Night Dr. Murphy Gave Himself to His Work.

R. J. Benedict, Dr. Murphy's son-in-law, last night gave out a schedule of the famous physician's daily routine. It follows:

6:30 a. m.—Arose, breakfasted, and dictated letters to his private secretary.

8 a. m.—Arrived at Mercy hospital, where he performed operations and held consultations until 2 in the afternoon.

2 p. m.—Went to his office at 2526 Calumet avenue, where he would remain often until 7.

7:30 p. m.—Dined with his family and, if social engagements did not interfere, read in his study until bedtime.

"And," aded Mr. Benedict, "if he had an important operation for the next day he would sit up in bed until late at night reading up on parallel cases. He had an appetite for study that could not be appeased. He just worked himself out."

DOCTORS TOIL WITHOUT PAY.

Sixty physicians today are working for the city of Chicago for nothing. The city council, when it reconvenes, may vote to pay them their salaries, but as matters now stand they are giving their service gratis. The sixty are emergency employés engaged in infantile paralysis work. Their salaries are $70 a month. Their situation is due to the exhaustion of the $5,000 appropriated for their work. They agreed to continue their work.

Halsted Street First Knew Doctor Destined to Rise to Fame.

Over at Harrison and Halsted streets last night a few old residents, anchored there in the shifting population, pointed out the spot where Dr. John B. Murphy first became acquainted with the subject of medicine. A restaurant stands there now. But in those days it was the drug store of John P. Lee, which stood at 200 South Halsted street, old number.

When Dr. Murphy began his practice it was in the wooden structure that housed Lee's drug store. He was taken by the late Dr. Edward Lee, well known in the old days, as an assistant, and he roomed at the home of Dr. Lee's brother, the druggist, at Harrison street and Racine avenue.

Popular from Start.

From the start of Dr. Murphy's practice he was extremely popular. Old patients remember his modest prices. It was $1 then where it was $100 before his death. But some of the old people, though they remained in modest circumstances, never stopped going to Dr. Murphy, who, although world famous, charged them the same small fees he had in the early days.

Just after he left college Dr. Murphy had a number of patients who paid him $1 a month for his services. No matter how much illness the patients might suffer, they were treated for that price.

"I went to him twenty-five years or more ago," said Mrs. Nell Sullivan of 100 South Hamlin avenue. "I never paid him more than $2 for a thorough examination. But he never raised his prices with me. His office then was at Harrison and Halsted streets and he lived on Throop street near Adams.

"He was popular and he used to treat many tuberculosis patients. That was long before the Murphy button and all that kind of stuff."

Sent to Germany to Study.

Early in the '80s, when Dr. Murphy became ill and despaired of ever regaining his health, Dr. Edward Lee sent him abroad to study in Germany and to get back his health. Those were the days when Germany was making gigantic strides in the field of surgery and bacteriology.

The time spent in Germany meant much to the young physician. He came back and was the first to introduce the German methods in Chicago. People commenced to go to the little west side office from all over the city and later from all parts of Illinois. About 1891 he gave up the west side office and established one in the old Honore building at Adams and Dearborn. His rise was extremely rapid after that.

Former Patients Gone.

"Most of the people that Dr. Murphy treated in the early days have moved away from that neighborhood," said Dr. F. S. Hartmann of 3537 West Jackson boulevard, who became Dr. Murphy's first assistant when his practice and that of Dr. Lee became too great for them to handle alone. "He treated nearly all the old characters in the neighborhood. I guess they are all dead now.

"He used to charge $1 for office calls and $2 for visits at the home. Those were the regulation prices. He was popular, and his practice was among substantial, middle class people. It was not long before he began to specialize. All operating in those days was done in the home, and Dr. Murphy had to scrub up many of the places where he operated and haul his instruments to the house."

THE MURPHY BUTTON

Invention Relieved Intestinal Surgery of Many Attendant Dangers.

WHAT is regarded as perhaps Dr. Murphy's most distinguished achievement was the invention of the "Murphy button." It was this that relieved intestinal surgery of much of the terror with which it was invested prior to 1880.

"Murphy's button" consists of two hollow cylinders, one of which is sutured into each open end of the intestine; the two are then joined and fasten automatically, maintaining the two ends of the intestine in apposition by their serous surfaces. After firm union has occurred the cylinders slough away and are passed.

In 1889 in Chicago, when Dr. Murphy was a young surgeon known chiefly for having collected a half share of the fee of $6,000, then considered remarkably large, for treating the policemen injured in the Haymarket anarchist outrages, he was riding down in the elevator from his office with Dr. Franklin H. Martin. Martin had known Murphy since he was a medical student working in a Chicago drug store. Murphy took from his pocket a metal ball about the size of an English walnut.

"There," said Murphy, "is the thing that is going to revolutionize intestinal surgery. I've tried it on twenty dogs with perfect success."

"You wouldn't try it on a human being, would you?" asked Martin.

"First chance I get," exclaimed Murphy emphatically.

It was several years later that Dr. Murphy first demonstrated his device before an important professional group. The chance came in 1892, in New York. He read a paper on the button before the convention of the Academy of Surgery. Among his auditors was Dr. Charles McBurney, who later was head surgeon for President McKinley. Dr. McBurney asked Dr. Murphy to demonstrate the use of the button the next day at his clinic. A gathering of celebrated European and American surgeons was on hand.

The patient was a man suffering with a gangrene of the intestine. The man's death could not have been deferred many days, it was thought.

"Are you ready, Dr. Murphy?" asked Dr. McBurney.

"Yes, sir," replied Murphy. "Prepare your patient and show me where you want the intestine joined and I will join it."

Dr. McBurney had expected the whole operation would be undertaken by Murphy, but the latter made his statement with dignity and waited. Dr. McBurney did not debate the point, but fell to work. After an hour of disagreeable and dirty surgical work, Dr. McBurney said he was ready.

Murphy then stepped forward and in twenty seconds snapped the button in place. The effect on the assembly was electric. Incidentally the patient made a perfect recovery.

ACT TO AVERT BUBBLY CREEK SEWAGE CRISIS

Packers Meet Demand of the Sanitary District for Co-operation.

Chicago packers obligated themselves yesterday to produce an engineer within five days and within thirty days have him agree with the sanitary district's engineer on a definite working plan for disposing of the sewage in Bubbly creek. Should the engineers fail to agree in thirty days both will be dismissed.

The action was taken virtually under the orders of the war department to the sanitary district. It averted one of the biggest sewage disposal crises that Chicago ever has faced.

The war department had served notice on the sanitary district that the La Follette amendment to limit the amount of water taken from Lake Michigan by the sanitary district would have its backing. This would cut the water supply from 400,000 to 250,000 cubic feet per minute. Without the excess water the sewage from Bubbly creek could not be handled. As handled now, with the entire water supply allowable, the sewage is not aerated before it reaches Lockport.

Under this condition the sanitary district could not carry a ton more sewage than it now carries. Should the city grow another 100,000 next year the crisis would be on.

Some idea of the importance of the Bubbly creek situation was given by board members, who said the water used for flushing the sewage out of the creek into the sanitary channel would be sufficient, if the packers had their own plant, to care for the sewage requirements of 1,000,000 more inhabitants.

For the first time in the many discussions which the district trustees and the packers have held during the last seven years the packers sent representatives to the meeting in the Karpen building with power and instructions to act and act at once.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 11.—[Special.]—William B. Hopkins, formerly a clerk in the department of agriculture, has had the limelight turned on him.

He was sued for $30 today by Edith B. Wilson, wife of the president of the United States.

Although both parties are reticent concerning the action, it appears that Hopkins bought some trinket from Galt & Bro., which is the trading name used by Mrs. Wilson in the conduct of her jewelry business. The suit is to compel payment.

DEMANDS WILSON APPLY HIS CRIES FOR 'PUBLICITY'

THE DAY IN POLITICS

Woman's party opens war on Wilson, commends his foes, congratulates Hughes, and pledges its aid for defeat of president and Democratic congressmen.

President Wilson is said to be wavering in his determination not to take the stump, due to demands that he personally reply to Candidate Hughes' attacks on the administration.

Bryan, in reply to Hughes, denies he repudiated civil service law; admits he rewarded "deserving" Democrats, but says they were competent.

BY CHARLES N. WHEELER.

Billings, Mont., Aug. 11.—[Special.]—Charles E. Hughes, firing broadsides at the Democratic administration as he sped across western Dakota and eastern Montana today, dared President Wilson to apply to his own official family his own words, 'pitiless publicity." This slogan, used emphatically by Mr. Wilson soon after his election, was appropriated by Hughes and hurled back at the president.

The Republican candidate demanded "pitiless publicity" for the pork barrel, for political appointments, for sectionalism of the Democratic administration, and for the manner of spending the public funds.

Mr. Hughes, it was intimated, has only begun the ripping open of the administration at Washington. The inference was drawn from the speeches at Miles City late today and Billings tonight that the domination of congress by southern influences, particularly with respect to "pork" appropriations, is to form a special theme for Mr. Hughes.

Needed in All Actions.

Mr. Hughes' words, uttered at Miles City, are these:

"I desire in all that we do in this campaign to have what was called a little while ago—four years ago—'pitiless publicity.'

"I want 'pitiless publicity' in respect to the pork barrel.

"I want 'pitiless publicity' with respect to the sectionalism of this administration, in respect to the extravagance and wastefulness of this administration.

"I want 'pitiless publicity' with respect to the competence of appointees of this administration.

"Let us see that we have, as I said the other night, America first in the hearts of every American of whatever race or creed, and also America equal to her tasks—America efficient."

Pounds Home His Doctrines.

As Mr. Hughes rode across the cattle and sheep ranges and up the Yellowstone river valley today he pounded home the doctrine that political parties should be the servants of the government and not the government the servant of the party.

His stirring independence of speech elicited a warm response from rangers and townspeople, who crowded platforms at all stations where the train stopped.

Opposed to Job Payment.

He excoriated the system that pays political debts at the expense of efficient service; demanded a preparedness dissociated from militarism; a patriotism that admitted of only one allegiance and that to the United States, and told several cheering crowds that, if elected, his conduct toward public service would be the same as that when he was governor of New York. He bore down heavily on protective tariff based on expert investigation as the soundest economic policy for the future development of the country, both in the industries and on the range.

Special Visit to Billings.

The deep public interest taken in the west in Hughes' candidacy caused a sudden change in the itinerary today to bring the candidate to Billings in time for a public address. Billings citizens protested against the itinerary that took him through here late at night, and in a few hours raised $1,700 with which to pay for a special train from Fargo, N. D.

When the special was proffered Mr. Hughes gave in, and after a record breaking run, by which the regular schedule was cut six hours, he reached here at 8:30 tonight, and was greeted by one of the noisiest crowds on tour thus far.

A dozen stops were made on the fast run beginning with Bismarck this morning, at which Hughes made brief speeches from the rear platform.

Town T. R. Made Famous.

Approaching the bad lands of North Dakota, the train stopped at Medora, in the short grass country, placed on the map by Theodore Roosevelt when he was cow punching here as a young man. A large sign near the bank of Little Missouri river informed the argonauts that T. R. once spurred his broncho over the range at this point. Mr. and Mrs. Hughes stepped to the platform of the little settlement and the first man to grasp his hand said:

"Why didn't you bring Teddy along?"

"Well, sir, I would have been very glad to do so," smiled Hughes.

"I know he would be glad to be here," said the bronzed faced ranger, "for I got a letter from him the other day."

Slaps Democratic Tariff.

At Bismarck Mr. Hughes sailed into the Democratic party on the tariff issue.

"They are not the party to give us any sound application of the protective principle," he said. "They do not believe in it. They are opposed to it on every hand. With regard to a tariff they are a party now without principle, for you could not exactly tell what they are—until a year or so ago they were advocates of a tariff for revenue only. And I am afraid they would not be for protection now. Nobody knows just where they are.

"We are for a straightforward, scientific, careful application of the doctrine of protection in the interest of all American enterprise, wherever it is needed, in order that we may meet the competition of the energized, disciplined, strong Europe after this war is over. We are for the maintenance of American rights throughout the world, not in high sounding profession, not in words, but in firm and consistent dealings commanding the respect of the world and making the American name honored among the nations of the earth."

Drive Out Pork Hunters.

At Becah, Mr. Hughes demanded an upstanding, righteous and honest manhood that would drive the pork hunters from governmental positions.

"I hold," he said, "that nothing is too good for the American people and that when they pass laws and establish bureaus of administration they are entitled to have those places filled, not as political jobs, but for the purpose of getting work done according to the intent of the statutes."

At Dickinson he said to a crowd of cowboys and rangers that he was not dealing in dreams but statements that would stand the acid test, and added:

"I believe in a wise, just, impartial administration of our laws without fear or favor, without an effort to make the government serve the party, but to have the party serve the government. It is perfectly possible to have a popular government efficiently administered. All that is necessary is to put men in charge of administrative departments who will not have any other ambition than to faithfully execute the laws and give a businesslike administration."

Charges Arouse Debate.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 11.—Statements of Charles E. Hughes in his campaign speeches criticizing Democratic methods of allotting rivers and harbors appropriations stirred up a brief political debate in the senate today.

Senator Ransdell, a Democratic member of the committee which handles such legislation, quoted Mr. Hughes' assertion at Fargo that no expert examination had been made to determine the need of appropriations, and continued:

"Any one who knows the facts must know that no appropriation is considered until it is passed on by a competent board of army engineers."

CIVIL SERVICE UPHELD: BRYAN

Denies Hughes Charges; Rewarded 'Deserving' but Competent Democrats.

Kansas City, Mo., Aug. 11.—William J. Bryan, former secretary of state, today replied to criticism of his attitude toward civil service made by Charles E. Hughes, Republican presidential nominee, in a statement in which he said he had "enforced the civil service law to the letter." Mr. Bryan challenged the Republican nominee to state whether he had given appointments to "deserving Republicans" while governor of New York.

Rewarded "Deserving Democrats."

The statement was made in answer to recent speeches of Mr. Hughes, which quoted a letter Mr. Bryan had written to Receiver of Customs Vick in Santo Domingo, inquiring as to what positions could be obtained to "reward deserving Democrats." Mr. Bryan admitted the letter as it had been quoted.

"I am not ashamed of it," the statement read. "The letter inquired in regard to offices which were not then under civil service. There was nothing in the letter to indicate a desire or intention to select men who were incompetent. On the contrary, inquiry is made as to 'what is requisite.'"

Enforce Civil Service Law.

The statement, after declaring Mr. Hughes to have "shown himself quite prompt in discharging obligations," declares:

"As an official, I enforced the civil service law to the letter and, upon my resignation, received from the employés in the state department, more than 90 per cent of whom were under the civil service, a watch which I prize as a priceless treasure.

"But, while I observed the civil service law wherever it was in force, I felt myself free to aid in rewarding deserving Democrats wherever it could be done without detriment to the service. The 'deserving Democrat' is not to be despised—he is as much entitled to recognition as a 'deserving Republican.'"

Cites "Payments" by Hughes.

"When he was a candidate for governor," Mr. Bryan continued, "Mr. Hughes received the support of the railroads of New York, and he generously repaid the debt by vetoing the 2 cent passenger rate bill. He does not describe that as shameful.

"And yet, with the record which he has made in paying his political obligations at the expense of the public, he has the impudence to hold up for criticism a legitimate effort to reward competent men for the service which they have given to the cause of reform."

A note from the drys was received in the city hall yesterday, when a poster prepared by Philip Yarrow, superintendent of the Dry Chicago federation, was sent to the mayor, to the heads of all departments, and to each alderman. The poster is adorned with the American flag, the emblem of the Dry Chicago federation, and the death head, the common sign of poison. The poster is headed "The Case Against the Saloon." The poster thanks the mayor for Sunday closing, but asks him to get after the booze seven days a week.

DECATUR, ILL.—Col. Frank L. Smith campaigned through Logan and Piatt counties, speaking at Mavoa, Monticello, Bement, Cerro Gordo, and Decatur. "Our cause is the cause of Charles E. Hughes and the Republican party," Col. Smith told his audiences.

GALPIN ADDS T. J. HEALEY TO HIS LIST OF "REBELS."

Puts Thirtieth Ward Committeeman on "Black List" of the Regular G. O. P. Organization.

Republican County Chairman Homer K. Galpin yesterday added Thomas J. Healy of the Thirtieth ward to the list of "rebels," and named a committee of seven that will be recognized by the Galpin organization in the ward instead of Mr. Healy, elected committeeman last April.

"I have named this committee to conduct the campaign for the regular organization ticket in Healy's ward," Chairman Galpin said, "because his evident intention is to have nothing in common with us. The committee consists of Richard Shutter, Emil O. Kowalski, Dr. R. L. Owen, H. C. Andrews, James W. Breen, Michael G. Walsh, and Charles Hecker. Kowalski, former member of the legislature, and Walsh, the Healy candidate for alderman last spring, have been two of Healy's strongest supporters."

Chairman Galpin said it is the intention to name such committees in each of the nine wards where ward committeemen have lined up with the Deneen-Hull-Progressive organization. Arrangements have been completed in each ward except the Twenty-sixth, Chairman Galpin said, and this ward will get attention next Tuesday.

N. Y. DEMOCRATS FAVOR SEABURY

Court of Appeals Judge Is Favorite in Conference Vote for Governor.

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., Aug. 11.—Samuel Seabury of New York, judge of the Court of Appeals, was the expressed choice of the unofficial Democratic state conference for the party for nomination for governor tonight. On a roll call by counties Judge Seabury received the support of an overwhelming majority of the delegates.

William F. McCombs of New York was indorsed for United States senator; Thomas Kreutzer of Onondaga, for lieutenant governor; Frank M. Stage of Erie, for secretary of state; William M. Farley, Broome, for attorney general; Maurice C. Cohen of the Bronx, for treasurer, and Albert F. Jenks of Kings, for chief justice of the Court of Appeals.

Assail Whitman.

Senator Robert F. Wagner of New York, chairman of the resolutions committee, submitted the platform. It was devoted principally to an arraignment of Gov. Whitman's administration. The platform reaffirmed the party's faith in the principles of Thomas Jefferson, indorsed unqualifiedly the administration of President Wilson, and pledged the enthusiastic support of the Democracy of the state to his reelection.

Leave Support to States.

In regard to woman suffrage, the platform said:

"We hold that the question of conferring the right of suffrage upon men and women should remain exclusively a question to be determined by the people of the states, and we again recommend that the question of suffrage to women be submitted in 1917."

ELECTION BOARD EMPLOYES L. G. STEVENSON'S TARGET.

Secretary of State Hints at Prosecutions as Result of Too Many "Namesakes."

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 11.—[Special.]—Secretary of State Lewis G. Stevenson returned today from Chicago, where he had been investigating an alleged conspiracy to defeat the purpose of the primary election law and at the same time bring about his defeat for renomination by the filing of a number of "Stevenson" petitions for the same office. Mr. Stevenson has under consideration his attorney's advice to prosecute the supposed conspirators on charges of forgery, perjury, and conspiracy.

Examination of petitions filed in the names of Barth P. Collins, S. J. Stevenson, and "Louis G. Stevenson" disclose that most of the sheets of all three were circulated and attested to by the same persons, mostly employés of the Cook county election commission office, where Collins works.

Alleged employés of this office who attested to petitions for two or more of these candidates are F. J. O'Hern, Henry Minsky, E. A. Byrne, Matt Healy, Thomas F. Hanly, A. J. Conrad, Luke Cunniff, Samuel W. Arrand, J. E. Mahoney, John T. Placzek, Max Yeager, Harry L. Williams, and John J. Ryan.

Another unusual incident of the affair is that Collins, one of the candidates, signed the "Louis C. Stevenson" petition July 26 last when his own petitions for the same office were in circulation as early as July 20, according to the dates on the petitions.

Appell is indorsed for the Sullivan vacancy.

ONLY ONE MAN SUPPLANTED, SECRETARY REDFIELD SAYS.

Cooperstown, N. Y., Aug. 11.—[Special.]—Secretary of Commerce Redfield, who is spending the week end here, dictated a statement tonight in which he says that in his department there are eight presidential appointments.

"One and only one of these officers was removed, namely, former Commissioner of Fisheries Mr. Bowers," Secretary Redfield says. "His deputy commissioner, Dr. Hugh M. Smith, was promoted to the commissionership. This was because the fisheries service is strictly a scientific service and it was deemed desirable that it should have a scientific head.

"Two heads of departments resigned and their resignations were accepted, Mr. Conant, commissioner of corporations, and Mr. Durand of the census.

"As for the coast and geodetic survey, Dr. Tittman remained in charge unquestioned until March, 1915, prior to which time he had once suggested resigning, but this was declined. The correspondence between Dr. Tittman and myself, published today, puts Mr. Hughes in a very absurd position, but not more so than his ignorant strictures on the exceptional work of Dr. Jones, who succeeded Dr. Tittman."

WILSON BAIT TO SULLIVAN BARED

News Leaks Out of Good Berth Offered Sweitzer After Primaries.

Robert M. Sweitzer, Democratic nominee for mayor in 1915, was offered and turned down the direct tender from President Wilson of the appointment as assistant secretary of war.

This was reported yesterday from Washington as an evidence of the extent to which the Wilson administration had gone towards placating regular organization Democrats in Illinois, and particularly the German-American Democrats.

The offer, it is learned, was made shortly after the April primaries, in which Mr. Sweitzer, as a candidate for delegate at large to the St. Louis convention, polled the greatest aggregate vote in the state.

How the Bait Was Dangled.

"We want this appointment to go to the middle west and preferably to a German-American of popularity," is the way the proposition came to County Clerk Sweitzer, it is reported.

Mr. Sweitzer for personal and business reasons, the story goes, declined to consider the proposed appointment and nothing was said about it at the national capital.

The story was interesting to Democrats in the Sullivan camp who have failed to see anything worth while in the way of federal places go to any of their friends.

"Whenever they want somebody to 'uphold the hands of the president,'" one of them said, "it is always the Sullivan organization that has to do the propping. When it comes to handing out anything the jobs always go to the other fellows."

Boeschenstein Wants Place.

Democratic regulars wanted National Committeeman Charles Boeschenstein recognized in naming the campaign organization. They thought he ought to represent Illinois. The crowd handling the president's political affairs permitted Mr. Boeschenstein to help fix up the Karpen building headquarters, and any help that he can give in scraping together the campaign fund for Illinois will be greatly appreciated, it is said.

So the news, that something really substantial had been offered to County Clerk Sweitzer, was news, indeed, and is being used on some wobbly organization cogs as evidence of the excellent relations that exist between the White House and Sullivan headquarters.

State Chairman Arthur W. Charles has issued a call for a general roundup of Democrats from over the state to be held at the state headquarters at Hotel Sherman next Thursday.

T. R. TO TOUR MIDDLE WEST.

Willcox Says Colonel Will Probably Speak for Republicans Several Times in This Section.

New York, Aug. 11.—Theodore Roosevelt may invade the middle west in the interest of the Republican campaign, it was announced here tonight by National Chairman William R. Willcox, who visited the former president at Oyster Bay today. The plan calls for five or six speeches by Col. Roosevelt, according to Mr. Willcox. One of these, however, will be delivered in Maine. Mr. Willcox said he expected former President Taft and Elihu Root also would aid in the campaign.

Push Stores at Kankakee.

Kankakee, Ill., Aug. 11.—[Special.]—The largest real estate deal ever recorded in Kankakee was consummated today when the Pugh Stores company purchased 3 corner business lot, including part of a building block, for $18,000.

WILSON WAVERS; MAY TAKE STUMP

Pressure Brought to Bear Upon President to Answer Hughes.

FEAR EFFECT IN WEST.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 11.—[Special.]—President Wilson is wavering in his determination not to go on the stump during the present campaign. Following the cabinet meeting today, at which the chief theme of discussion was the impression Mr. Hughes appears to be making on the country, a prominent cabinet officer stated that the president unquestionably would take a swing around the circle before election day.

Joseph P. Tumulty, private secretary to the president, however, asserted the president would not dignify Mr. Hughes' attacks by answering them on the stump or otherwise. Washington tonight is attempting to reconcile these two statements.

During the last few days the president has been urged by Democratic leaders to take a more active part in the campaign. Senator Phelan of California, one of the original Wilson men in the 1912 campaign, called on him today and said that Democratic success on the Pacific coast is contingent upon the attention he shows the coast voters. Senator Phelan reminded Mr. Wilson he has not gone to the coast since he went there in 1912 seeking convention votes.

Reports Disconcerting.

The administration is keeping in touch with Hughes through the medium of newspaper correspondents of pro-administration publications. Their reports during the last few days, especially since the Chicago and St. Paul speeches, have been anything but satisfactory to the Democratic leaders. At the cabinet meeting today these reports were discussed at length. Several of the president's advisers insisted he should take the stump and if not actually trail Mr. Hughes at least visit much the same territory the Republican candidate is covering.

The president insisted the Hughes furore would be but a passing incident in the campaign and one which would be forgotten long before November. He asserted he would not consider leaving Washington as long as congress is in session, in order to make a trip, but promised, if by Sept. 1 there appears to be no sign of an immediate adjournment, he will take time enough off to go to Shadow Lawn, the summer White House, for the notification ceremony.

Should Visit the West.

Those Democratic leaders who are insisting the president should go out on the stump say that he would be certain to lose many debatable states west of the Mississippi if he persists in refusing to enter them during the campaign. They say he should go into the suffrage states and appeal directly to the voters, both men and woman, in those states.

They insist he should go through the agricultural northwest and explain the rural credit and tariff laws. And they also say he should go to the northern states from which he has sent the national guard to the border and explain his reasons for doing so, and then go to the border and review the forces there.

Political Bout in House.

A little more fuel was added to the political fire in the house by Representatives Rainey and Mann of Illinois. They debated the alleged political activities and statements of Assistant Secretary Vrooman of the department of agriculture. Mr. Mann said he had been informed that Mr. Vrooman was busy speech making throughout the country. Mr. Rainey insisted he was not and that the assistant secretary was right here in Washington on the job. Then Mr. Sloane of Nebraska observed if that was the case a number of his constituents would be disappointed as Vrooman had been advertised to speak in Nebraska tonight. Mr. Rainey said it was a brother of the assistant secretary and that Carl Vrooman would make no more political speeches until he went to Maine later in the month.

WOMEN PLEDGE SELVES TO HELP DEFEAT WILSON

War on All Democrats, Too; Congratulate Hughes on Suffrage Stand.

Colorado Springs, Colo., Aug. 11.—The National Woman's party in executive conference here today pledged itself to use its best efforts in the twelve equal suffrage states to defeat the Democratic candidate for president, congratulated the Progressive, Prohibition, and Socialist parties upon their indorsement of suffrage for women by national action, and commended the position of Charles Evans Hughes, the Republican nominee.

The statement of policy was contained in three resolutions unanimously adopting setting forth the attitude of the woman's party; first, with respect to the Democratic party; second, with respect to the Progressive, Prohibition, and Socialist parties; and, finally, upon the announced stand of Charles E. Hughes upon national equal suffrage.

Pledge War on Wilson.

The text of the first resolution said:

"Whereas, The present administration under President Wilson and the Democratic party have persistently opposed the passage of a national suffrage amendment; and,

"Whereas, Each of the other national parties, either by their platform or through their candidates, is pledged to the passage of a federal amendment enfranchising women; therefore be it

"Resolved, That the National Woman's party, so long as the opposition of the Democratic party continues, pledges itself to use its best efforts in the twelve states where women vote for president to defeat the Democratic candidate for president, and in the eleven states where women vote for members of congress to defeat the candidates of the Democratic party for congress"

Thanks Parties for Support.

The second resolution read:

"Resolved, That we congratulate the Progressive, Prohibition, and Socialist parties upon the definite stand which they have taken in their endorsement of suffrage for women by national action."

The third resolution said:

"Resolved, That we commend the position of the Republican candidate for president, Charles Evans Hughes, for the unequivocal stand which he has taken for human liberty by his indorsement of suffrage for women by national action, and assure him of our appreciation of his statesmanlike position."

Defeat Hughes Indorsement.

Concerted effort to secure a formal indorsement of the candidacy of Mr. Hughes was defeated, although advocates of what was termed a "positive policy" expressed gratification at the resolution commending his stand.

Leaders of the movement to indorse Mr. Hughes declared frankly that they considered a "weak policy" had been adopted.

Miss Helen Cobb of California announced her intention to wage an active campaign in support of the Republican nominee, and added that, in her opinion, a majority of the party members would do likewise, retaining, however, membership in the Woman's party.

Public announcement of the party's policy was made by party leaders at an open air massmeeting tonight.

Will Extend Fight on Wilson.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 11.—Officials at headquarters of the Congressional Union for Woman Suffrage, which is closely associated in organization with the Woman's party, issued statements tonight expressing approval of the party's determination to oppose President Wilson and indicating that their fight on him would not be confined to the suffrage states.

ITALIANS ONLY 18 MILES FROM CITY OF TRIEST

Thrust Austrians Back East and South of Goritz After Sanguinary Clashes.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

ROME, Aug. 11.—The Italian army, under the direct command of the Duke of Aosta, is continuing its drive eastward across the Carso plateau beyond Goritz.

The invaders have reached the line of Vert Cibizza, where the Austrians are holding out in trenches on the line from Monte San Gabriele and Monte San Marto.

At this point a terrific battle is being waged, but unofficial reports from that front indicate the main Austrian force is in full retreat, leaving only enough men to hamper the Italians until their comrades are at a safe distance.

Continue Southern Drive.

To the south of Goritz the Italians are only about eighteen miles from Trieste.

They have occupied Rubbia and San Martino Del Carso and the whole of the Doberto plateau. The Italians first succeeded in capturing strong Austrian defenses between the Vippacco and Monte Cosich.

The nemy, according to the official report, was routed completely and retired east of Vallone, leaving strong rear guards on Cima Debeli and on hill 121, east of Monfalcone.

During the day, it is estimated, more than 3,000 prisoners were taken, which runs the total up to 36,000, including those captured at Goritz.

Congratulations are pouring in from all parts of the world to King Victor Emmanuel, the Duke of Aosta, and Gen. Cadorna.

Italian War Report.

The war office statement on the day's operations follows:

Yesterday the third army continued with increasing pressure the attack on the San Michele and San Martino sectors, which had begun on the 9th instant, and succeeded in capturing strong defenses of the enemy between the Vippasco and Monte Cosich.

The enemy was routed completely and retired east of Vallone, leaving, however, strong rear guards on Cima Debeli and on Hill 121, east of Monfalcone.

We occupied Rubbia and San Martino Del Carso and the whole of the Doberdo plateau, reaching the line of the Vallerie.

East of Goritz the enemy is holding out in trenches on the line of Monte San Gabriele and Monte San Marto, the western slopes of which and the line of the Vert Cibizza already have been reached by our troops.

On the rest of the front the enemy made the usual demonstrations, which everywhere were dealt with successfully.

Describes Goritz Scenes.

PARIS, Aug. 11.—"Entering Goritz by the Via Leone, the sight that meets the eye is most striking," telegraphs the Petit Parisien's correspondent on the Isonzo front. "It was here that a furious battle was fought for possession of the city. The houses are half destroyed by shells or riddled with bullets.

"The ground is strewn with bodies, uniforms, helmets, and rifles. The artillery duel continued above our heads and enemy aeroplanes whirled across the sky, shot at by our gunners, while in the distance could be heard the furious clacking of machine guns.

"The spectacle before us was superb. Over an iron bridge our batteries passed at a trot. The Austrian artillery sent towards them whirlwinds of shells, the smoke from which completely blotted out our columns from time to time.

"When the smoke blew away one could see the batteries still proceeding on their triumphant way. The men on the line regiments yelled, wept, annd clapped their hands in their enthusiasm. Some of the gunners fell wounded, but the bridge was passed and our guns began to get near the enemy.

Resume Normal Conditions.

"As soon as one passed the first houses and got into the city, the aspect of things changed completely. Normal life was resuming its course and if it had not been for the echoes of the struggle, one would not have known that a battle was in progress nearby.

"In the Carso, one of the principal streets, a big café was open, filled with officers, soldiers and civilians, the troops and citizens fraternizing freely, in their joy over the Italian entry into the city. Our flags floated from the windows of all the houses.

"The population has almost all returned, for it had not fled. The Austrians forced the inhabitants to leave the city itself, but they remained scattered throughout the environs of the place awaiting the retreat of the enemy to make their way back."

DANISH LAWMAKERS DELAY SALE OF WESIT INDIES TO U.S.

Opposition Wants Island Referendum, but This Is Something America Refuses to Sanction.

COPENHAGEN, Aug. 11.—The folkething today continued the debate on the sale of the Danish West Indies islands to the United States. A large number of the members took part in the debate.

The opposition speakers severely criticized the government's action in issuing repeated denials that negotiations for the sale of the islands were in progress.

The opposition speakers repeatedly offered the suggestion that the population of the islands should be allowed a referendum on the proposed sale.

Replying to this argument the minister of foreign affairs said that during the negotiations he had asked the American government whether it was favorable to such a referendum, and that the American government refused to sanction it. He added, however, that he was willing to bring the matter again to the attention of the United States, although he was not sure that he would succeed in obtaining its consent to such a proceeding.

THE RUSSIAN CAMPAIGN

1—The capture of Stanislau gives the Russians possession of the most important rail center in southeastern Galicia. Five roads radiate from Stanislau, giving the Slavs facilities for an advance on Lemberg from the south, for a further advance in southern Galicia, and for an invasion of Hungary. The breaking of the Dniester river line at Stanislau endangers the whole Austro-German line in Galicia.

vanka with the Dniester, and also the village of Mindigorie, north of Ustieziione.

Thus the troops of Gen. Letchitzky achieved an important success. Continuing the obstinate fight in the region of Stanislau, he captured the town at 7:45 o'clock yesterday (Thursday) evening. Thereafter he pursued the enemy, who retreated in the direction of Halich. Several explosions were heard previous to the evacuation of the town by the enemy.

On pressure being brought to bear on the enemy, he evacuated the left bank of the river Bystritza, and our detachments began to cross to the other bank, meanwhile pouring rifle and machine gun fire into the retreating enemy.

TAKE MANY PRISONERS.

In the fighting of Aug. 4 to 11 more than 14,000 Austrians and Germans were captured. An earlier statement says:

Fierce fighting is continuing on the river Stokhod, in the region of Mikhliabachey, the village of Vulski Lubachevska, the little town of Stobyvy and the village of Zaroche.

On the river Sereth our troops are advancing as a result of fierce fighting. Our troops, under Gen. Sakharoff, pushed the enemy out of villages and woods on the right bank of the river. One of our cavalry regiments attacked the enemy's infantry and by a second attack on the flank of the dense masses of Germans threw them into complete disorder.

In this region the troops of Gen. Ekk took in battles between Aug. 4 and Aug. 11 a total of 268 officers and 13,000 men. In addition, over 1,000 wounded Austrians and Germans were captured.

German Official Report.

BERLIN, Aug. 11.—Austro-German troops in the region of Monastersyska, at points on the Dniester and in the Bystritza river regions of Galicia, have been compelled to give way because of the superiority of hostile forces at some places. The war office statement today says:

Front of Archduke Charles Francis: Southwest of Monastersyska and in the angle formed by the Dniester and Bystritza, strong Russian forces attacked us. The superiority of the enemy compelled the defenders to give way at some points. Our counter attacks intercepted storming attacks of the enemy and brought the fight to a standstill. A regrouping of the allied (Teutonic) troops, which was ordered so as to take into account the altered positions of the Russians, is now taking place.

Check Slavs in North.

Front of Field Marshal von Hindenburg: Between Wisniew lake and Smorgon and in the region northeast of Krevo, numerous weak Russian attacks were repulsed easily. On the Stokhod front, the enemy, after the reverses suffered by him in the last few days, limited his operations generally to spirited artillery actions.

The fighting initiated south of Zarocze assumed extensive proportions. The Russian attack, which temporarily gained some ground between Bialoglowy and Horodyszcze, has been stemmed by German counter attacks. Strong enemy attacks in the Troscianie region were repulsed with heavy losses to the attackers. Attempts by the enemy to gain some advantage on the Sereth southeast of Horodyszcze failed hopelessly.

Vienna Admits Retreat.

VIENNA, Aug. 11.—"We have evacuated Stanslau without fighting," says the official statement issued from general headquarters today.

MARKET RISE DISCLOSES U. S. GRAIN PLOT QUIZ

trolled under contract by the big operators, who are said to be partly responsible for the recent jump in price, according to the government's investigation.

The annual home consumption of wheat is approximately 620,000,000 bushels.

The usual amount held over averages about 75,000,000 bushels yearly. With a surplus of 34,000,000 bushels over the amount needed for home consumption, as shown by the government's reports of what this year's crop will yield, and the 160,000,000 bushels held over from last year, there will be almost 200,000,000 bushels that can be exported without causing the shortage of a single bushel.

These facts will be the basis of any action that may be taken by the government to show that the sudden rise in the price of wheat is not wholly due to an expected shortage.

Bread Quiz On.

District Attorney Clyne also is investigating the report that a meeting of the bakers will be held this afternoon to reach an agreement to raise the price of bread. That such a meeting will be held was not denied by local bakers.

Bread, according to information received at the office of the district attorney, will advance in price to the consumer before the end of the coming week.

Another angle to the government's investigation will be the expected jump in the price of flour. Should the government discover sufficient evidence to show that the rise in wheat is not justified by the facts, the flour dealers will come in for a share of the prosecution.

The price of the 5 cent loaf of bread in Chicago and over the whole country will go to 6 cents within a week unless an embargo is placed on wheat.

This statement was made by members of the Master Bakers' association in Chicago yesterday. That the price of bread may be increased sooner in Chicago than in other parts of the country was the prediction made by Paul Schulze, president of the Schulze Baking company.

EXIT THE FIVE CENT LOAF

Salt Lake City, Utah, Aug. 11.—[Special.]—The Master Bakers' Association of America, in session here, today voted to abolish the 5 cent loaf and in the future make only 10 cent loaves, it is reported. It was also proposed to diminish the size of the 10 cent loaf "slightly."

PETITION TO CONGRESS.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 11.—[Special.]—Government inquiry into the high price of wheat may be forced by a petition received by congress from the Master Bakers' association, which is threatening to replace the 5 cent loaf of bread with one which costs twice as much but is not twice as large.

The bakers ask an embargo on wheat and wheat flour, pointing out that with prices soaring as a result of the short crop, the outflow to Europe must be checked or the American consumer will face higher prices and perhaps a serious shortage.

The administration is well aware of the situation, having information from the department of agriculture as well as from market conditions. As a result the federal trade commission is already launched on an investigation.

Edward N. Hurley, chairman of the federal trade commission, left for Chicago today, where he will start an investigation of an informal character. If there is anything about the present situation which is artificial and if it appears that a corner is manipulating prices, the situation has criminal possibilities. On this the department of justice has its eye.

so sadly marred the charm of Goritz, caused the Austrians to flee.

How unexpected was the retreat may be gathered from the fact that among the booty were many mules laden with hot rolls for the breakfast of the officers at Austrian headquarters.

The good folks of Goritz were plucking up courage to come out of cellars as we made our way to present our respects to the general commanding the victorious troops.

No better general than Cardona could have been selected for the final blow on Goritz. I offered him congratulations in the name of the allies, and though worn out by continuous fighting since Sunday last and unshaven and without sleep, he was prompt and alert.

"I hope to do better," he said. "Our front line is now several miles beyond Goritz and the cavalry is getting to work."

I asked him whether the enemy had another strong line this side of Trieste and though his military prudence precluded a positive reply, his gestures revealed his great hopefulness against this.

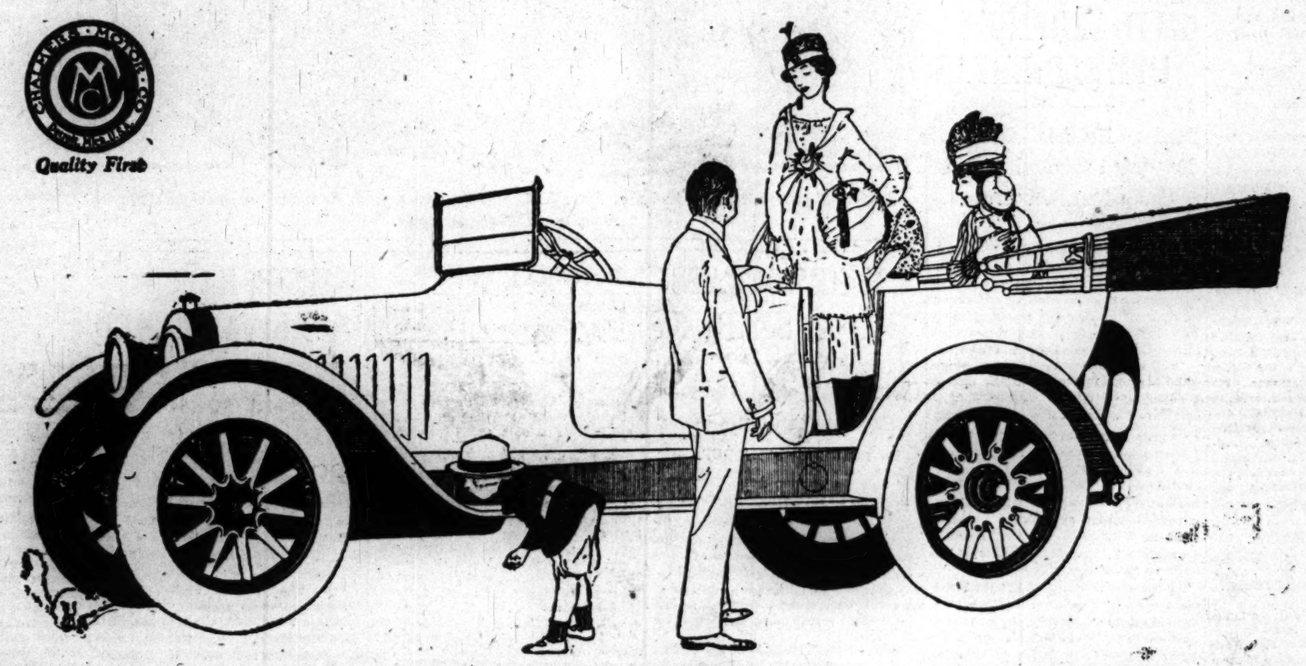
ADVERTISE IN THE TRIBUNE.



WHY I AM SELLING NEW $1550 CHALMERS CARS FOR $1195

On July 1st this year I took over the Chalmers line for distribution in the Chicago territory.

In the warehouse were stored a number of new $1550 Six-53 Chalmers cars.

They had been there from two to four months and I called them shopworn.

When I took over the wonderful line of 3400 r. p. m. Chalmers I contracted for $5,000,000 worth of them. They are coming in at the rate of 600 per month. I must make room.

When Hugh Chalmers was here a few days ago I put the Six-53 sale idea up to him for his approval.

"Great!" he said. "Go to it. I'll back you to the limit. It will be the biggest motor value for $1195 that America has ever known."

I agree with him absolutely, as I am positive you will, after you get back of the wheel.

This Six-53 Chalmers is a car of spunk, response, and lively action that answers every requirement.

It is a car of speed and performance.

It is a car so domesticated that a woman or boy can dare drive it.

I can safely say you'll never have another such chance to buy a car equal to this at such an astoundingly low price.

Think of it—a new seven-passenger Chalmers car of comfort, beauty and performance at $1195.

She's well worth $2000 of any man's money.

These cars are selling like the proverbial hotcakes. You won't be able to delay your purchase. When the stock now on hand is gone, the sale is over.

And your opportunity to buy a brand new $1550 Six-53 Chalmers at $1195 will be gone.

My advice to you is—ACT TODAY.

BALKANS ATTACK BEGUN BY ALLIES; POSITIONS TAKEN

Anglo-French Force Captures Doiran Station and Hill to South of City.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, Aug. 11.—The pressure of the steel ring of the allied armies surrounding the central empires was exerted from a new direction today when the long awaited drive in the Balkans opened.

The Anglo-French army concentrated in Greece, popularly supposed to number 700,000 men, began to move against the Bulgarian lines formed after the allies had retreated from Serbia.

The allies captured Doiran Station, five miles to the east of the city of Doiran. They also captured hill 227, which lies directly to the south of the city and which dominates it. In front of the captured positions, the dispatch says, the bodies of numerous Bulgarians were found.

At other points along the front artillery fighting continues, with patrol engagements along the Serbian border.

Teuton Forces Withdrawn.

Recent reports from Athens stated that a large part of the Austro-German troops which defended the Balkan line had been withdrawn because of the pressure of allied troops on other fronts.

The Bulgarians, it was reported, had taken over the defense of Serbia from an allied invasion. It was reported from Berlin two weeks ago that Field Marshall von Mackensen, who directed the Austro-German Balkan campaign, had returned to the Russian front.

Berlin Denies Losses.

BERLIN, Aug. 11.—The general army headquarters tonight issued the following report:

South of Lake Doiran the enemy made sham attacks with weak detachments, which were repulsed by our fire without serious fighting.

GERMAN AIRSHIPS ATTACK BRITISH WARCRAFT AT SEA.

Berlin Report Asserts That Several Hits Were Seen—Austrian Fliers Are Busy.

BERLIN, Aug. 11.—Successful attacks by German air squadrons on British war vessels off the Flemish coast and on Russian aviation stations on the Island of Ossel off the Gulf of Riga are announced in an admiralty statement issued today. It says several hits were made on the British vessels.

"On the night of Aug. 7 enemy airmen dropped several bombs on Rottweil, Wurtemberg," says another official statement. "A dwelling was hit and several persons were wounded. No military damage was done."

An Austrian official report says Austrian aeroplanes attacked Italian battery positions at the mouth of the Isonzo and the naval station of Gorgo.

British Make Long Raids.

LONDON, Aug. 11.—An official report issued tonight said:

Some successful long distance aerial raids recently have been carried out by the flying corps against the following objectives: Zeppelin shed at Brussels, railway sidings at Mons, railway sidings and airship sheds at Namur, Busigny railway station [twice], Courtray railway station twice. Of the 68 machines which participated only two failed to return.

TURKS SPURN U. S. RELIEF.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 11.—Turkey has refused to grant the request of the United States that a neutral committee be permitted to undertake relief work in Syria, where thousands of native Christians are reported to be starving. Charge Miller of Constantinople in a cablegram received at the state department today said the Turkish government had informed him relief operations in Syria were considered unnecessary because crops there were better than anywhere else in the empire.

FALLS FROM HIS HORSE; BREAKS HIS COLLAR BONE

WALINDER PHOTO

San Antonio, Tex., Aug. 11.—[Special.]—Lieut. Col. James M. Eddy of the First Illinois Infantry, who suffered a broken collar bone when his horse fell this morning, is resting well at the base hospital tonight, but it is improbable he will return to his regiment for weeks, if ever. The break took an unfortunate angle and will require several weeks inaction to make a secure knitting.

Lieut. Col. Eddy is the oldest man in the First brigade in point of service, with the exception of Col. Sanborn. Both enlisted thirty-seven years ago, Col. Sanborn two months before.

Lieut. Col. Eddy is 60 years old, and in order to remain with the regiment had to secure waivers on account of his health.

Lloyds Reports Destruction of Vessels by Mines and U-Boats at Various Points.

LONDON, Aug. 11.—Submarines and mines have caused the destruction of a number of vessels of various nationalities today, according to reports to Lloyds, emanating from widely separated areas.

Among the victims were the British steamer F. Stobart, 801 tons, which struck a mine in the North sea, with the loss of four of its crew drowned; the British steamer San Bernardo, 3,907 tons, which was torpedoed in the same vicinity; the French sailing vessel Annette Marie, 117 tons, from Dunkirk; the French steamer Henri Elisa, 822 tons; the Norwegian steamers Credo, 728 tons, and Sora, which were torpedoed off Barfour, in France, on the English channel, and the Danish steamer Danevang, in the North sea.

In the Mediterranean the French schooner Neptune was sunk by an Austrian submarine, and Lloyds says it is believed also that two other unknown sailing vessels were sent to the bottom at the same time and place.

Battled U-Boat; Sunk.

AMSTERDAM, Aug. 11.—A semi-official account of the sinking by a submarine recently of the Italian mail steamship Letimbro, received here today from Vienna, says the Italians fired on the submarine with two guns and that there were troops on board.

ALLIES ADVANCE AT FOUR POINTS NEAR THE SOMME

Both the French and British Succeed in Driving Their Lines Forward.

LONDON, Aug. 11.—The steady pressure of the allied troops on the German lines north of the River Somme today resulted in further advances.

The French, in brilliant fighting, captured a line of German trenches near Maurepas and a fortified quarry to the north of the Hem wood.

The British made further advances to the north of Bazentine le Petit and to the northwest of Pozieres. Violent counter attacks on the positions were repulsed.

In the region of Verdun the French succeeded in a surprise attack to the east of Hill 304.

French Official Report.

The official report issued by the ministry of war in Paris tonight said:

To the north of the Somme the afternoon was marked by an infantry attack, which was brilliantly carried out and which succeeded completely. Several German trenches were captured and our troops established a new line on the ridge to the south of Maurepas and along the road connecting that village and Hem.

To the north of the Hem wood a powerfully fortified quarry and two small woods fell into our hands.

To the south of the Somme the artillery fighting is intense.

On the Verdun front our first and second lines in the region of Chattancourt and in the Douaumont-Fleury sector have been bombarded.

On the left bank of the Meuse we made a surprise attack on a German trench east of Hill 304 and brought back prisoners.

British Official Report.

The official report issued by the British war office said:

Last night the enemy opened heavy machine gun and rifle fire on High wood, followed by an artillery barrage on the back area, but no hostile attack developed.

North of Bazantin-le-Petit we made further progress, taking a short length of trenches and inflicting considerable loss on the enemy. The enemy made a determined counter attack but was repulsed.

Northwest of Pozieres we also advanced our line slightly.

Near Neuville-St. Vaast we exploded a mine and occupied the crater with little opposition. South of Ypres we successfully raided a ruined farm in the enemy's lines.

German Report on Fight.

BERLIN, Aug. 11.—Both the French and the British are continuing their attacks on the German lines north of the Somme, but neither has been successful. The official statement says:

Native and British troops attacked north of the Somme without result.

Frequently repeated storm attacks by French troops slightly north of the river met the unyielding resistance of Saxon reserve detachments and failed.

GERMAN LIFE LOSS HUGE.

British Figures Based on Enemies' Casualty Lists Place Total at 3,135,177.

NEW RUSSIAN MINISTER DENOUNCES PEACE RUMOR.

Former Premier Sturmer Says Agreement with Allies Will Not Be Changed.

PETROGRAD, Aug. 11.—The rumors which were circulated after Premier Sturmer's appointment as foreign minister that Russia might entertain proposals for a separate peace have elicited a definite denial of such a possibility from the new foreign minister.

In denying the rumors to a correspondent of the Russky Slovoe, Premier Sturmer said:

"I have learned that my appointment is commented upon in some circles as forecasting a separate peace. I desire to strengthen the public belief that the change in the post of foreign minister must not be considered in any sense an indication of the variation of Russia from the line of conduct of the last two years toward her allies. The agreement with them will not be changed."

Ask Permission to Talk Peace.

BERLIN, Aug. 11.—The Socialist national committee today issued an address stating that the committee has renewed its appeal to Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg, the imperal chancellor, to lift the embargo on discussion of terms of peace. The committee asks Socialist organizations to prepare to circulate a petition demanding a peace that will secure the friendship of neighboring nations, Germany's territorial integrity, and the development of economic freedom.

SEES AMERICA IN DREAD OF FAR EASTERN POWER.

LONDON, Aug. 11.—The Nation this week takes the view that America is anxious to mediate because she fears Europe is ruining herself and against a weakened Europe she dreads the advent of a great far eastern power.

In a speech on May 27 last, at the banquet of the League to Enforce Peace in Washington, President Wilson mentioned certain principles, which, he declared, the United States wished to see established.

INCREASE TAX ON HIGHEST AND LOWEST INCOMES

Democratic Caucus Refuses to Change Exemption Clause in the Revenue Law.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 11.—The Democratic senate caucus tonight approved a committee amendment to the revenue bill which would increase the surtax on incomes in excess of $2,000,000 from 10 per cent to 13 per cent.

Withdrawal by the committee of an amendment to reduce the income exemptions to $3,000 and $2,000, respectively, for married and single persons prevented a threatened caucus revolt on that issue, but there was a persistent fight by several senators to increase further surtaxes on large incomes.

The caucus approved the provision making the normal income tax 2 per cent instead of the present 1 per cent and adopted an amendment providing that no income assessment should apply to dividends accruing before March 1, 1913, the date the income tax constitutional amendment became effective.

The caucus did not reach tonight the inheritance tax increases or the amendment substituting net profit taxes on manufacturers of munitions. It will meet again tomorrow afternoon.

Consider Munitions Tax.

The caucus had before it the proposal agreed on by the committee late in the day striking out the specific excise taxes on munitions manufacturers and substituting a 10 per cent net profit tax on the profits of all manufacturers of munitions and wares that enter into munitions.

The text of the amendment follows:

"That every corporation manufacturing gun powder and other explosives, cartridges, loaded and unloaded, caps or primers, projectiles, shells or torpedoes of any kind, including shrapnel, loaded or unloaded, or fuses, or complete rounds of ammunition, firearms of any kind, and appendages, including small arms, cannon, machine guns, rifles and bayonets, electric motor boats, submarines, or submersible vessels or boats, shall pay for each taxable year an excise tax of 10 percentum upon their entire net profits actually received or accrued for said year from the sale or disposition of such articles manufactured within the United States.

Material Also Taxed.

"And every corporation selling or manufacturing any material entering into or used as a component part in the manufacture of any of the articles herein enumerated shall pay for each taxable year an excise tax of 10 percentum upon their net profits actually received or accrued for said year from the sale or disposition of such material so entered into or used as a component part in the manufacture of the articles enumerated as aforesaid."

The committee also adopted today an amendment increasing the salaries of members of the proposed tariff board from $7,500 to $10,000 each.

As revised by the committee the bill would yield an estimated annual revenue of $198,000,000, as against $210,000,000 as it passed the house. The net decrease is due to the change in the munitions tax, the house method providing for $72,000,000 and the senate plan $45,000,000.

TWENTY ROUMANIANS DIE IN BIG POWDER EXPLOSION.

One Hundred and Fifty Injured by Accidental Blast at Dudesti, Near Bucharest.

LONDON, Aug. 11.—Twenty persons were killed and 150 injured by the accidental explosion of a military powder magazine at Dudesti, near Bucharest, says a Reuter dispatch from the Roumanian capital. The material damage was small and work at the powder plant continues.

ASSERTS BRITISH CANNOT YIELD IN BLACKLIST PLAN

Lord Cecil Says They Must Make Every Effort to Prevent Aid to the Enemy.

LONDON, Aug. 11.—"Personally I cannot see any way by which we can forego our undoubted right to prevent our subjects from providing resources to our enemies," said Lord Robert Cecil, minister of war trade, in discussing today with American newspaper correspondents the latest developments in Great Britain's economic warfare. "There is not likely to be any change in the policy of the allies as a result of neutral protests."

Urge New Protests.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 11.—[Special.]—Growing impatience on the part of American business interests concerned with the British trade campaign, as manifested in mail seizures and blacklists, threatens to force the state department to making further representations to Great Britain. Before Secretary Lansing has had time to get settled after his vacation the inquiries from many sources have begun to pour in on him.

Upset Trade with Russia.

Complains have also reached the department that there has been direct interference of American trade with Russia, one of Britain's allies, the complaints even asserting that cablegrams have been diverted and the orders contained in them and intended for American factories sought by British factories.

"Our Country! In her intercourse with foreign nations may she always be in the right; but our country, right or wrong."
—Stephen Decatur.

"TOO PROUD TO FIGHT."

We cannot blame the president's defenders for protesting against the distortion of his phrase, "Too proud to fight." There ought to be many occasions in the life of an individual or of a nation when the individual or the nation is too proud to fight, when self-respect and a sense of justice control.

The president did not use a phrase which would live to make him uncomfortable if he had not used it at the wrong time. It is, we think, just criticism of Mr. Wilson to say that he is inordinately fond of phrases. That would be an insignificant characteristic if Mr. Wilson did not rely upon the potency of phrases.

When people begin to resolve their difficulties by applying phrases to them they are bound to increase their troubles because they cease to think and merely hunt for a phrase. "Let well enough alone." "Don't swap horses crossing a stream." If a phrase comes handy the processes of thought are complete.

Mr. Wilson's fondness for a phrase is not without significance, but what he illustrated in the speech in which he spoke of being "too proud to fight" was his disposition not to consider the effect of what he was saying.

Three days after the Lusitania had been sunk Mr. Wilson made this speech, with the too proud to fight statement in it, in Philadelphia. The United States was in a precarious situation then. Its formal word had gone to Germany that if the German policy of sea frightfulness brought harm to an American citizen, Germany would be held to "strict accountability."

The Lusitania was Germany's answer, and with American dead washing up on Irish shores Mr. Wilson spoke. The speech had been written for an occasion wholly unrelated to the war. The phrase the president used in it had been written into it before the crisis came. In its new surroundings it was a demoralizing thing to say. Any man who looked at his writings with any precaution would have stricken it out instantly. Any man who had a sense of national danger, who could understand causes and their consequences, who knew how obliquely the human mind frequently works, would have avoided that phrase at that time as he would have avoided the plague.

A nation ought to be at times too proud to fight, but three days after a nation has received a stunning affront, three days after an event which sacrificed its citizens to their confidence in the ability of their nation to protect them, was no time to say such a thing as that.

Mr. Wilson was dealing with delicacies of sentiment of which he showed no comprehension. The situation was this: If Americans continued to travel to Europe on vessels operated by belligerents, and if Germans continued to torpedo these vessels without regard for the safety of the passengers, the United States had to fight.

There were two ways of avoidance. One that Americans ceased to travel on boats which the Germans might torpedo. The other was that the Germans cease to torpedo boats on which Americans might travel.

If one or the other of these ways out of the difficulty were not adopted the United States had to go to war. The administration had decided to maintain the right of Americans to travel on peaceable ships. Therefore the only hope of avoiding war lay in persuading Germany that the hostility of the United States would be damaging.

Germany has regarded the United States as a timid, money making nation. At the moment when Germany had to make the decision which meant war or peace for the United States the president used the phrase "Too proud to fight." It was a blunder of the first order. It had nothing to do with the Lusitania, but it could be construed in no other fashion. It gave us two chances of war for one that had existed. It strengthened the German conviction that Lusitania enterprises could be repeated and that "strict accountability" meant nothing.

It held the United States up to ridicule through out the world. It is a favorite phrase in contempt of Americans even now. It exposed the United States. In Mr. Wilson's mind it had no significance. It was merely the statement of an obvious truth.

The president never saw what damage he was doing. That is precisely the danger always facing a man who is fond of phrases. Mr Wilson's limitations never revealed themselves more clearly. A man with so little idea of consequences cannot safely be in charge of the affairs of a nation.

To all of Europe "Too proud to fight" was the American answer to the Lusitania, and all the while this impression was governing foreign opinion the United States was determined to prevent the use of the submarine in the fashion it had been used. We created an impression which did not reveal purpose at all, and in just such misunderstandings there is danger of war.

It is said that German policy made its big mistake during the period preceding hostilities, when it misjudged Great Britain and was of the opinion that the British would not fight. Viscount Grey has been blamed bitterly for not telling Germany flatly at the very beginning of trouble that the British navy would be at the disposal of Germany's enemies. War might have been avoided.

Grey's blunder, if it was one, was in saying nothing. President Wilson's was in saying something.

REMEMBER THE TAX AMENDMENT.

The Illinois Taxpayers' alliance is calling for an increased membership and support. The organization is a reputable association of business men who have interested themselves in reform of our abominable tax system, the worst in the country, it has been called, and they deserve cooperation in their efforts to rouse public opinion in favor of the tax amendment of the state constitution to be submitted to voters on Nov. 7.

In an intense campaign for the presidency, tax reform is likely to be overlooked, which would be a great misfortune. The first step toward the abolition of the injustice and inefficiency of Illinois taxation is the adoption of this amendment which will permit the legislature to classify personal property so as to avoid the present confiscatory levies and adjust their burdens properly. The amendment does not itself make changes in the law. It merely removes the constitutional obstructions created at a time when modern forms of personal property were unimportant.

Only by classification can we remove the excuse for tax evasion which now exists and establish a system of revenue applicable to the conditions of our own day.

There should be no doubt of the adoption of the amendment, but a campaign of education on the subject is desirable to make adoption certain.

OUR MODERATE NAVAL PROGRAM.

Admiral Sir Cyprian Bridge, the great British naval expert, calls our naval measure now in conference moderate. And so it is, if we consider our real naval conditions of defense, our responsibilities and our resources.

In a summary the senate bill, which follows the recommendations of the experts, appears more ambitious than in fact it is. When after a cessation of building we suddenly propose to build ten dreadnaughts, six battle cruisers, and other lesser though essential craft there appears to be a tremendous enlargement, enough to drive an anti-militarist into a padded cell. But this program would not be completed as to mere building until 1922 and the last ships will not be fully equipped, manned, and in fighting form for a year thereafter.

In other words, we shall not have our fleet brought up to the standard proposed in this program for seven years. Considering the rapidity with which international events now are moving; considering the fact that with the cessation of the war, in the making of peace and in the efforts of readjustment sure to follow serious problems must confront us, this naval preparation is, to say the least, none too rapid. On the contrary, with world relations in a state of seismic disturbance and with two sea coasts, to say nothing of our policies or our possessions to defend, it is no wonder that Admiral Bridge calls our efforts moderate.

Yet at this time the organized opposition to adequate preparedness represented in the house is at work to cut this preparation down in the name of a false economy which the nation is only too likely to find disastrously expensive in the difficult times to come.

This organized opposition to adequate defense succeeded in forcing a reduction of the army estimates. Public opinion should make its protest clear against the reduction of our moderate naval program.

REDFIELD AS A CHAMPION.

A defense of the administration's record in appointments might come with more force from some other member of the president's cabinet than Secretary Redfield of the department of commerce and labor. Mr. Redfield is remembered hereabouts as the merry gentleman who came with amiable little pleasantries after the Eastland disaster to find that everything in the government service was all right.

If Mr. Redfield's efficiency is the kind that permits a boat to roll over at its dock, his general ideas upon the subject are not particularly valuable.

The Eastland remains as the most astonishing proof of misgovernment ever found in this country, and Mr. Redfield, investigating in his amiable manner and with his sprightly wit, found that everything had been all right.

EXPOSE THIS CONSPIRACY.

It is to be hoped Secretary of State Stevenson will be able to run down the conspiracy which very clearly seems to have been organized to defeat him at the primaries. The device chosen is not only a contemptible one, but destructive of the direct primary system, and should be punishable by penitentiary sentence. It is obvious that the several Stevensons who are appearing as candidates for this office have no claim to public consideration and no reason for presenting themselves except to deceive careless voters into casting ballots for them under the impression that they are voting for some one else.

Back of this device, of course, are some very small and very unscrupulous politicians who, for the sake of the community, ought to be dragged out of their concealment and publicly punished.

DODGING AGAIN.

"The Greek liner Vasilefs Constantinos arrived yesterday from Piraeus direct with 1,991 passengers, of whom 1,448 were immigrants, chiefly Greeks and Serbian refugees. This is the largest number of passengers to arrive on any one ship since the beginning of the war."

Only a few lines, lost in a newspaper page filled with headlined events, but they are more significant than many columns.

For two years the tide of humanity which for generations has flowed into the land has been checked, has been turned back upon its sources.

Now it turns again westward. Are we to receive it as heedlessly as before?

There are now ten million aliens in the republic, and many millions more who are alien in all but the formality of naturalization.

The immigration bill is slated by the Democratic leaders to go over this session. The Republican leaders are trying to force a decision. Are we going to have more shirking of vital issues because elections approach and politicians are afraid?

Editorial of the Day.

LAW AND CAPRICE.

[From Bulletin, Second Chr. Ref. Church, Englewood.]

THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE is one of the few American papers which seems to have an eye for the flaws in our national character. Lawlessness is one of the weak points in American life. In a recent editorial THE TRIBUNE says regarding this matter: "The idea that a people can run loose is American, and its result is the American city. What we need is a sense of order and respect for it. We need the 'verboten,' spoken, printed, enforced and obeyed."

We need to cease being afraid that some one in authority will tell us what we have to do, and, moreover, to make us do it if we have not the sense to see that it is necessary for general good that we do it. "Verboten" is the German declaration that the general good is not to be imposed upon by the individual caprice. Among the things that the United States is in need of is deliverance from the "individual caprice."

The American church, we would add, is in need of this as well as the American city. The church, though belonging to the sphere of the kingdom of God, is easily affected by the spirit of the age and of the nation. It seems to be born in us to revolt against necessary rules and regulations in the church if for no other reason than simply to be contrary. The consistory makes a certain rule for the benefit of the church as a whole, and some one is sure to disregard it. The congregation agrees upon a certain method of conducting its finances and some are sure to make harmony impossible, apparently for no other reason than to show that they love to do as they please. The gospel condemns this spirit of belligerency and contrariness. Let us shun it.

Mashed potatoes, chicken fricassee, dumplings, stewed onions, and lettuce might, in isolated cases, appear on the breakfast table in a farm house, but he tops his description with PIE! Heaven forbid! If he had but told of the noonday meal in such glowing terms no one could have criticized. I suggest that your country readers express their opinions, especially the country housewives.

SMALL TOWN STUFF.

[From the Otterbein, Ind., Sun.]

Quite a little amusement was afforded those who were on or about Main street Monday evening. Two small rats were playing havoc with the flies in the Opp hardware store window. The flies were considered no worse enemies of mankind than the rats, and Messrs. Timmons and Wagner proceeded to bait up a couple of traps. The first one was easily caught. But the second rodent ate the bait off the second trap, much to the chagrin of Mr. Timmons. The second trap was again baited and the hungry rat in spite of his partner's experience was but a minute or two in boldly returning out to a certain death. There was quite a crowd present at both executions.

"I SYMPATHIZE with the smoker who has trouble with poor safety matches," writes a Chicago importer to the New York Sun, "but the fault is with the consumer, who as a rule pays no attention to the brand of matches he buys." He says further:

"The best safety matches in the market come from Norway, and there is no more difficulty about securing a strictly high grade, full count, straight grain safety match than there is in the case of other articles of commerce. The difficulty is found in the fact that so many jobbers, who do not hear the individual complaints of the users, are satisfied to sell a second or third grade safety match for the sake of the slight difference in the price, which, except in the case of the very poorest matches in the market, does not exceed two to five cents on every 144 boxes, a very trifling matter compared with the actual difference in quality."

ALL true enough, except that smokers do not buy matches. At least we know of none who do.

QUACKS AND FAKE REMEDIES.

THE Indiana state board of health has recently issued a fourth edition of "Medical Frauds." Any one who thinks of paying out good money for any patent medicine had better send a 2 cent stamp to Prof. H. E. Barnard, state food and drug commissioner, State house, Indianapolis, Ind., to pay postage on a copy of this report. When he has it he may be able to get the formula for the medicine and make it up for himself.

For instance, if he was thinking of paying $5 for Lung Germine, he would read in this book that Lung Germine was 4 per cent solution of sulphuric acid in water and alcohol and that $5 worth has a value of less than 15 cents.

He would learn that Luxor is a simple mixture of boric acid and zinc oxide and sells for twenty-five times the value of the ingredients.

May-o-Tone is an equal mixture of epsom salts and borax, and even if it would be a "protection against freckles and sunburn," a man would prefer to buy the ingredients for 2 cents rather than pay 50 cents for May-o-Tone.

After reading this book a man could buy the ingredients of Mayr's Stomach Remedy for 15 cents instead of paying $1 for the remedy.

Instead of buying Tanlac at the regular price he can buy extract of barberry, extract of pareira brava, buckthorn, licorice and gentian and some 18 per cent alcohol and get a mixture having the same properties as Tanlac and costing only one-tenth as much.

One effect of reading this report will be that the prospective purchaser will be able to discount some of the claims that are made for these old fashioned medicines parading under new names. For instance, the statement is made that Tanlac is a physic and a stimulant. Probably the effects are not much different from those of aloes or other well known vegetable physics. But one does not get that idea from reading the claims for Tanlac.

Speaking of Tanlac, the report of the Cincinnati health department for May 27 says: "On May 24 certain Cincinnati papers carried a story headed 'Flora Street Man Had Kidney Trouble. Today Says Tanlac Restored His Health.' After taking several bottles of this alcoholic solution of physicing drugs he is quoted as saying: 'My old enemies, sore, stiff back and pains, have entirely left me. I eat and sleep good and feel better in every way.' The certificate from the man appeared to be dated May 24. Dr. Landis, health commissioner, found that the man died on May 22.

Dr. Barnard says that he will furnish a copy of his report to any one sending postage. Perhaps Dr. Landis would supply a copy of his report of May 27 on Tanlac if postage were sent, provided the number of requests was not too great.

QUACKS AND SUCKERS.

There was a quack doctor lived back in the hills
Who used two concoctions to cure human ills;
One was a physic—"the best in creation"—
The other would fix any old "constipation"—
One he called "Tweedledum," one "Tweedledee,"
Both made of the bark of the same bloomin' tree;
He skinned the bark upwards to make "Tweedledum,"
And to make "Tweedledee" he skinned downwards, by gum.
And the people, whenever they got sick abed,
Swallowed whichever the quack doctor said.
For the people are easy and graft, ev are slick,

TAPEWORM.

G. E. H. writes: "I am not a physician, but a lawyer, and I have had occasion in my family and with others to use, with absolute success, the following cure for tapeworm: Take two ounces common yellow pumpkin seed; remove the hulls; pulverize seeds in mortar; mix with an equal quantity of brown sugar; divide into two parts; then eat no food for twenty-four hours; for supper after the fast take one-half of the mixture; no food for breakfast; next morning take the remaining half of the mixture; at noon take a good dose of castor oil and you get it. Never fails."

This is an old standby. It often succeeds and often fails. Preparation is the principal item, whatever remedy is used.

TAKES ASPIRIN.

Edward B. writes: "I would like to ask you a few questions through your valuable newspaper column: 1. Would the constant use of aspirin (5 gr.) tablets harm me? 2. In what manner would they affect me? (I take two every day, one after supper and one after dinner.) Is this too much? 3. What are they composed of? I am an invalid from rheumatism (arthritis deformans) for two years."

REPLY.

1 and 2. No one is justified in taking any drug twice a day for a long time.

3. Aspirin is made from coal tar now. It is closely akin to salicylic acid. Aspirin will not cure nor even help arthritis deformans. On the other hand, its persistent use will harm your digestive apparatus.

OZONE.

D. D. writes: 1. "What is ozone? 2. Can it be manufactured? 3. Can manufactured ozone be blown into a workshop and be of any benefit to the workers? 4. Can a man expand his chest as much in foul air as in good and pure air?"

REPLY.

1. Ozone is oxygen in an unusually active state.

2. It can. The peculiar smell during a lightning storm is due to ozone manufactured out of air by lightning. There are many ozone machines on the market.

3. It can be blown into a workshop, but it will not be of benefit to the workers.

4. Yes.

LA MARQUISE DE FONTENOY

[Copyright: 1916: By the Brentwood Co.]

SO many thousands of Americans of modest means, but of credulous minds, have been induced by shyster lawyers and other unscrupulous individuals to contribute their good American dollars to the prosecution of their alleged claims as heirs to the mythical $600,000,000 estate of England's great naval hero, Admiral Sir Francis Drake, who flourished in the reign of Queen Elizabeth, that the death this week of his lawful heir, Sir Francis Fuller Elliott Drake, in his eightieth year, is likely to arouse a considerable amount of interest in this country.

As Sir Francis, who was formerly a captain of the Royal Horse guards, leaves no son, his baronetcy becomes extinct and his estates go to his only child, a daughter, married to Lord Seaton. Since she has no children it is probable that on her demise she will leave the estates which she has inherited from her father to her cousin, Thomas Briscoe, son of the elder sister of the late Sir Francis. Thomas Briscoe will then, in accordance with the usual custom in such cases, obtain from the crown a license to assume the name of Elliott Drake, and the armorial bearings of his late uncle, and may possibly in the long run secure a revival in his favor of the Drake baronetcy.

The Drake estates, all told, do not extend over 6,000 acres of land situated in Devonshire. The late Sir Francis was not a direct descendant of England's Elizabethan naval hero, for the simple reason that the latter left no descendants.

The American claimants to the mythical Drake fortune base their pretensions on the supposition that the great admiral left two sons, John and Francis. The latter, and the older one of the two, it is asserted, inherited his father's property and passed it on to his heirs in the male line direct until the termination of the line, whereupon the property, as well as the title, according to the fantastic story, should have reverted to the descendants of John, the younger son of the famous Elizabethan sea fighter. The members of the Drake Estate association of the United States claim to be the lineal heirs and descendants of this John Drake; and it is on this pretension that they base their demands.

Now, the English official standard "Peerages," "Baronetages," and analogous works of reference, both of the present day and of the sixteenth, seventeenth, and eighteenth centuries, as well as the official records, still in exeistence, of the Elizabethan era demonstrate that the great Sir Francis Drake, although twice married, died without children. In his will, dated May 17, 1596, London, the original of which, bearing his own signature, is on file to this day at Somerset house in the British metropolis and shown to visitors on payment of a small fee, he declares that, "being childless," he bequeaths his landed property, consisting of Buckland Abbey, in the county of Devon, to his nephew, Francis Drake, the son of his elder brother, Thomas, who is named as executor of the will.

This is sufficient in itself to dispose of the claims of the Drake Estate association of the United States and to prove that under no circumstances could its members be regarded as descendants of the admiral. The latter's nephew and heir, Francis Drake, was created a baronet by James I., and the baronetcy, along with the Buckland Abbey property, passed down either from father to son or from uncle to nephew until the end of the eighteenth century, when the baronetcy became extinct through the death without issue in 1794 of Sir Francis Henry Drake, fifth baronet.

On his demise the Drake estates, comprising Buckland Abbey, near Yelverton, went to his nephew, the second and last Lord Heathfield of Gibraltar. Lord Heathfield's mother was Anne Drake, sister of the fifth baronet. She married Sir George Elliott, who, for his gallant defense of Gibraltar, was created first Lord Heathfield. This Lord Heathfield and his wife, Anne Drake, had besides their only son, who died as second and last Lord Heathfield, a daughter named Anne Elliott, married to John Drayton Fuller of Ashdown house, Sussex.

Their son, Thomas Fuller, inherited on the death of his uncle, the second Lord Heathfield, not only the Elliott property, but also the Drake estates, and in accordance with the terms of the will of the fifth Drake baronet, assumed the name and the armorial bearings of the Drake family. He was a distinguished veteran of the Peninsular war, and, partly by reason of his ownership of the Drake estates, was created a baronet by George IV. He also died without issue, and on his demise his baronetcy and the Drake and Elliott estates went to his nephew, Francis Fuller, who was also obliged to secure a royal license in 1870 to assume the name and arms of Elliott and Drake, which converted him from Sir Francis Fuller into Sir Francis Elliott Drake.

The great Elizabethan Admiral Sir Francis Drake had, in addition to his brother Thomas, still another brother, John, who commanded the warship Swan in the British attack on Vera Cruz. Possibly he may have remained on this side of the Atlantic. But even if that were the case, and if the Drakes in the United States, members of the Drake Estate association, were his legitimate descendants they would have no claim whatsoever upon the Drake property in Devonshire or elsewhere that may have belonged to the admiral. For no mention is made by the latter in his will of his brother John, the property being explicitly bequeathed to his nephew, Francis, the son of his elder brother Thomas.

From him the property and name passed down, not altogether in the direct male line, but sometimes through the female line, yet always by virtue of wills, deeds of settlement, and patents of the crown, which are perfectly valid in law, and that cannot be upset by any legal process, to Lady Seaton, as the only child of Sir Francis Elliott Drake.

Lord Seaton, whose wife now becomes owner of the Drake and Elliott estates, is the third baron of his line, the peerage having been created in favor of Field Marshal Sir John Colborne, one of the heroes of the Peninsular war, and whose decisive movement with the infantry brigade under his command is declared by history to have secured the definite victory of the English at Waterloo. Later on he was governor general of Canada and was succeeded by his eldest son, who was also a general in the army. The present Lord Seaton is likewise a soldier by profession, a veteran of the Boer war, and rejoined the army immediately on the outbreak of the present international conflagration. Being childless, his peerage will pass on his demise to his younger brother, Col. the Hon. Francis Colborne, who has been equerry in waiting to Princess Henry of Battenberg for many years and is also the exon of the king's royal bodyguard of gentlemen at arms.

HAVE CEASED USING NOISY SPEAKERS.

Chicago, Aug. 7.—[To the Friend of the People.—Inasmuch as there is an anti-noise ordinance forbidding peddlers shouting their wares in our streets, I should like to know why a similar nuisance can be committed in the name of religion, as it is every weekday evening and for several hours each Sunday afternoon and evening by Moody's in their outdoor meetings at the northwest corner of North avenue and Clark street. We live diagonally across the street, and the shouting and yelling of these outdoor preachers is wafted in at our windows with an effect more disagreeable than the barking of peddlers because of its long duration. It does seem to me that such conduct on the part of these people cannot be pleasing in the sight of the Lord, and that it is discomforting to residents, especially the sick that are within range, to a degree that makes it entitled to your attention. FAIR PLAY.

Associate Pastor E. Y. Woolley of the Moody church says this is the first complaint of this kind that the church has had. They feel that they have always used due precaution in the matter of excessive or unnecessary noise. The church has ceased using two speakers who were noisy and are cautioning their other speakers not to lift their voices more than necessary to be heard by the immediate audience in front of them. Mr. Woolley says that they do not desire to be a nuisance to any one, and wish to conduct the meetings with every possible regard for the rights and comforts of others.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

THE TRAINMEN'S SIDE.

Sheridan, Wyo., Aug. 9.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—I am very much surprised at the tone of your editorials on the eight hour day controversy. As to compensation, take the statement of the companies which has been run as advertisements. On all the roads in the west the freight conductor earned in 1915 an average of $1,985. Let us analyze this.

In the first place, he is away from home about 75 per cent of his time and has to meet hotel expenses. He is paid in through freight service—and this is the main bulk of the business—41.8 cents an hour, or $4.18 for 100 miles or ten hours. If he works every workday in the year he would have to work fourteen hours and fifty minutes each day to earn $1,985. I presume the companies' answer to this would be that he makes his money by the mile. If so, why do they object to the proposed eight hour day?

It costs the companies $13.85 to pay an engineer, fireman, conductor, and two brakemen to move a train 100 miles, and if they move sixty cars that is about 30 cents a car. It is immense, is it not? The fact is that never in the history of traffic has the cost of moving freight a ton mile been as cheap as at present as far as the wages of the train and engine men are concerned.

As to the men being opposed to arbitration, the old saying, "A burned child dreads the fire," applies pretty generally. I have in mind a case on the Burlington where the men arbitrated and the arbitrators in many cases decided that the passenger men must work for less compensation than employés on other roads in similar territory, the Burlington receiving the same rates for carrying passengers as the other companies. After this injustice are you surprised that the trainmen on the Burlington are very bitter against arbitration? And I want to say here that this had its share in helping this company increase its surplus earnings, which for this year are something like 24 per cent on its capital stock.

A conductor has to serve an apprenticeship of from five to ten years before becoming a conductor in steady service. But this is not a movement for an increase in pay but one for a shorter day. If the eight hour day and time and one-half was granted it would greatly expedite the movement of cars and thereby greatly benefit the public.

A man in the train service has to be almost physically perfect, more so than in any service except the army and navy. You make no allowance for the extra hazardous life he leads, exposed to all sorts of weather. The Brotherhood of Trainmen alone for August, 1915, will pay out for insurance $224,400, covering 168 cases of death and disability. Of this number there are twenty-six cases of death by the cars and twenty-three cases of total disability caused by accidents while on duty.

DEFICIT IN CANAL TOLLS.

Chicago, Aug. 11.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—The article on the deficit in canal tolls is particularly interesting to the writer, in view of the fact that we have recently tried to get information from the bureau of trade relations, located here, regarding shipments through the Panama canal to Pacific coast ports.

I have been informed that there are no lines now plying between Atlantic coast ports and Pacific coast ports via the Panama canal. What is the answer?

Doubtless there are many shippers who would like to take advantage of shipping through "the big ditch."

It is a crying shame that, now boats up to a thirty foot draft can pass through the canal, bottoms cannot be obtained to handle shipments.

MORE FRIGHTFULNESS.

Chicago, Aug. 11.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Your editorial, "Capt. Fryatt," is so timely and rational I wish to express my hearty approval and congratulations. The kaiser's action in this matter can only be excused on the theory that he is now driven insane from realization, at last, of the desperate and hopeless position he has got himself and his deluded people into.

All the world outside Teutonic bounds has gased, horror stricken, upon the Teutonic madness and has joined to save the world from the domination of a power, once great and honored, which has shown itself capable of such deeds as the Teutons have, for two years now contributed to history.

BUY THE ISLE OF PINES.

Chicago, Aug. 11.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—If the Danish West Indies are worth $25,000,000 the Isle of Pines, eight or nine times larger area, commanding the Yucatan channel several hundred miles nearer the Panama canal than the Danish West Indies islands, with a good harbor on the south coast, ought to be worth the few million dollars that Cuba would undoubtedly be glad to accept for any more or less dubious claims she may have on the Isle of Pines, especially in view of the fact that the whole title is now owned and settled by Americans.

BLACK EYES AND BLOODY NOSES IN CAVALRY FIGHT

BY FLOYD P. GIBBONS.

Brownsville, Tex., Aug. 11.—[Special.]—A row broke loose in the First Illinois cavalry camp at midnight last night. Heads were cracked, eyes blackened, noses liquidated, tents torn down, and a general mob scene staged, with the result that Col. Milton Foreman ordered one whole troop under arrest and placed under guard.

Troop I accompanied the Third squadron yesterday on an eighteen mile practice hike. The only man left in the camp was a sick trooper, who is just recovering from an operation for appendicitis.

At the same time the headquarters troop, of which the regimental band is a unit, was ordered to move its tents from their old location to a site beside the tents of Troop I.

Loot Camp of Troop I.

Now, the band needed tent pins to hold down its canvas, and there were no pins. Regimental Adjt. Capt. Schwengel was appealed to for tent pins. Capt. Schwengel replied that like other missing and much needed equipment, tent pins had been "requisitioned." "Find some tent pins" was his suggestion to the men.

Now there was the almost deserted camp of I troop and there were tent pins holding down the tents of the absent men, who were out on the first practice march they have had in the six weeks they have been here trying to become soldiers.

Troop I tents began to sway in the breeze and fall. Headquarters troop tents began to rise and straighten their tinkli walls to the ground. The sick trooper in Troop I remonstrated, but was unable to stop the loot.

Free for All Fight.

Troop I returned at nightfall, and tried by every makeshift to make the tents habitable for the night. The sick trooper informed his comrades where the missing tent pins were.

Corporal Ferdinand Graber strode gallantly into the headquarters troop street at 11:30 p. m., and under the winking moon began plucking tent pins. The band was on his neck in a short time. The musicians used their fists and Graber defended himself as best he could, but was forced to retire with black eyes.

He returned to his troop street and called out his comrades. The troop started out to beat the band. The band was waiting for the attack.

About 130 men engaged in the melée, which lasted ten minutes. At the end of that time many of the men were nursing black eyes and bloody noses, and the two troop streets looked like Columbus, N. M., after the raid.

All of Troop I Arrested.

Upon the arrival of officers and the guard quiet was restored. Troop I was placed under arrest and the band was ordered back to its quarters safe and secure in the possession of stolen tent pins.

Today Troop I was placed on heavy fatigue. Not a man in the troop escaped and the threat was made that the whole troop would remain in disgrace under punishment until the regimental officers were able to find those responsible for the fight.

The Second squadron of the First, under command of Maj. R. R. McCormick, walked the regimental horses twelve miles in six hours and a half today on the squadron's first practice march since its muster. The march was six miles to a point on the historic battlefield of Palo Alto. Five horses became sick and weak on the march and their riders had to dismount and lead them back to the camp.

MAJOR VINCENT APPEALS TO EMPLOYERS FOR MEN.

Asks for 400 Recruits for First Regiment, Illinois Field Artillery.

Maj. Charles R. Vincent yesterday made a personal appeal to Chicago's large employers for 400 men for the First regiment, Illinois field artillery. He asked that each employer send at least two.

Illinois is to furnish two more regiments of field artillery under the new ruling of the war department and according to Maj. Vincent the men who go south now will have an excellent opportunity to receive good commissions when the new regiments are formed.

"We need men, and sometime the big call will come," Maj. Vincent's letters read, "and unless we have something more than we have had in the past, how can we avoid a good licking? Try to send at least two men to the address noted below to enlist in this regiment. This is an appeal to your patriotism, a chance to be of real service to your country. We have more West Point graduates and regular army officers in our regiment than in any other in the state of Illinois."

The regiment goes to Leon Springs, for target practice Aug. 17, and recruits are urged to enlist at once at Room 531 the Rookery, Adams and La Salle streets.

WOMEN LEADERS IN RIOTS IN MINNESOTA MINE FIELD.

Virginia, Minn., Aug. 11.—During a strike riot here today Alice Arcola is alleged to have bitten Patrolman Fred Kiah on his right hand. She was arrested, found guilty, and ordered to pay a fine of $102.50 or serve sixty days in jail.

There were about seventy-five in the party of pickets, men, women, and children, who bore down on the miners on their way to the Franklin and Lincoln mines. Police and deputy sheriffs soon dispersed the rioters, arresting men and women.

SEND SOLDIERS "JOY BOXES"

Company L of the First regiment, I. N. G., at Brownsville, Tex., in a day or so will receive a 200 pound box containing towels, soap, underclothing, sweaters, baseball bats and balls, and other articles not furnished by the government.

The contents of the box were obtained through subscriptions by wives of the officers and men of the company under the active supervision of Mrs. E. Richmond, wife of Capt. Richmond, and Mrs. H. H. Racey, wife of the late Col. Racey.

SHAKEUP AMONG ILLINOIS TROOPS EXPECTED SOON.

Eighth Regiment to Be Sent to Fort Sheridan—One Battery to Be Mustered Out of Service.

San Antonio, Tex., Aug. 11.—[Special.]—Illinois troops are scheduled for a shakeup within the next few weeks according to army officers.

It is probable that within two weeks the Eighth regiment will be ordered to Fort Sheridan. The position of this regiment here has been keenly humiliating to its officers and trying to the men. Col. Denison has appreciated the situation and has held his men and officers under close restriction. One rarely sees a Negro in uniform in the streets and any social intercourse between the whites and blacks of the Illinois commands is confined to camp. No one will be better pleased than the men of the Eighth to escape the unpleasant situation.

It is rumored that the Illinois field artillery is to be moved to the border shortly. One battery, it is said, will be mustered out of service and returned home. The batteries which are to be sent to the target ranges are not to be returned to Camp Wilson, but will be moved to points on the border.

TRAIN KILLS AGED WOMAN.

Mrs. Mary Ward, 86 years old, 305 North Kilbourne avenue, was instantly killed yesterday by a Lake street car at North Kilbourne avenue. The crew of the car is being held by the police, who refuse to give out the two names.

GOSSIP OF BOOKS OF THE DAY

Germany's Ideal as Her Thinkers See It.

BY BURTON RASCOE.

BERNARD SHAW, who, while his fellow journalists in England were searching the dictionary for new terms of invective to use against him, was investing $100,000 in the new British war loan, has called attention to the fact that the war will not be won by vituperation hurled by penny-a-liners and soap box orators against the German nation. That sort of war may have its effect upon the literate but unreasoning peoples of neutral nations, but it will not break the iron arc from Antwerp to the Vosges. And however great the power of the people in democracies, democracy yet retains enough respect for national security to abstain from a war urged by sentimentality alone.

That is one reason why the cant and hypocrisy that swayed the passions of the American public in 1914-'15 is gradually giving away to a more critical attitude toward the virtues and defects of the governmental systems of the nations at war. German born Americans are not so pro-German as they were months ago; pro-ally sentiment no longer is couched in such violent terms as it once was. We are gradually approaching that temperamental mean whereby we can sit judicially, listen to both sides, and learn something from the experience of others.

That is why "MODERN GERMANY" (Mitchell Kennerley) appears at a time that might be termed the most auspicious for it to gain a satisfactory hearing in this country. It is a translation of "Deutschland und der Weltkrieg," published in Germany during 1915 and intended primarily for German readers. Nineteen of the twenty-one essays that go to make up the volume were written by renowned German and Austrian university professors who are specialists in the subjects they undertake to make lucid; the other two are contributions by the German secretary of state for the colonies on Germany's colonial policy and by the city councillor of Berlin on the spirit of self-government in Germany.

The very reason that these voluntary writings setting forth Germany's political aims, its cultural development, its economic situation, and its relation to the other great powers, were intended for the German educated public and not as propaganda makes the volume the more welcome in the United States. The articles are not facile, biased generalizations appealing to the emotions of a people to be swayed; all classes, high and low, before they were published, had entered the war; they were written by men who could not afford to jeopardize their intellectual integrity by a willful manipulation of the facts to fit an issue. The idea of the volume is to present the facts and pose the questions that must be answered before Germany has reached the national aim toward which it has been striving.

When Prof. Ernst Troeltsch of the University of Berlin, writing on "The Spirit of German Kultur," says: "French genius has succeeded in presenting itself . . . as the standard of humanity, democracy, and progress, producing at the same time the impression of a firm, established, but nevertheless impressionable and artistic protean power," he is addressing himself not to a hooting populace that wants a shibboleth to be used against an enemy, but to intellectuals of a nation that, however magnificent it has molded itself, still has problems to solve. When he writes: "In the youthfulness of this late comer (Germany) and trouble brewer in the European system of states is to be found the reason for its lack of finish, its sanguine vitality, its passionate self-consciousness, and the mass of still unsolved administrative problems," he is not setting up imperial Germany as superstate to which all other nations must genuflect and accept as a model; he is pointing out defects—defects of virtue, perhaps, but defects.

With no attempt to vilify the nations of the entente but rather to profit by their mistakes and successes in different fields of national endeavor are these articles written. The weaknesses of the Russian system of diverting attention from internal problems to external politics as well as the weaknesses of English and French national organization are carefully pointed out in contrast to the strength of the German organization along the same lines; but the admonition is given "Germany as compared to its two great opponents is much further from a state of final development."

From these quotations it must not be assumed that "Modern Germany" disparages the German system; on the contrary, the essays intend to show that present day Germany is a nation worth maintaining, that it has a message of civilization as well as has France and England, and that kultur, or the German ideal of individuality developed by the state, but working for the good of the state and subservient to the state, is a healthy and protective ideal.

Mrs. Kathleen Norris, who is one of America's most popular novelists, has just published another book, "The Heart of Rachael." Her previous works, "Mother," "The Story of Julia Page," and "Saturday's Child," enjoyed a great sale. She is a Californian, and her husband is a brother of the late Frank Norris, for whom her little son is named.

Golden Lads In the Trenches.

THE proceeds to be devoted to the cause of teaching trades to maimed French soldiers, Arthur Gleason has made a book, "GOLDEN LADS" (Century company), out of ome articles which have already appeared in print elsewhere, and from original matter, on the war. The volume is a stern indictment of German methods in Belgium and a warm tribute to the patriotism and bravery of the Fusiliers Marins, the Breton sailor fighters.

The papers that make up this book are not the product of brief interviews with officers, or of hasty visits to battlefields. They grew out of five months of day by day living at the front. The author was a member of the famous Hector Munro ambulance corps. This gallant little band of less than a dozen persons has now been a theme of five books—including May Sinclair's "Journal of Impressions in Belgium," Philip Gibb's "Soul of the War," and Dr. Souttar's "Log of a Surgeon." It received permission to carry on its remarkable work at the front line because it was under the military leadership of the son of the Belgian prime minister. Mr. Gleason is the only American to whom has been intrusted the official green pass of the Belgian army, giving free passage to the trenches. He worked with the Belgian army and the Fusiliers Marins of France. He was twice a prisener of the Germans.

Mrs. Gleason, who contributes to the book a chapter on "How War Seems to a Woman," conducted, in company with two British nurses, the now famous dressing station at Pervyse, thirty yards from the Belgian trenches. Never before had women lived continuously on the front line during war time. For her gallantry Mrs. Gleason was knighted by the Belgian king.

Col. Roosevelt contributes one of his downright introductions.

Tales from Japanese Drama.

The average occidental has little conception of the hold which the drama, particularly the classic drama, has on the Japanese mind. Therefore "TALES FROM OLD JAPANESE DRAMAS" will open up a wide field for many who never could hope to master the Japanese tongue, and will furnish additional means for interpreting the much misunderstood Japanese character. The author, Asataro Miyamori, is a professor of English in Keio university, Tokyo. His work has been revised by his colleague, Prof. Stanley Hughes. The collection includes the most noteworthy epical dramas, known as Joruri. The selections, which have been much condensed and simplified in the translation, together with the introduction, enable one unfamiliar with Japanese drama to gain a very fair preliminary view of this rich field of literature.

Workaday Folk in a Pett Ridge Novel.

BY ELIA W. PEATTIE.

IN the old days when Charles Dickens wrote the world was a very friendly place. The lowly lives were idealized—or shall we say realized—and "common" folk knew themselves as being uncommon. Dickens had the supreme courtesy of perceiving that a mob was made up of individuals. He did not write of "the submerged tenth," substituting a quotable phrase for a terrible, ever present and throbbing fact. He took Little Jo, held up the waif's quivering soul and starved body for piteous inspection, and made for "the submerged tenth" hundreds of thousands of friends and protectors.

Without Dickens' excesses in humor, tragedy, sentiment or passion there is nevertheless a living author, W. Pett Ridge, who has something of Dickens' perception and method. Mr. Ridge does not write of the submerged, but he writes of a workaday folk. His gentle, wise heroine in "THE KENNEDY PEOPLE" keeps a little shop; one of his kindly characters is a waiter in a restaurant; the weak hero, after losing the fortune his father made for him, goes into the laundry business with his fat French mistress in Paris. The mightiest characters in the book, judged from a worldly standpoint, are men who import sugar or men who have moderate sized ironmongeries.

But there is enchantment in this book, and intimacy; there is truth and humor; wistfulness, the soul's fine secrecy, the play of yearning mind on mind. No recapitulation of the tale would be of any use to you. The reader is made acquainted with three generations and is made to feel that he could not have judged fitly of any one of them without having known all three. One settles down into the story as one does into life. Here are characters who make fine things gross; here, too, characters who transmute common things into gold by the alchemy of spirit. That the volume closes on a note of hope and achievement is well perhaps, yet immaterial. Good and evil, sorrow and happiness, greed and abnegation, attainment and loss continually intermingle. They must always do so in Mr. Ridge's stories, for there are transcripts of life—transcripts such as the highly perceptive artist makes. (Doran.)

A Double Personality.

When Mr. Charles Marriott walks the old, old soil of England he dreams dreams. Some subtle exudation arises to him from the earth which has been trodden by Romans and early Britons, by Norman gentlemen and hairy, primordial man. He has a sense of progression similar to that which the geologist feels when he looks at the storied rocks, and he has a notion apparently that as the trained eye of the geologist will perceive in the rocks a record which will tell him a long and marvelous tale, so the sensitive spirit of a true "medium" will record a long tale. It may be short compared with that of the geologist, but it is more important after all, for it is the history of man.

Harry Belsire, the son of a Sussex clergyman, seemed to most folk to be, if not a half-wit, at least a subnormal creature. But his distrait manner was really due to the fact that he had two personalities, one of which accommodated itself to the present and the obvious, one to the world of spirit. When in the superusual world he became exquisite, pure, the companion of animals and perhaps angels. At least all those qualities which we refer to as the better angels of the nature came into power. His sense of awareness was complete. No loveliness, no matter how minute, could escape his detection. He perceived the essence of created things and drew from all he approached a nobility which answered to his own. He was a St. Francis whom children, animals, and the unhappy followed. Then, suddenly, he returned to his lower plane of living and was a simple man without a man's full eagerness to live.

Mr. Marriott holds back the secret of Belsire's double life rather fatiguingly. The reader early becomes aware that "Davenport" and Belsire are one and the same person, but the unfolding is tediously withheld. However, Mr. Marriott's adroit and witty character drawing and his inimitable nuances pass the time pleasantly for the reader. (John Lane company.)

BERTRAND W. SINCLAIR

"Oh, the Saginaw Kid was a cook in a camp, way up on the Dean-to-o-o. And the cook in a camp in them old days had a damn hard row to hoe-t-oh! Had a damn hard row to hoe."

Stella Benton, a college graduate reared in luxury, became the cook in her brother's lumber camp in the Roaring Lake Region through the self-centered ambition of Benton that took no count of others. Here is a dramatic story that has lost nothing from Mr. Sinclair's handling. Stella, Fyfe, Benton, and the "other man" are human, live figures who are influenced—even made or broken—by the big timber around which they build their hopes.

ST. PAUL GIRL REACHES FINAL AT ONWENTSIA

BY KEENE GARDINER.

Miss Margaret Davis of St. Paul, who won the Northwestern tennis championship at Minneapolis last week, earned the right to meet Miss Carrie B. Neely of Chicago for the western title by beating Miss Mary K. Voorhees of Evanston in the final round of the annual western meet at Lake Forest yesterday. Miss Davis had a hard fight to win after the Evanston player captured the first frame. Scores were 5–7, 7–5, 6–2.

The hardest match of the tournament was played in the semi-finals of men's doubles, Jerry and Jimmy Weber, brothers, of Chicago triumphing over Al Green Jr. and M. G. Ketchum, another local pair, 6–4, 4–6, 6–3, 3–6, 13–11. Few contests as evenly fought as the last set of this match were ever played on local courts. Each pair won its service until the twenty-fourth game, when the Weber boys, with the advantage in games, broke through Al Green's serve for the victory.

All Exhausted at Finish.

The brothers had finished a left over doubles match, and played another hard contest in doubles before taking the court against Green and Ketchum. The latter also had played an earlier five set match, and all four players were nearly exhausted at the end of their combat.

Clifford Lockhorn of Kansas City beat Jimmy Weber in the fifth round of men's singles, Heath Byford downed Preston Boyden of Winnetka, a Harvard athlete, and Ralph Burdick won an easy victory over Harry Waidner of Chicago, western champion several times. Byford and Burdick will clash this afternoon in semi-finals and Lockhorn will play the winner of a morning match between Jerry Weber and William Mitchell Blair.

Doubles Final Today.

Hayes and Burdick, present western champions, will fight it out against the Webers to retain the doubles title, and to revenge themselves for an upset in this year's Chicago Beach Invitation meet, at 2 o'clock, and the semi-finals in women's doubles will be decided later.

CHURCH BEATS MURRAY IN SEABRIGHT NET FINAL.

Seabright, N. J., Aug. 11.—George M. Church of Tenafly, N. J., western and northwestern champion, won the tennis singles finals today on the turf of the Seabright Lawn Tennis and Cricket club. He defeated R. Lindley Murray of California, national indoor champion, 6–4, 6–3, 6–4. Church stands as challenger of R. Norris Williams II. for the Achilles cup and will meet him tomorrow. Church repeatedly tricked Murray out of position to shoot the ball through for passes. At the net Church was so superior that Murray appeared slow.

In the semi-final round of the doubles Karl H. Behr and Frederick B. Alexander defeated Roland Roberts and Harold A. Throckmorton, 6–2, 6–4. The Davis cup veterans outplayed their young rivals at every department of the game.

ISN'T IT A GRAND AND GLORIOUS FEELING

BY J. G. DAVIS.

Murray Deming, titleholder in 1913, and Gunner Nelson, a former Bowen High school player are the finalists in the city golf championship and will meet today in the thirty-six hole final at Jackson park. Both are members of the Marquette Park Golf club. Deming gained his place by upsetting William Rautenbush of Garfield park, 3 and 6, while Nelson defeated R. Patterson of Marquette, 2 and 1.

The Deming-Rautenbush duel was looked upon as the crucial battle of the tournament, but expectations of a close match went awry when the south side player uncorked a brilliant sixty-nine in the morning round and took a lead of seven up. This score equaled the competitive record for the course made by "Chick" Evans a few years ago, when the course was not so "heavily" trapped. Deming had a chance for a sixty-eight, but his pitch was just short of the green and he overran his approach putt six feet and missed his try for a record by about three inches.

Burgess vs. McLaughlin.

In the semi-finals for the Fair cup, F. D. Burgess of Wheaton defeated W. T. Nelson, Chicago, 8 and 7, and will meet J. A. McLaughlin of Olympia fields, who gained the verdict over Dr. Clyde Cadwell of Flossmoor, 5 and 4.

Casual water from the overnight rain dotted some of the fairway when the players started in the morning, but by afternoon a fairly good breeze from the lake and a genial summer sun had put the course in fine condition.

A brace of fours on the first hole gave the Deming-Rautenbush match an auspicious start, but at the second hole Rautenbush was short on his approach and lost, 5–4. This failing repeated at a number of holes, contributed more than any other factor to Bill's downfall, although he was up against a game that would have taxed the best efforts of Evans, Ouimet, Travers, or Bob Gardner.

Makes Nine Holes in 32.

There was no setup to Deming's play, and he reached the ninth hole in 32, three strokes under par, equaling the competitive record for the out round. He was 4 up. They halved the tenth hole in par fours, but at the next hole Rautenbush again spared his approach and another hole went to the wrong side of his ledger.

Every cloud has a silver lining, and it must have looked brighter to Rautenbush when the mechanical Mr. Deming sliced into the bushes from the twelfth tee. Rautenbush scored his first win, 4–5, but once more Deming hit the "par" trail, and getting the long fourteenth one under par, the fifteenth in par, and the seventeenth in par, he put three more holes in his basket. They halved the home hole in fives, both being short on the approach pitches. Although Rautenbush had a good card of 76 he had been able to win only one hole. Cards:

Deming—Out	4	6	4	3	4	3	4	2	4	—33
Rautenbush—
Out	4	5	4	4	4	4	4	3	4	—36
Par—Out	4	5	4	4	4	4	4	3	4	—36

Rautenbush—
In	4	5	4	3	5	5	4	4	5	—40—76
Par—In	4	4	4	3	5	5	4	3	4	—36 71

Match Finishes Early.

Rautenbush had few chances in the afternoon round, and after the first three holes had been halved, Deming increased his lead to 3 up, when he holed an eight foot putt on the fourth green, Rautenbush missing from six feet. Cards:

Deming—Out	5	4	4	3	5	4	4	4	6	—39
Rautenbush—Out	5	4	4	4	5	3	6	3	6	—39
Deming—In	4	5	3
Rautenbush—In	3	6	6

Morning Round Is Even.

Patterson and Nelson were all square at the end of the morning round. Nelson went out in 38 and had a lead of 3 up, but coming home Patterson going one under fours, squared matters.

Patterson—Out	6	5	5	4	6	4	4	3	4	—41
Nelson—Out	...5	4	4	5	4	3	5	3	4	—37
Patterson—In	...4	4	4	4	4	5	4	3	5	—35—76
Nelson—In	5	4	5	5	4	4	4	4	5	—40—75

Each player took three holes of the out round in the afternoon and they were on even terms at the twenty-seventh hole. Nelson took the tenth with a fine three, and won the water hole, 4–3. "To have and to hold" was his motto from this point on, as the next six holes were halved. Summary of other matches:

Championship consolation—R. E. Shealy, Garfield, defeated C. R. Terry, Beverly, 6 and 4; G. Hartman, Marquette, defeated B. Buffham, Garfield, 6 and 5.

Fair consolation—W. H. Lane, Marquette, defeated J. A. Bender, Rock Island, 7 and 6; H. Sassman, Maywood, defeated W. P. Conley, Windsor, 7 and 6.

PUGILISTIC POINTERS.

Charley White with his staff of trainers and board of strategy will board a 6:05 train tonight for the scene of his lightweight championship combat with Freddie Welsh at Colorado Springs on Labor day.

A report telling of a match between Fred Fulton and Gunboat Smith at Minneapolis on Sept. 2, which gained circulation here yesterday, aroused Ad Wolgast, who said he would stop the fight. Not that Ad cares to fight either himself, but he recently bought out half of Mike Collins' interest in Fulton's management at the time of Fulton's renunciation of Mike, and Ad doesn't want any outsiders interfering with his investments.

WOMEN TO SWIM IN TITLE EVENTS AT SOUTH SHORE

BY WALTER H. ECKERSALL.

With the best swimmers from all over the country already on hand, three National A. A. U. championship events will be held today at the South Shore Country club, of which Frank Sullivan, swimming instructor at Princeton university, is in charge.

The events to be decided will be the high diving for men and women and the 440 yard swim for women. In addition the best swimmers in the local high and preparatory schools will compete in the 100 yard open interscholastic swim for the championship of Chicago.

First Events for Women.

This will be the first time in the history of A. A. U. athletics that championships for women have been held in Chicago. In the quarter mile swim Miss Claire Galligan of the National Women's Life Saving league of New York rules a strong favorite, while Miss Jacqueline Thompson, the little mermaid from Evanston, is expected to give the easterner an interesting race. Miss Violet Wilson of the Sinal Life Saving club and Miss Thelma Etta Darby of Indianapolis are others entered.

Miss Evelyn Burnett of St. Louis rules the favorite for the honors in the National A. A. U. high diving event for women. The diver from the Mound City will receive keen competition from Miss Amber Meath of Sinal Life Saving club and Mrs. Pearl M. Stokes, both of whom are divers of local prominence. Miss A. C. Smith of Winnetka also will take part in the event.

Must Make Ten Dives.

According to A. A. rules the contestants will be compelled to make five compulsory dives and the same number which are voluntary. Points will be scored according to the way the contstants approach the takeoff, their form in the air, and the manner in which they strike the water.

WATER POLO GAMES TODAY.

The final event of the Central A. A. U. outdoor swimming championships will be staged today under the auspices of the Chicago Yacht club in the basin at the foot of Monroe street. The first and second teams of the Illinois A. C. will struggle for the water polo supremacy and the loser of the championship game will meet the aggregation from the Hamilton club for third place. The title game will start at 2:30 o'clock and the other struggle will start fifteen minutes after the main clash.

LANGER IN ST. LOUIS SWIM.

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 11.—With Ludy Langer of Los Angeles, national champion middle distance swimmer, already on hand and the best paddlers from other sections of the country expected, the National A. A. U. 880 yard swim will be held here tomorrow.

SUES JIMMY DUNN FOR $1,000

Cleveland, O., Aug. 11.—[Special.]—Jimmy Dunn, manager of Johnny Kilbane, featherweight pugilistic champion, was sued for $1,000 in Municipal court late today by David McCallen, driver for the City Ice Delivery company. According to D. G. Schooley, attorney for McCallen, Dunn struck McCallen in the face, cutting his lip from mouth to nose and knocking several teeth loose on Aug. 9, when McCallen's team backed into Dunn's automobile. One of the headlights and a fender were crushed by the impact of the wagon.

COVELESKIE OF TIGERS BLANKS WHITE SOX, 2-0

Triple by Ty Cobb Starts Detroit to Victory Over the Rowlands.

WOLFGANG IS BEATEN.

BY JAMES CRUSINBERRY.

Although the White Sox recovered their lost poise, they dropped another game of ball yesterday, this time to the Detroit Tigers, and now the south siders are still farther from first place. Inability to hit the southpaw curves of the stalwart Harry Coveleskie was the one and only reason why the Sox were licked. They played bang-up ball all the way, but were beaten, 2 to 0, in one of the fastest games of the year.

Little Mel Wolfgang, who was chosen to oppose the big Detroit left hander, wasn't quite strong enough to stave off defeat. In one instance Ty Cobb delivered a three base hit to the left wall, which sent in one run and that one was all Coveleskie needed in nine innings. Another was pushed over in the next inning. Besides that, Detroit had two men killed at the home plate so on the whole they had the fight in their favor nearly all the way. A pinch hitter was trotted out for Wolfgang in the eighth and Jim Scott tossed the last round.

Sox Have Few Chances.

There were no great heart aches in losing to the Tigers, because the Sox never had a chance to win the game. Twice during the fight they had a runner as far as third base, but in each instance there were two men out and nothing followed. Three other times a man reached first base, always after two were out, so Coveleskie didn't have much to worry over from 3 o'clock until 4:23, for it required only an hour and twenty-three minutes to complete the nine innings.

If Rowland's men had been able to suppress the Tigers for nine innings there is no telling what might have happened after that. It would have required the keenest possible kind of defensive work to have set the visitors down throughout the regulation time, but still it might have been done. It did appear as if the Sox were a bit careless in both instances when the Tigers scored.

Tigers Start in Sixth.

For five innings neither side was able to do any business, even though Sam Crawford started the second with a triple. In the sixth, the crisis came and the Sox weren't equal to it. Oscar Vitt led off with a regular two bagger to left field and moved to third when Bush died on a bounder to Ness. This brought Cobb up and he fouled off the first pitched ball for a strike, then took the next one for a second strike. With the call two and nothing, Wolfgang put the next ball over. It might have been a spitter that didn't break as it was supposed to or it might have been that Mel meant to keep it wide and lost control. Anyway it came right over and Cobb slashed it in a line over Weaver's head and to the fence in left center for three sacks, sending Vitt home on the trot.

Possibly a bit more care in that instance would have prevented a run and possibly it would not. Veach followed with a roller to Ness and Cobb was headed off at home and run down, then Crawford ended it with a bounce to Eddie Collins.

Detroit Gets Second Tally.

In the next inning, Heilman opened with a smart liner over second for a single and Young beat out a perfect bunt down the third base line. McKee, instead of bunting, as expected, tried to rake a base hit through the infield and drove right at Eddie Collin's feet. It should have been a double play, but Eddie fumbled long enough to spoil it, though he did get the man at first base, the others moving up. Coveleskie followed with a roller a bit to the left of Weaver, who scooped the ball nicely only to make a wide throw to the plate and let Heilman slide safely in. Wolfgang got the side out with no further damage being done, but plenty had been done already.

Perhaps the Sox would have done some damage themselves if it hadn't been for the de luxe infielding of Vitt and Bush. The former had six fielding chances and the latter eight, and about four or five of that total, were meant for legitimate base hits. There also is a possibility that the Sox might have upset the defense of the Tigers had they varied their plan of attack a bit. Most of them were taking a healthy swing at the first pitched ball with the entire Detroit defense placed for just such a thing. An unexpected bunt or two and a bit of careful waiting might have changed things.

Notes

Detroit again today and tomorrow.

Chicago made six hits to seven for Detroit, but there was quite a difference in the power and timeliness of the blows.

Fritz von Kolnitz played the rôle of pinch hitter for Wolfgang in the eighth, but his best was a smash into Coveleskie's hands.

It was "ladies' day" at the park, so all told there were about 8,000 persons present. Something more than half that number must have bought tickets.

It may be that Reb Russell or Claude Williams will pitch today, but neither has had sufficient rest since the mauling handed them by the Red Sox.

George Dauss is slated to hurl for the Tigers. Sometimes he is as effective as Coveleskie, although the Sox have hit him unusually hard this year.

John Collins dropped a fly ball in right field in the fourth, but didn't get an error on it because he recovered and shot to Weaver at second in time to force Veach, who had been on first base and was trotting back to that station when he saw Shano camped under the ball.

The White Sox appeared in their gray traveling uniforms, but they weren't carrying out any superstitious idea. With the intention of appearing before the women guests in clean suits the white unies were sent to the laundry after the last Boston game. They didn't get back in time for the show yesterday. Anyway, the traveling suits were clean.

The fans felt hopeful even at the start of the ninth inning, for Eddie Collins, Jackson, Ness, and Felsch were coming up in the order named and no one could pick a more probable wrecking crew. Collins fanned, Jackson tapped to the pitcher, and, although Ness made good with a single to left, he was forced at second when Felsch bounced down to Vitt.

ST. LOUIS TAKES TWO; TIES FOR 4TH PLACE

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 11.—St. Louis defeated Cleveland twice, 5 to 4 and 3 to 1, and moved into a tie with Detroit for fourth place, four and a half games behind the leaders.

The Browns played an uphill game in the first contest. Until the sixth, Bagby had allowed only one hit and his teammates had given him a four run lead, routing Davenport, who started for the locals. He weakened in the sixth, however, and three runs were scored. The Browns counted two more in the seventh.

In the second inning Gandil sprained his right knee sliding into the plate for Cleveland's only run, and was carried off the field.

Bunched hits off Klepfer and Beebe won for the locals in the second game, which was called after eight innings on account of darkness. Scores:

Brooklyn Takes Two Games from Tinkers, 2 to 1 and 4 to 1

BY I. E. SANBORN.

Brooklyn, N. Y., Aug. 11.—[Special.]—The Tinx wound up their disastrous invasion of the east today and took a double licking from the Robins because they could not make runs enough. The scores were 2 to 1, and 4 to 1.

In place of an attack that amounted to anything, the visitors managed to make a good fight for both games with a defense that was excellent except when it made costly errors. The Cubs had the first game tied up to the eighth inning, in spite of the fact they were outbatted by the Robins. Then a conjunction of two long hits gave Brooklyn the winning tally.

The second game also looked as if the Tinx might win it with one lone run until the seventh round when a boot by Zimmerman gave the Robins an opening through which they lambasted three runs and drove Hippo Vaughn off the slab.

Dell Beats Hendrix.

The Cubs faced Wheezer Dell in the opening half and would not have scored off him at all with their six hits if he had not cut loose a pitch so wild that a runner scored from second on it. Claude Hendrix was opposed to Dell, and although hit much harder than his opponent, Claude worked so brilliantly in the rough spots that he would have had an even break but for his own wild throw to catch a runner off second base.

Hippo Vaughn came back against the Robins in the second half and in spite of the fact he was facing an array of right handed batsmen, with the single exception of Wheat, he held the enemy to two hits in six innings and did not give them a look in. The seventh was fatal, for it brought a cluster of four safe swats and a fumble by Zimmerman which netted the Robins three runs and they did not need Hy Myers' home run inside the lot in the eighth to make it a double victory.

Seaton and Packard Finish.

Seaton was called to Vaughn's rescue to retire the side in the furious seventh, and after being successful was taken out to let a pinch hitter single for him. Packard was the victim of the home run drive in the eighth.

The Cubs were the first to count in the curtain raiser. Kelly opened the third with a walk and was sacrificed to second by Wortman. Hendrix struck out, but Dell hit the stand with a wild pitch which let Kelly score, then struck out Zeider. The Tinx got two more men to second base and one of them reached third during that game.

The Robins tied that gift run right up in their half of the third. Wheat doubled with one out, went to third on a wild throw by Hendrix to catch him napping, and scored on a fly by Cutshaw. Stengel then singled, stole second and tried to score when Mowrey bounced a single off Zim's shoulder, but Wortman recovered the ball in time to nail him at the plate.

Brooklyn Wins in Eighth.

In spite of the tough breaks Hendrix held the Robins to a tie until the eighth. He was in sore trouble in the sixth, when two singles were made off him before anybody was out, but he stopped them short of the plate. In the eighth Stengel poled out his fourth straight swat. It went along the left foul line and got past Mollwitz, who was subbing in the outfield, giving the batsman three bases. Mowrey was disposed of by Zim without letting in the run, but Olson pulled a double past Zim for the winning tally.

Manager Tinker switched his defense for the second game by sending Zeider into the outfield and putting Knabe at second. It improved the defense all right, for Knabe cut off several hits, but the defense was weaker than ever, for Otto struck out three out of four times up.

Still the Cubs gave the leaders an argument for a while. Only two men reached first off Vaughn in six innings, and in that time the Cubs managed to score one run out of several good openings. It came in the fifth when Saier singled with one down and went the rest of the way home on Zim's three bagger.

Break Comes in Seventh.

That run looked large until the seventh. Cutshaw opened that with a clean single. Myers sacrificed him to second. Mowrey bumped a grounder to Zim, who booted it and let Cutshaw reach third. Then came the avalanche. Olson, Myers and Marquard lined out singles, scoring three Robin runs. Seaton took the game there and retired the next two, but the stable door was locked too late.

Although the Cubs made two hits off Marquard in their eighth they could not register, and Myers' home run in the eighth put the game out of all reach.

Notes

Brooklyn, N. Y., Aug. 11.—[Special.]—At Pittsburgh tomorrow.

The Cubs left tonight westward bound and glad of it.

This eastern invasion has resulted in twelve defeats, one victory, and one tie for the Tinx.

Threatening rain kept the attendance down to 5,000 or 6,000, but only a faint drizzle fell near the end of the second game.

Max Flack was able to be about in street clothes and left with the Cubs for Pittsburgh tonight. He may get back into the game in Cincinnati.

President Weeghman of the Cubs decided at the last moment to stay over and see the double header, and then he was sorry.

The umpires enforced the new rule against talking to opponents from the bench, and they had to call down the Cubs twice, while the Robins obeyed the gag rule all day.

The Cubs might have had at least another run in the second game but for taking chances that were doubtful. Kelly opened the sixth with a double, and on the fourth bad ball pitched to Wortman tried to steal third. He was out by a wide margin. Then a wild throw by Marquard let Wortman to third base, where he was stranded.

The Pirates hit Barnes freely, but were able to score only once until the ninth, when, with Tyler pitching, Fischer, who had reached first on an error advanced to third on a fielder's choice and an out, and scored on Rico's passed ball.

Tyler pitched again in the second game and was in control all the way. Score:

In the first game Sallee, the former St. Louis hurler, pitched his first game against his former teammates, relieving Anderson in the second inning with the score a tie. He permitted only four hits in seven and two-thirds innings. In the second game Tesreau held the visitors to two hits in a seven inning game. It was called to allow St. Louis to catch a train in time to play tomorrow a game at Cincinnati. Manager McGraw was ordered off the field in the first game by Umpire Quigley. Scores:

In the Wake of the News

By RING W. LARDNER

The Loop, Aug. 11.

Friend Harvey.—Well listen Harvey you may be more dissapointed than me but I do not beleive it on acct. of it being impossible. Because where you might of picked out this time for your vacation I went and got myself a whole new outfit of clothes and woke up this morning and called up the paper and they says there was not going to be no trip on acct. of Bill Lydon breaking his leg so here I am with clothes that you could not never wear only on a yacht trip but now there is not going to be no yacht trip and I got to take all these clothes down in Ind. with me where there won't nobody appreciate if I got yacht clothes on or what I got on. And besides that I been planning to write up some good storys about the trip but Bill Lydon has to go and break his leg answering telephones from John De Long and beats us out of a trip and we got nothing left to do only go down in Indiana and play the Goshen golf course and that is impossible.

But everything would of been O. K. only Guy Lee called up and wanted my expert opinion on whether he would buy a Maxwell or Ford and of course I had to steer him right and I cannot tell you which way I steered him because it would be advertiseing but I told him to get the car that makes the more noise and says to him I hope you have a good time and good bye goodnight god bless you is all that I can say.

And here they kept me up here all this week waiting for the trip, and now there is not going to be any trip and I might of been down there in Ind. all the time getting more red on my features and haveing a decent respectable time so I am pretty sore at Mr. Lydon but I am sorer at John De Long for keeping him rushing to the telephone so he broke his leg.

And the only ray of light in the proceeding is that Chris Sinsabaugh came out here from N. Y. city to go on the trip and there is not going to be any trip so Chris can sit around here a wk. and die of ennui and I hope he does because I all ready died of the same disease and I want company.

A fine bunch.

And they made me stay here all wk. And go out to a ball game that the White Sox was supposed to play vs. Bos-

Fine bunch.

Great bunch.

Five days out of my life.

CHICAGO TYPOS WIN TWO GAMES AND LAND FLAG

Eliminate New York, 5 to 4, Then Beat Cleveland in Final, 7 to 5.

BY JOSEPH C. LARSON.

[Secretary Chicago Typo Athletic Association.]

Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 11.—[Special.]—Chicago won its second championship in the Union Printers' Natonal Baseball league by defeating Cleveland in the final game, 7 to 5. In order to be in on the final it was necessary for Chicago to defeat New York, which it did in the morning game by a score of 5 to 4.

The superior pitching of F. De Caluwe was responsible for the victory in the New York game. New York started off strong, making three runs in the third inning, but Chicago scored two in the fourth and two in the fifth and made the run that won the game in the sixth. New York came back with one run in the eighth and was blanked in the ninth. Coverick got two singles, a double, and a triple in five times up.

Slugging in Second Battle.

The Chicago-Cleveland game was a big improvement over the first game, both teams hitting the ball hard. Cleveland started out like a whirlwind, but once Chicago got the lead it never let up. Koeller pitched a good game and also secured three hits. Cleary for Cleveland also pitched a good game.

The game was close enough to keep the rooters on edge until the last man was out. The majority of the fans favored Cleveland, as they have never won the championship. Chicago used two pitchers and had to play four games to win the bacon, defeating Boston, Pittsburgh, New York, and Cleveland.

Chicago Wins Two Trophies.

In winning the championship Chicago brings back two trophies, the Garry Herrmann cup, which is played for each year, and a permanent cup donated by the Lanston Monotype company. At a final gathering tonight these cups were presented to the Chicago commissioner, Joseph P. Oschger. Scores:

TOOLS VS. ELECTRICS TODAY

Illinois Tools and Western Electrics will battle for the Commercial league ball championship today. If the former wins, the race will be settled. If the Electrics come through they must play Butler Brothers next week, and if the latter is then victorious, the three teams will be tied. The Tool players claimed the title at the official close of the schedule last week, but two weeks ago managers of the three leaders decided to play off several ties which had a direct bearing on first place. Not counting on the games to be replayed, the Tool nine early in the week refused to meet the Electrics in today's scheduled combat. Later, at a conference of the league officials it was decided the match should be played. If not, the Tools will forfeit the game and lose a chance at the championship.

Roseland at Hammond Today.

Fur Trimmed Costume of Silk Jersey.

BY JEAN SEIVWRIGHT.

ALL through the season fur wraps have been prominent and even in the warmest days of midsummer the fashionable Parisienne has appeared enveloped from neck to hips in deep shoulder capes of fur, hence the early appearance of the fur trimmed frock does not call forth any exclamation of surprise.

The model illustrated seems to have been designed for one of those lovely September or early October days when the leaves have turned to gold and give a golden carpet to the woods without denuding their branches.

This costume is developed in a brilliant gold silk jersey, whose softness of fabric adds much to its beauty. The generous bands of skunk give character to both texture and color by contrast. The blouse is quite simple, closing diagonally under the skunk from shoulder to waist. The skirt of the costume is especially interesting in its combination of wide box plaits and smocking and the band of fur at the hem swings the skirt rhythmically from the figure in walking. Cords of silk jersey are twisted about the waist several times and then tied at the left side. The big tam of black velvet that accompanies the frock is distinguished by its interesting silhouette.

For an older woman a sports suit in smoke colored silk jersey has a band of matching fur near the edge of a rather long jacket. This fabric both in silk and in wool promises to be in vogue all the year, although the wool will naturally have precedence with the arrival of cold weather.

Some of the silk jersey suit jackets are slipped on over the head, as they are opened only to the waist. These are generally fur trimmed, those for immediate wear being devoid of fur collars, but having fur bands at the lower edge of the coat.

MARION HARLAND'S HELPING HAND

Job's Tears to Donate.

"I HAVE some of the Job's tears, and will gladly give them away if the one asking for the will send postage. Several years ago I bought a nice sized package for about 20 cents. I have raised many quarts from the seeds, and still have some left. They make beautiful purses, draperies, and baskets. I am a lover of magazines, and to those who have any old ones, especially farm papers, I will gladly pay postage on them.

"MRS. J. A. D."

Many months have slipped away since we have heard of and talked together of the quaint and pretty coix lachryma, as botanists name them. We prefer to call the glossy gray ovates "Job's tears." The legend that christened them tells us that the patriarch's tears rolling in the ashes strewed upon his beard were changed into beads, which fell into the dust and sprang into life as the vine bearing the seeds. Please observe and reply to the passing expression of a wish for old magazines and secure our vivacious member's address from us.

Sends Copy of Poem.

"As I have the poem 'Evolution of God' which I think your correspondent M. A. V. means, I am sending it to you for publication, if possible. It is by William Hubert Carruth. A. Z. B."

Thank you for the copy. Lack of space prevents publication.

Lessons in Music.

"I have been a successful teacher of the pianoforte for several years. My hobby is the discovery of young children from 6 to 12 years of age with marked musical talent. If, through the publication of my letter in your Corner, you can locate for me pupils who are anxious to study, I will gladly instruct two or three free of any expense to them. I should wish the privilege of discontinuing lessons or, at the outset, refusing them if the prospective pupil's ability should not warrant the outlay of time and labor.

"MARGARET V. L."

The author of this noble charity would adorn any profession or guild. We are devoutly thankful to number her as a colleague. In anticipation of the number of replies likely to be called out by her proposition, may I remind applicants that requests for her name and address must be accompanied by stamped and self-addressed envelopes? We feel that the Corner has the right to ask for some mitigation of clerical labors consequent upon the rush of communications requiring answers by mail.

Vinegar from Honey.

"Some one asks how to make vinegar from honey. Vinegar made from honey has an exceptionally fine flavor and is not expensive. A little honey makes a large quantity of vinegar. Follow these directions: Dissolve thoroughly in two gallons of warm soft water one quart jar of extracted honey. Give it air and keep it in a warm place where it will ferment and make excellent vinegar. B."

The estate has been rather a mystery to the north shore. It has been a-building for many months. The guests who are invited to the reception include the members of the Ravinia club, the group of amateur actors who has been this year and in years past associated with the Aldis playhouse and north shore elect generally.

Miss Ethel Harriman, daughter of Mrs. J. Borden Harriman, who made many friends during the six weeks which she and her mother spent last summer in Lake Forest, will be represented formally tonight when her aunt, Mrs. Herbert M. Harriman, will give a large dinner dance for her at the Clambake club at Newport, R. I.

Mr. and Mrs. Leeds Mitchell of Lake Forest are spending the week end at Mackinac Island.

Mr. and Mrs. Ezra Warner of Lake Forest will have a dinner for twelve this evening. Hobart Chatfield-Taylor will give a dinner at Onwentsia club for his daughter, Mrs. Hendricks Whitman of Brookline and Beverly Farms, Mass., who came west for the tennis tournament.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Wells of 5428 Kimbark avenue have returned from six weeks at their summer cottage at Idlewild, Wis.

Chicago society people are prominent in work for the Red Cross at the large resorts and at Bretton Woods and the Profile house in Franconia Notch. The work is most businesslike, with meetings on Monday and Thursday mornings and a hundred volunteer workers at each resort, who turn out large quantities of bandages. Mrs. W. W. Gurley, Mrs. E. L. Pike, Mrs. Charles Henderson, Mrs. L. L. Coburn, and many others are interested.

Richard T. Crane and a party of friends, motoring through the hills, visited the Waumbek at Jefferson this week.

H. N. Higinbotham and Cornelius Crane are at The Waumbek at Jefferson for August. Miss Helen G. O'Der of Boston and Miss Florence Crane of Chicago are also of the party.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Gerhardt and Paul Gerhardt Jr. of 457 Fullerton parkway have left Bretton Woods, N. H., and will spend the rest of this month at Atlantic City.

THE TRIBUNE COOK BOOK

By JANE EDDINGTON

All recipes have been scientifically tested by Miss Eddington with current market materials and are indorsed by her.

A man does not have to be a Beau Brummel because he wears an open breasted coat, nor a useless member of society because he appreciates dainty dishes.

The Cosmopolitan Pear.

AMONG the most highly trained cooks, and the most experienced eaters, the pear is considered about the most select of fruit. It does not grow musty like the peach, and has no stone like this latter fruit to embitter it. Cooked in sirups and wine it has adorned some of the final courses of the most notable repasts that were ever set up.

When a number of fruits are combined, tutti frutti wise, with lemon juice to enhance the flavor of all, it is the pear flavor which will be most likely to stand out in the end above peach, apple, etc. It retains its flavor even when to a considerable extent this is altered by additions of delicate sorts, wherefore a great variety of dainty compotes may be made from this base.

Orange peel with baked pears gives them a flavor of an unusual sort. Wines of several sorts are used to flavor compotes of pears. Cloves are added to a sirup in which pears are cooked, and one of the nicest of flavors when they are served with whipped cream is vanilla. A poached pear may be used as only one or half a dozen different ingredients in a fancy "entremet."

Poached Pears.

Stir over the fire one cup of cold water and one cup of sugar until the latter has dissolved, and then cook to the sirup stage. Pare and quarter four pears, or six will not be too many for this sirup, and when the sugar is cooked add them to it and cook for fifteen minutes. Skim them out of the sirup, arrange in crown shape in a compote, add a teaspoon of vanilla to the sirup, and pour over the fruit. Serve with whipped cream or ice cream.

ENTIRE BODY COVERED WITH WATERY PIMPLES

Would Scratch Till Blood Came

Providence, R. I., Oct. 15, 1915.—"Some time ago my skin began to break out in little pimples. These filled with water, and when they opened the watery fluid ran out and spread the trouble until my entire body from my face to my feet was covered. The itching was something terrible, and I would scratch until the blood came, and my skin would feel as if it were burning. I tried a prescription and several kinds of salve, but none helped me. After I had suffered this way for about 14 or 15 months I tried Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap, and the first application relieved me so that I slept that night. In six weeks I was cured." (Signed) Raymond E. Madicy, 690 Union Ave.

Doctors have prescribed the Resinol treatment for over twenty years. Sold by all druggists. Samples free—write to Dept. 2-S, Resinol, Baltimore, Md.—Advertisement.

The Amateur Gardener

by Eben E. Rexford

August in the Garden.

THERE will be plenty of work in the garden this month for the gardener who takes the interest in it that he ought to. The fact is there is always something that can be done there to advantage. You may start out without anything definite in mind, but the moment you set foot inside its limits you will see something that needs doing, and as long as you stay there you will find enough to keep you busy. And it is the doing of these little things that constitutes good gardening.

See that the grass does not get a foothold about the shrubs, as it will be sure to if you let it have its own way. There should always be a space of a foot about each one that is kept free from any weed or other growth that threatens to take possession of the soil. Grass will soon choke out any plant if allowed to spread its roots there.

If the pansies have ceased to bloom well, as they almost always will during the hot, dry weather of the month, cut away the old branches, leaving only the crown of the plant. Dig in a little fertilizer about their roots.

In a short time new branches will be put forth from which, later in the season, fine flowers will be produced freely. Plants that have renewed themselves by this treatment should give a good crop of flowers until the coming of cold weather.

Keep a watchful eye on the aster bed. "In an hour when ye know not" the black beetle is likely to put in an appearance, and if not promptly fought he will speedily put an end to the prospect of flowers from the entire collection, for a more voracious pest never attacked any plant.

As soon as the first beetle is seen apply whatever nicotine preparation you have provided for just such an emergency as this, if you have followed the advice heretofore given in this department and provided in advance the means by which this enemy of the aster can be routed.

Delays are dangerous, and here is where the truth of the saying is fully exemplified. I have seen a whole bed of asters stripped of its foliage in twenty-four hours by these beetles.

While you are looking out for the welfare of your asters keep your chrysanthemums in mind, and make sure that the raid you make on the beetles does not drive them to these plants. They are equally at home on both aster and chrysanthemum.

N. E. S.: See formula in this paper for scattering ants.

MRS. W. A.: I cannot give the names of plant foods in this department, as that would be advertising the dealers. Get the catalogues of some of the large plant dealers and consult the pages in which plant foods and all kinds of gardening goods are advertised.

Ellen was walking along the street one day with her mother. Across from them on a corner an auction sale was being held.

"Mamma, what are they doing over there?" Ellen asked.

"Selling a farm, dear," was the answer.

"Where is the farm? I don't see it," said the little one.

The mother explained that it was out in the country.

"Well, haven't they even a sample over there?" asked the child. Miss L. C.

A new baby boy had just arrived at the home of little Melvin. When asked how he liked his little brother he replied, "All right, but he is awfully sunburnt." O. O.

Jane received a pretty new coat one day from her father. "Thank you," said Jane. "But I felt it in my bones that I should get it."

"Which bone?" asked her father.

"My wish bone, I guess," she answered. M. M.

As I was going out one evening my small niece came up to me and asked what was the matter with my hat. Looking in the mirror, I noticed that I had it dipped quite a bit over one ear, and I said to her, "Why, what is the matter with it, Grace?" Looking up at me again, she said, "Well, on one side it is and on the other side it ain't." R. F.

Doris Blake Says

"One sure way to get in wrong forever is to remind an old girl of years of how often she used to kiss you."

"Have you a perplexing love affair in which you need the counsel of a friend? Write to Doris Blake, care of "The Tribune." If you wish a personal reply send stamped and addressed envelope.

Do you know a real love story—one that is stranger than fiction? "The Tribune" will pay $5 for every story published. Manuscripts will not be returned. Address Doris Blake, "The Tribune," Chicago.

Real Love Stories

Next—The Balcony Scene.

DOWN in the southern part of the state, out of the way of the regular traveling shows, is a small town of two thousand inhabitants. One day a former actress, too old to appear longer before the footlights, drifted into the town with a proposition to stage "Romeo and Juliet" and divide half the profits with the churches. She was to furnish the costumes and be stage manager.

The young people were overjoyed—anything to relieve the monotony. The girl who played Juliet was a stranger to the chap who assayed Romeo. By way of complications Juliet had a "steady," a farmer who lived several miles out of town. In spite of this Romeo at the close of one rehearsal asked to see Juliet home. Juliet accepted. Then he asked often. One Sunday he took her for a spin in his car. Just as they were starting Juliet's "steady" drove up, but Romeo stepped on the accelerator and got away. Both pretended they hadn't seen the "steady."

So far nothing particularly like wedding bells had sounded.

But after the show was over some of the boys began chaffing Romeo about how one felt when he proposed.

"I can't hand you much if you don't do it better than Shakespeare does when the time comes," said one. Romeo took it in good humor and then he said, "If I ever propose to Agnes again it will be in earnest."

Well—they have their little scenes now, and they're not all balcony ones either, as any married man will tell you. N. F.

Married, Loves Another.

"Dear Miss Blake: I wonder if you will give me your advice on a subject which has been troubling me for some time.

"A year ago I was married to a young man whom I thought I loved. I now find that I do not love him, and I am in love with another young man I met a short time ago. I have every reason to believe that my husband still loves me.

"This young man also loves me and he has proposed. What do you think I had better do? R. A."

I know what I would do to you if I were your mother, even though you are supposed to have long ago passed the spanking age. The idea of a grown-up woman having such ideas as yours! You talk as if you had no conception whatever of morals and conventions. Just a year ago you promised to love, honor, and obey, and already you have completely forgotten those vows. What shall you do? Put this cowardly usurper out of your life forever, go back to your husband, and be the faithful mate you promised to be such a short time ago. Nothing but unhappiness can ever come from this so called friendship.

No. 1 and No. 2.

"Dear Miss Blake: I have been going with a young man quite frequently for the past six months. Recently he was informed that I was about to accept an invitation to go out some evening with another gentleman.

"Gentleman No. 2 has asked me to go out with him quite a number of times, but I have never accepted. I am in doubt whether to accept this invitation or not, because Gentleman No. 1 told a friend of his that if I ever went out with any other fellow it would be all off between him and me.

"As I do not care to break up my friendship with him, but think it all right to go out with others, what would you advise?

I think I'd try accepting an invitation from Gentleman No. 2, just to see what effect it might have on No. 1, for you may be sure that if he is really interested in you he isn't going to give you up on this account. When tales pass through several tellings, they are apt to grow in size, so I shouldn't put too much dependence upon what you heard in such a roundabout way. Until he has asked you to marry him he has no right to monopolize your company, and not even then, in my opinion, should you give up all your friends.

A Demon Spender, He.

"Dear Miss Blake: I went with a girl for a half year. She got bicycle rides from me, and I went to the ice cream parlors and the show many times with her. After a time another boy moved in the flat above her; then she went with him for a long time. I heard that she went with him because he had more money to spend. I would like to have you give me a little advice, for I still like her, as she is a nice girl. J. A."

I think you have made a mistake in allowing the other fellow to step in and "cut you out." Why should you have withdrawn when he appeared on the scene? I see no reason why she couldn't have kept you both as friends. Just start right in being nice to her as if nothing had happened, and I believe you will come out ahead.

They're Both Crazy.

"Dear Miss Blake: My girl friend and I are both crazy about the same fellow. We are 16 years old and he is 15. Two other girls of his age went out with him, and he seems to like them better than he does us. Would you advise us to have nothing further to do with him? A."

Why don't you pick on some one your own age? The idea of two 16 year old girls worrying their heads about the same boy, when he probably hasn't given either of you a passing thought! Of course I advise having nothing further to do with him. Such will be the case, anyway, I think. Speak to him, don't go out of your way to avoid seeing him, but let this foolish little slight pass out of your minds forever. Be friends together, you and he and the other two girls!

FLICKERINGS from FILM LAND

"Pete Props" in a Confidential Mood.

BY KITTY KELLY.

CONCERNING Lasky's affairs Kenneth McGaffney ("Pete Props" parenit) confides these interesting items:

"We are having wild, exciting times—the little old studio is going full blast within the fence and slopping over into neighboring vacant lots and the ranch and other places.

"We are working five companies now, and the other day we had five different localities represented on the stage at once. We had Lou Tellegen doing 'The Victory of Conscience' in a café in the French Latin quarter, and had Fannie Ward cheering madly in a New York broker's office for 'Each Pearl a Tear,' which, by the way, has nothing to do with 'The Rosary'; and Blanche Sweet in the interior of an Alabama prison camp for 'Unprotected,' and we had Theodore Roberts as Anton in 'Anton the Terrible,' indulging in his favorite pastime of choking beautiful young women in another corner. Marie Doro was getting ready for another picture back of all this.

Miss Fannie Ward

"Farrar is having the time of her life doing a picture that I can not tell you about now—putting in easily sixteen hours a day. She is the first one at the studio in the morning and the last one to leave at night. If I had her vitality and energy I would be a millionaire.

"Tellegen is now working on a story of India called 'The Victoria Cross.' Cleo Ridgley is his leading woman and Hayakawa is playing the heavy—that of an Indian rajah. There is nothing Hayakawa likes better than playing heavies. He makes a better looking East Indian than he does a Jap, so we now have him with the Jap makeup entirely off. I think the picture will be a success because it has got a lot of harem scenes in it."

Flickerings.

During the month of August Mutual is presenting three stage celebrities in cinemac offerings: Henry E. Dixey in "Father and Son," his first celluloid essay; Frank Mills in "The House of Mirrors," and Nat Goodwin in "A Wall Street Tragedy."

Joseph Urban, the painter of beautiful stage settings, and Mr. Joy, who is the originator of the Urban color processes, have sailed hither from London. Nobody is saying just now what is going to happen, but the idea has been put in circulation that the two are going to figure in motion picture affairs.

In Cleveland the Regent Photoplay company is translating the loved fairy tale "Snow White" into the picture language. A large company of children has been enlisted in the work, which is under the direction of Charles H. Weston, who had a large studio in England before the war.

Rupert Hughes' story "The Old Folks at Home" will be Sir Herbert Tree's first Fine Arts production this season. It is whispered that his lordship felt a reluctance over the rôle that approached refusal, but also it is whispered that there was a monetary soother applied. Anyhow, he is going to play it, with Josephine Crowell appearing opposite and Elmer Clifton and Lucille Younge doing the youthful steps. Lloyd Ingraham will direct it.

Beauty Hints by Antoinette Donnelly

If you missed the Antoinette Donnelly series telling how she reduced Mrs. Lane thirty-six pounds in six weeks send her stamped, addressed envelope and she will mail you complete exercise and diet instructions. Any other questions on obesity will be gladly answered by Miss Donnelly.

FIFTY-FOUR: THE FORMULA FOR white hair which I am printing for you will not harm hair of any shade. In the last rinse water put a few drops of blueing. This will take away the yellowish tinge. Shave a small cake of pure white castile soap into a pint of boiling water and let it stand until thick. Add one ounce of alcohol and a few drops of rose water. The hair must be wet enough so that the jelly will adhere. Then rub it until a thick lather forms. Rinse off in an abundance of warm water, changing the temperature of the water until it is quite cold.

HARRIET: THE PROPER WAY TO use an eye cup is to first fill it with the eye wash, then hold the face down, fit the cup to the eye lightly, throw the head back, and open the eye. That is simple, isn't it, Harriet? Eye cups can be purchased at any department or drug store.

SKINNY: YOU WILL HAVE TO BE persevering if you want to gain flesh. The warm weather has a tendency to pull down weight, but then again there are many persons who thrive mostly in warm weather. There is this much about it: Extreme heat forbids much exercise; in consequence one has to sit or lie quietly, which rests the nerves and the whole body. Miss Barnett did some light household duties, but of course no strenuous work. I shall be glad to send my articles on the work of increasing Helene Barnett's weight twenty pounds in five weeks if you will send me a stamped, addressed envelope. This gives the method in detail.

JACK: TRY TO GET ALONG WITH meat just once a day during the warm weather. Eat more vegetables and fruits and cooling foods, like salads and frozen desserts, and I am sure you will feel a vast difference in your stomach and you will not have so many pimples. I shall be glad to send you my treatment for pimples and blackheads if you will send me a stamped, addressed envelope.

ELSIE: THERE IS BUT LITTLE IF anything you can do to reduce the size of your nose. You might try massaging it from the base downward. Don't let it make you unhappy. A broad nose is an indication of a strong will and character.

You surely can console yourself with that thought. I shall be glad to send you my instructions for manicuring if you will send me a stamped, addressed envelope.

FANNY: THERE IS NO SUFFERing quite so keen as from a tight, uncomfortable shoe. A shoe that is ordinarily comfortable may feel tight in warm weather, as the feet are sensitive to the heat. When walking wear a shoe with a round toe and common sense heel. Dust your feet thoroughly with talcum powder before putting on your stockings and put a goodly supply of powder in your shoes. Change your shoes and stockings just as soon as you come in from your walk. I am sure with a comfortable shoe and a little extra care of your feet you will not have dark rings under your eyes and drawn cheeks after your walk.

Our honest difference of opinion was really all that stood between the Harper Theatre and the Hyde Park Presbyterian Church. We bear no malice and we don't think the Church does. Dr. Allison was sincere in his convictions and did not resent the Harper Theatre any more than he resented a theatre similarly located in a more remote part of the city.
Mr. Hoyt wishes to go on record now and say—that as long as he has the Harper Theatre, nothing will ever be shown on the screen which could not with propriety be shown in a high class Presbyterian Church itself. People of our neighborhood would not attempt performances at the Harper Theatre which catered to the sensual and perhaps just escaped the censors by political influence. Our idea of zero in occupation is putting an unclean show before a high priced audience.

FOUR BIG DEALS MARK BUSY DAY IN REAL ESTATE

There was much doing of an important character in a real estate way yesterday, the various transactions reported including two deals in the downtown district, a large purchase of vacant in the stock yards district, and the announcement of plans for the construction of an ice skating rink on Broadway just south of Thorndale avenue, which with the land will, it is said, represent an investment of around $500,000.

$162,500 Dearborn Street Deal.

The most important of the downtown deals was the purchase by Frederick W. Matthiessen of La Salle, Ill., from the State Bank of Chicago and Henry C. Durand, as trustee, of the estate of Calvin Durand, of the property at 515 South Dearborn street, between Van Buren and Harrison streets, for a reported consideration of $162,500.

The lots front fifty feet, with a depth of sixty-seven feet to Plymouth place, and is improved with a four story and basement brick building. The board of review valued the property at $154,839. Mr. Matthiessen owns the 100 feet adjoining on the south, and it is stated he eventually will improve the entire 150 feet with a sixteen story building. W. A. Merigold & Co. and Willoughby & Co. were the brokers, while Ben F. Brady represented Mr. Matthiessen in a legal way and Mr. Miller of the State bank represented the trustees.

The other transaction was the sale by Edward G. Pauling to Margaret T. McGovern of the property at 10 West Lake street for a reported consideration of $70,000. The purchaser conveyed in part payment the property in South Dearborn street, 410 feet north of Fiftieth street, 265x100 feet, and other property in the same subdivision, valued at $20,000, subject to $6,000, and also gave back a trust deed securing $35,000, three years, at 4½ per cent.

The property, which is 40 feet west of the northwest corner of State and Lake streets, fronts twenty feet, with a depth of eighty feet to an alley, and is improved with a four story building occupied by the Vim Sporting Goods company under a long lease. John B. De Voney & Co. represented Mr. Pauling and Hugo Ash & Co. represented Mrs. McGovern.

Stockyards Vacant Sold.

The deal in the stockyards district was the purchase by James S. Agar, the packer, of two and a half blocks of ground directly south of the large packing house plant of the Agar Provision and Packing company. The consideration is not disclosed, but it is said the property has been held at about $50,000. It is stated that Mr. Agar acquired the property as an investment, contemplating its development for manufacturing and warehouse purposes.

Twelve lots at the southwest corner of Forty-first street and Iowa avenue were acquired from Z. A. Parkhurst, two lots fronting on Root street were bought from Anna L. Schiack and the remaining eight lots in this block were acquired from Francis J. Le Moyne of Baltimore. The thirty-four lots in the Wallace street block north of Root street and the thirty-two lots in the Union avenue block south of Root street were acquired from the trustees of the Jacob Cram estate. A. J. Montague & Son represented all parties, coöperating with W. D. Kerfoot & Co., who represented the Cram interests.

Big Ice Rink Planned.

The Springer-Wood company, to be incorporated as the Winter Garden company, composed mainly of Cincinnati and St. Louis capitalists, Harry C. Wood to be president and M. E. Springer vice president and general manager, has contracted for the purchase of a large plot of ground, west front on Broadway, 100 feet south of Thorndale avenue, from John B. Boyle of the Boyle Ice company. It has a frontage of 366 feet on Broadway with a depth of 230 feet, and the contract price is stated to be $98,000.

Plans have been prepared by the Moore & Dunford company for an ice skating rink having a skating surface of 120x280 feet, the cost of which is placed at about $400,000. By a process invented and patented by D. H. Scott, it is said, it will be possible easily to control the ice under different atmospheric conditions, thus insuring at all times ice of a uniform thickness and character.

It is the purpose also to combine with the skating feature a plant for the manufacture of ice in summer. The company intends to install similar rinks in St. Louis and Cincinnati. Dennis Colbert & Co. were the brokers in connection with securing the contract for the purchase of the land.

Drexel Avenue Flat Sold.

Record was made of the sale by Michael F. Curran to Nellie B. Fuller of the flat property at the northwest corner of Drexel avenue and Sixty-fifth street, lot 98x132 feet, for an indicated consideration of $64,600, subject to an incumbrance of $51,600.

The Chicago Title and Trust company, which recently took title, has transferred the fifteen flat building at the southwest corner of Clarendon avenue and Edgecomb place, lot 73x147 feet, to Frederick G. Ruff for a reported consideration of $46,000, subject to an incumbrance of $25,000. Regelin, Jenson & Co. represented both parties.

The four story warehouse building at 3918-32 Wallace street has been leased by A. J. Montague & Son for Rogers, Tye & Hoover to Crohon & Roden company, limited, of Grand Rapids, Mich., for 10 years at a reported term rent of $65,000.

$60,000 Flat Planned.

H. H. and W. H. Banford have purchased from Bernhard Miller the vacant 107x125 feet at the northeast corner of Hood and Lakewood avenues for a reported $13,000. The purchasers will improve with a high grade eighteen flat building to cost $60,000.

Charles E. Tinnots has sold the block between Racine avenue and Throop street from Seventy-eighth to Seventy-ninth street, reserving seven lots, northwest corner Seventy-ninth and Racine. Title is taken by Charles J. Connor for P. E. O'Neil, trustee, consideration nominal, but said to be $42,500. It will be subdivided at once and placed on the market. Charles J. Connor was the broker.

MARCH OF GOLD IN FIFTH AVENUE, N.Y., A REAL SHOW

SORRY RIVAL IN CHICAGO.

BY HENRY M. HYDE.

The gayest thing in New York is not the theatrical district or the "Great White Way." They are the most dazzling, the most garish, the most seductive quarters of the city for visitors who go out in the evening to seek metropolitan adventure. They hold the charm of mystery which comes after nightfall and the lure of suspected wickedness. And they deserve a chapter to themselves.

But for light and sparkle and color and sophisticated joy of life there is nothing in New York to compare with Fifth avenue on a sunny spring afternoon. The New York sky is very blue, its air clear and fresh, its sunshine more brilliant than any number of electric lamps.

Electricity Draws Trains.

The only railroad trains which enter New York—freight as well as passenger—are drawn by electric locomotives. And New York, lying close to the anthracite coal district, is free from the perpetual cloud of soft coal smoke which hangs like a dirty veil over the face of other cities.

The best way to see Fifth avenue is from the top of a bus. One fears that the journey is the nearest some of the visitors ever will come to riding down a street of gold. Any New York acquaintance will make clear the auriferous nature of the avenue.

The Street of Gold.

Here, he points out, are the most expensive shops in the world. Round the corners on the side streets are the costliest restaurants. Not one of the men in the windows of the fashionable clubs is below the rank of a multimillionaire.

That woman in the purple motor car, with two men on the seat and a gold colored Pomeranian dog beside her, is the third wife of Daniel Dynamite, who has just cleaned up $40,000,000 in war brides. That little building half way up the next block is the most exclusive and expensive club in the world. It has only twenty-four members and the chief qualification for admission to its sacred portals is the ability and willingness to lose $50,000 in a night at roulette.

Display from Argentina.

Down the avenue comes a coach and four, the black and white leaders prancing, the red coated guard blowing his horn. On the box is a tall man, with a dark complexion, dressed in black and white checks. To the provincial eye it appears that the complexion of the lady beside him is a trifle too vivid for profitable inspection in the brilliant sunshine.

"He's an Argentine millionaire," says your New York friend. "Since the war has closed Paris there are a hundred of them in New York. They have taught the most prodigal of our western spenders new ways of letting loose of money. He is driving out to the races at Belmont park."

"And the lady?"

"His wife, perhaps? How can one be certain? The war has made New York the pleasure capital of the world, you know. The town is full of Parisian adventuresses, mysterious Russian countesses, all the gayest of the ladies who used to live in Paris and Monte Carlo."

No Place for the Mournful.

The wide avenue is filled with two opposite ranks of slowly moving motor cars. The wide sidewalks also are twin processions of well dressed people. One looks in vain for a pedestrian who is poorly dressed or who looks sad or unfortunate. Is there a law which keeps the poor and the sorrowful off Fifth avenue during the afternoon parade? Or is it the fear of contrast with the great majority which is effective?

Every woman, on foot or in a motor car, is strikingly dressed. Most of the men, swinging their light canes, wear gardenias in their buttonholes. It is a great show of fashion and wealth. The rich and successful in New York at least do their part in helping to make a fine spectacle for the visitor to look at.

Medley of Costly Homes.

And the buildings along the street. The guides on the rubbernecking wagons may know the names of the owners of the various great houses. The average New Yorker does not claim to. Some of them are stately, splendid palaces. Others are awful exhibitions of what may happen when much money and no taste are joined. The worst of all, of course, is that nightmare in carved stone which a westcoast copper king built to his own glory.

Up near the park tall apartment houses rise. Your guide mentions the name of a famous statesman.

"He pays $30,000 a year for his apartment," is the casual announcement.

"The lowest rent in the building is $22,000. Yes, there are a few buildings where the rentals are a trifle higher."

And Trade Pushes On.

And always the vulgar marts of trade are pushing further and further up the avenue. One owner recently paid $2,000,000 for a piece of property he did not want in order to avoid the disgrace of living next to a dressmaker's shop.

At the far end of Fifth avenue the green lawns and big trees of Central park open and frame new vistas. Scores of men and women in fashionable habits gallop along the bridle paths on shining horses. Even the copper at the entrance seems to carry himself with a dashing air.

A Rival in Chicago, if—

There is only one street in the country which has even the distant promise of rivalry with Fifth avenue. That is Michigan avenue in Chicago. To prevent ribald laughter one hastens to add that the imagination must be put to work. The railroad tracks in Grant park must be covered and the smoke of the puffing locomotives stopped, so that grass and trees will grow and the view of the lake may no longer be shut off.

One must picture the marble palace of the Field museum standing completed at the lake end of the widened Twelfth street, with the new Illinois Central terminal beside it. One must hasten the widening of Michigan avenue from Randolph street to Chicago avenue on the north side.

One must fill in the lake for half a mile from Grant to Jackson park and finish the laying out of lagoons and beaches, with an outer drive at the edge of the water.

All this work is under way. Once it is completed no doubt the rich and good looking people of Chicago will consent to take part in a daily parade. Then one will not need to go away from home to see how gay and ornamental every day life may be made.

INDICTED AS BABY SLAYER.

Mrs. Mabel Stevenson, a widow, was indicted yesterday for the murder of her 1 day old baby in the county hospital July 14. Mrs. Stevenson is accused of having given the baby carbolic acid while nursing it. A bottle containing the poison was found in her possession. The child, according to the evidence presented to the inquisitorial body, was illegitimate.

LA SALLE BANK PAYS DIVIDEND

Five hundred and fifty of the smaller depositors of the defunct La Salle Street Trust and Savings bank got their first dividends from the receiver for the Lorimer institution yesterday after a wait of two years.

Fifty checks were handed to depositors who called at the office of Receiver William C. Niblack in the Chicago Title and Trust building, and the 500 were mailed to nonresident depositors. All these checks were small.

The first check handed out locally went to Matthew F. Dailey of 2617 Mildred avenue, who had just before the bank failed deposited in it a fund of $115, a birthday present to his 1 year old daughter, Mildred. He got $28 89.

In handing out the checks yesterday the receiver did so after changing his mind as to a previous announcement.

"I had intended to hold back all the checks until Monday," said Mr. Niblack, "but one or two depositers came in this morning and pleaded so hard that I began to pay them out and will continue to do so.

"All who call at the office before noon today can have their checks. The checks paid yesterday were small, just a few hundred dollars all told, and many of them were for such sums as 75 cents."

GIRLS BLAME LOVE OF FINERY FOR THEIR THEFTS.

Two Young Women, One a Bride of Few Months, Admit Taking Goods from Loop Store.

Two 19 year old girls were locked up in the South Clark street annex yesterday for the theft of articles of clothing from a State street department store. It was the old story of love of finery and ornament that they could not procure otherwise, they told the police with tears.

One of the girls, Mrs. Lena Kelly, is a bride of seven months, and she and her husband live at the home of his parents, 2068 Ogden avenue. The other, Miss Edna Keller, lives with her. Her parents live in South Haven, Mich.

They were taken into custody in the Boston store by Mrs. Laura Kane, a store operative. In a suitcase, according to police, were found stolen furs, silk waists, gloves, and hosiery.

"It was the desire to dress like other girls," both said as they admitted the theft. Mrs. Kelly said her husband is out of work.

STATES TEST STERILIZATION ON THE INSANE

Report of American Institute of Criminal Law Shows What Has Been Done.

TWO LAWS LAST YEAR.

The annual report of the American Institute of Criminal Law and Criminology, an organization which is nation-wide in its scope, on the sterilization of criminals, to be read on Aug. 29 before the American Bar association and the Institute of Military Law, gives a summary of the sterilization laws passed and states what has been done to put these laws into operation.

"There were two sterilization laws enacted in 1915. These were in Nebraska and in Iowa.

Mode of Procedure.

"The method of selecting persons to be operated upon and the mode of procedure is as follows: In Iowa the superintendent of any state hospital for the insane and a majority of the medical staff must agree, after investigation and examination, that the operation would be for the best interests of the patient and society before they can authorize its performance on a patient, and they cannot without the written consent of the husband or the wife, if the patient is married, or, if unmarried, of the parent or guardian, and they also must have the approval of a majority of the members of the state board of control.

"In Nebraska the board of commissioners of state institutions is required to appoint a board of examiners of five physicians from the medical staffs of the institutions under their control.

"That if the inmate is capable of bearing offspring, that children born would inherit a tendency to feeble-mindedness, insanity, or degeneracy, that such children would probably become a social menace; that procreation by such inmate would be harmful to society, and that such inmate should not be paroled or discharged, unless sterilized.

"Criminals are not mentioned in either of these statutes.

What States Are Doing.

Indiana—No operations since 1908.
Washington—No operations had been performed before last year's report was written. No information has been received since then.
California—Insane, 634; criminal, 1. Since passage of law.
Connecticut—Insane, 21, since passage of of law.
Nevada—No operations.
Iowa—No operation under old law.
New Jersey—No operations.
New York—No operations. Case pending before courts March, 1916.
Michigan—No operations.
Kansas—No information. No operations up to 1915.
Wisconsin—Feeble minded, 24.

"So far as the committee has been able to ascertain, no attempt is being made to enforce any of the laws providing for the sterilization of criminals except in Washington, where the law is punitive.

FARMER WHO SHOT GIRL SURROUNDED BY POSSE.

Guy O'Brien Trapped in Cornfield Near Lee, Ill.—Bloodhounds May Be Sent After Him.

Aurora, Ill., Aug. 11.—[Special.]—Guy O'Brien, who last Wednesday shot Miss Ida Torkelson near Lisbon, is believed to be hiding tonight in a corn field near Lee, Ill.

He was traced this morning from the home of his uncle, Louis Larson, a Lee county farmer. The Larson home and corn fields for a radius of five miles around Lee are surrounded by farmers tonight. O'Brien begged for food at the Larson home last night. Inasmuch as he was given only half a loaf of bread, the posse which has hunted him all day hopes to starve him out. If he is not captured before daylight the Aurora police bloodhounds will be taken to Lee.

BERWYN CYCLE COP FINED FOR BREAKING SPEED LAW.

He Chased Speeder Into Chicago, When City Policemen Arrested Pursued and Pursuer.

Motorcycle Policemen Hackett and Burks a few nights ago espied an automobile going at the rate of forty miles an hour east in Madison street at Cicero avenue, followed closely by a motorcycle. The policemen stopped both.

The automobile was driven by Charles Schoen, owner of a garage at 418 North Kedzie avenue. The motorcyclist was M. T. Rafferty, a Berwyn motorcycle policeman.

"I'm a Berwyn motorcycle policeman," Rafferty said when he was arraigned yesterday.

CARRANZA IMPRISONED, REPORT IN WASHINGTON.

Federal Officials Told of Mexico City Disturbances—Don't Believe Story About First Chief.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 11.—[Special.]—Rumors coming by way of El Paso reached here tonight that there had been serious disturbances in Mexico City and that Carranza had been imprisoned.

Officials in the state and war departments said they had received no word of such a disturbance.

They placed no credence in the report.

Gairdner Said to Be Hiding in Canadian Town

DEFENDED BY FRIENDS

The Rev. R. H. Fortesque Gairdner, the Austin minister who has been tangled in the affairs of Anna Stearns, whom he once befriended, is hiding somewhere in Windsor, Canada. This fact was established last night. But the exact location of the pastor's hiding place in the city which lies across the river from Detroit is a deep mystery.

Many of the pastor's friends and acquaintances evidently had the idea that he is stopping at the British-American hotel in Windsor. This is denied by the clerk of the hotel, who says that the pastor has not registered there and is not there. A hundred or more telegrams addressed to the minister are waiting on the clerk's desk for his call.

Answers Telephone Calls.

It was learned, however, that during the evening the minister had received and answered two long distance telephone calls, one from Chicago and the other from Toronto, supposedly from his sister. One report had it that he is expected to return to Chicago today to tell his own story of his second disastrous meeting with Anna Stearns, the "mystery girl," to the members of his parish. Still another report stated that he intends to go on to Bayfield, Ont., his old home, to recuperate from the nervous strain he has been under.

When he does return he will be sure of a welcome, for the first statement he made of his side of the case—an interview alleged to have been given in a Windsor hotel lobby—has tended to convince his flock more than ever that he was the victim of unfortunate circumstances not of his own making. He was represented as being on the verge of hysteria. Asked if he intended to return to Chicago, he replied:

"How can I? How can I? I cannot face it all."

Girl in New Phase.

Meanwhile the Stearns girl, whose real name is Agnes Russell but who was registered in Detroit as a "Mrs. McCarthy," has changed her attitude toward the minister and now declares that, while she "hates" him, he is innocent of any wrongdoing while in her company.

Ward B. Rowland of 5953 Race avenue, treasurer of St. Martin's Protestant Episcopal church, said none of the stories coming from Detroit about the Rev. Mr. Gairdner had shaken his confidence in his pastor's integrity.

HAROLD F. HOOPS SUES HORTENSE FOR DIVORCE.

Former Gilded Youth, Who Divorced First Wife After Elopement, Seeks Release Again.

Harold Fabyan Hoops, son of William H. Hoops, 4105 Drexel boulevard, a manufacturer of fireplaces, yesterday, through his next friend, A. Morris Borroughs, filed a bill for divorce from Hortense Hoops. Charges are made against Hortense Hoops and one John Pietrous.

Harold originally was just a gilded youth. He was arrested several times for "mashing" and he served a term in the bridewell.

Once he was found working in a restaurant in St. Louis as a waiter.

In 1912 he eloped to Elgin with Miss Florence Haven. He tried to buy a wedding ring with a check for $625 signed "William H. Hoops." He was arrested, though his father settled matters. Later he was divorced.

In 1914 he was sent to the Elgin asylum for the insane on request of his father. One day he fled the asylum and after courting Miss Hortense Carson for two fleet hours he married her. Then he was caught and returned to the asylum.

SODIUM CYANIDE KILLED MINER, CHEMIST FINDS.

Police See Suicide and Attempted Murder in Double Poisoning in Congress Hotel.

The police yesterday found reason to believe that the double poisoning of Mr. and Mrs. Morse Davis at the Congress hotel last Wednesday may have been suicide and attempted murder.

Mr. Davis died without making a statement. Mrs. Davis, who was supposed to have drunk the same poison, has recovered.

Coroner's Chemist W. D. McNally discovered by analysis that the empty glass found on the floor at the head of Mr. Davis' bed had contained sodium cyanide unmixed with salts. He found that the box of salts on a shelf in the bathroom contained no trace of cyanide.

One point which Mrs. Davis failed to clear was the fact that while her husband's death was supposedly due to sodium cyanide, the contents of her stomach failed to show any trace of cyanide.

"It may be," said Detective Russell, "that when Mr. Davis went into the bathroom in the morning he purposely mixed poison instead of salts. I don't see how he could have made a mistake."

HE'S OUT OF JAIL AT LAST.

Malcolm Livingston was released from the county jail yesterday when charges against him were thrown out by the August grand jury. Livingston was arrested on complaint of his rooming house keeper, Mrs. Lucile Hoffman of 11 West Erie street, who accused him of stealing her $150 Angora cat, called "Laddie."

Soon after the preliminary hearing before Judge Goodnow Mrs. Mary Montel, who occupies the flat above Mrs Hoffman, to relieve her conscience, told the judge she had taken the cat.

BELLWOOD 'COP' FACES NEW WOE

Lawyers Find Wife in Poverty After Stormy Session at Trial of Speeders.

Motorcycle Policeman Henry Ernest of Bellwood found himself in several kinds of an embarrassing position yesterday.

Ernest it was who distinguished himself recently by arresting the members of a funeral party at an open grave and haling them on speeding charges before Justice of the Peace William M. Rowe.

Six other speeding cases were heard in Justice Rowe's court in the afternoon. After all the defendants had been fined $5 and costs First Assistant State's Attorney Michael F. Sullivan, who had been watching the proceedings, directed Assistant State's Attorney W. L. Meyer, who was there, too, to dismiss five of them. After he had thought things over Justice Rowe dismissed the sixth himself.

Visit Wife's Home.

When the hearing—a stormy affair—was over, the assistant state's attorney and some newspaper men went in the automobile of Charles M. Hayes, president of the Chicago Motor club, to the home of Policeman Ernest's wife. She was found in a tumbledown, one story cottage at the edge of Forest Park.

"We found her practically destitute," said Mr. Meyer. "She and her three children were hungry and poorly clothed, and one of the youngsters wore only a small undershirt.

"Mrs. Ernest has been married seven years, she told me, and for more than a year has received nothing from her husband except $5 last Sunday. She has been working nights as a telephone operator to get funds with which to live. The children, the oldest of whom is only 6, she has had to leave alone every night."

State's Attorney to Act.

Mrs. Ernest was directed to appear at the state's attorney's office this morning, when some course of action against her husband will be decided on. It is said he may lose his position and that he will be prosecuted by the state's attorney's office on charges of non-support or wife abandonment.

Twenty policemen, sworn in for the day, were kept busy trying to preserve order at the hearing in Justice Rowe's court. In one of the clashes Attorney Frank M. Childs, representing the Chicago Motor club, called Justice Rowe a "fathead."

REPORTS BIG GERMAN FLEET HAS LEFT THE KIEL CANAL.

Copenhagen Newspapers Say Many War Vessels Were Sighted Thursday Steaming at Great Speed.

COPENHAGEN, Aug. 12, 2:30 a. m.—A large German fleet of dreadnaughts, cruisers, destroyers, and submarines came out of Kiel canal Thursday, according to Copenhagen newspapers.

The fleet was sighted off Tranderup steaming with great speed through the narrow waters of the Little Belt, which is between the Baltic sea and the Cattegat.

DUKE OF WESTMINSTER ILL.

MAYOR REVOKES SIXTEEN CITY SALOON LICENSES.

Closes Thirteen Barrooms and One Wholesale Liquor Shop During Very Active Day.

Mayor Thompson yesterday revoked sixteen saloon licenses—thereby closing thirteen saloons and one wholesale liquor store. Two of the saloons had restaurant connections and the restaurant licenses also were revoked. The licenses hit were the following:

Walter Kaminski, 1701 West Division street.
Frank Zaloundek, 2004 West Fifty-first street.
J. H. Tillman, 60 West Twenty-sixth street.
Walter Boneszowski, 3801 North Christiana avenue.
William Hodnett, 4300 North Kedzie avenue.
Tracy J. Moyer, 3700 Broadway.
John Bednar, 2701 West Fifty-first street.
James D. Ramasotti, 3101 West Madison street.
Richard Considine, 2757 West Madison street.
J. Leahy, 3217 West One Hundred and Thirty-sixth street.
Samuel Scalsetti, 9550 Avenue N.
Eary Sbarboro, 2400 West Van Buren street.
James J. Keating, 3024 West Van Buren street.
Thomas J. Sheridan, 4724 South Halsted street.

With two exceptions all these licenses were taken because of violations of the Sunday closing law. Kaminski had been fined in the Morals court for harboring immoral women and a woman was shot while in Tillman's saloon on Aug. 2.

GIRL DREAMS WHERE SHE HID JEWELS IN CLOSET.

Detectives Search for Missing Gems Which Girl Concealed in Course of Previous Dream.

Eleven days ago jewelry valued at $700 disappeared from a dresser in the room of Mrs. Charles Courtland Smith, 10602 South Irving avenue. Mrs. Smith is the wife of a dealer in advertising novelties with an office in The Tribune building. The Morgan Park police were notified and a number of detectives searched the pawnshops in vain.

The Smiths have a daughter, Leonore, 14 years old, who at the breakfast table yesterday morning told her mother she had dreamed she had hidden the jewelry on a shelf in one of the clothes closets. A hasty search was made and the jewelry was found in its chamois bag intact.

The girl said a dream Thursday night recalled a previous one in which she fancied the presence of burglars in the house, went to the dresser, removed the jewelry, and hid it in the closet. The first dream, she said, had vanished from her conscious memory until recalled by the second.

D'ANDREA FREED ON CHARGE OF CARRYING A WEAPON.

Court Acquits Him When He Shows He "Toted" Revolver Because He Had $1,000 in Pocket.

Anthony D'Andrea, 902 Washington boulevard, arrested on the night of June 26 while carrying a revolver and considerable money, was discharged yesterday when arraigned before Judge Flanagan on a charge of carrying concealed weapons. He was taken into custody while pacing through a lot in a sparsely settled section of the south side. He had more than $1,000 in his pocket and a revolver.

ALL SUBURBS MAY GET $1 GAS BY STATE ORDER

Blue Island's Victory Thought to Presage Lower Rates.

SOME STILL PAY $1.10.

Blue Island achieved $1 gas yesterday. Blue Island's victory, it is believed, means $1 gas for all of Chicago's suburbs.

The gas rates of Blue Island were reduced from $1.10 a thousand feet to $1 by an order of the Illinois Public Utilities commission at Springfield. Complaint against the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois which supplied the town with gas, was made March 2. The commission's order permits a sliding scale of rates.

"It is a big victory and will cause general rejoicing in Blue Island," said James Noble, member of the town board.

Evanston won a fight for $1 gas some time ago. The north shore towns, from Wilmette to Waukegan, still are paying a rate of $1.10, with 10 per cent off for cash. The towns from Wilmette to Waukegan—Winnetka, Kenilworth, Highland Park, Lake Forest, and the rest—are supplied with gas by the same company which supplies Blue Island.

Cicero and Oak Park have complained to the public utilities commission and it is believed they, too, in the near future will share in a general reduction in price.

THE TRIBUNE READERS GIVE $110 TO RHIND'S MOTHER.

Fund Turned Over to Widowed Dependent on Son Drowned at Clarendon Beach.

On Friday, Aug. 4, during the recent hot spell, a young man was drowned at Clarendon beach. His name was Leonard Rhind [previously misspelled Arnhined]. He lived at 3241 Broadway and was his mother's sole support. With him cut off she was in distress. This fact was mentioned in The Tribune's story of the drowning, and it touched the hearts—and the purse strings—of several readers.

Yesterday The Tribune sent $110 to Mrs. Ella Rhind, the boy's mother. The fund was contributed by readers desirous of helping lighten the burden of the now childless widow. This sum included one amount of $50 from an Oak Park reader who asked that it be credited "In His name." A downtown firm sent $20, but wished to remain anonymous. Another kindly disposed reader sent $30, to be divided equally between The Tribune Ice Fund, Algonquin Hospital fund and the Rhind fund—all sent "in memory of a beloved mother."

Those who contributed to the fund include:

"Oak Park"	$50
Anonymous	20
M. E. Moore	5
Mrs. W. E. C.	5
C. G. N.	5
O. G.	2
"In memory of a beloved mother"	10
Anonymous	1

Two contributions of $5 each have been acknowledged in earlier issues of The Tribune and were forwarded to Mrs. Rhind at that time. Friends and relatives also have contributed nearly $80.

When the $110 was given to Mrs. Rhind yesterday she said:

"How many good, kind, generous people there are. I wish I could meet and thank each one; but I shall have to let your pape do that, for I'm not very well. I hope the time will come when I can help somebody, also. But I do thank each one of your generous readers."

Mrs. Rhind has been ill for the last week, due to the shock caused by her son's death.

USED COMPANY'S MONEY TO SPEED UP COLLECTIONS.

Employe of Illinois Central Accused of Appropriating $2,900 During His Four Years' Service.

Harry M. Huttel, 31 years old, 6362 South Winchester avenue, for four years a collector on the Illinois Central railroad, was arrested yesterday on a charge of stealing $2,200 from the railroad company.

"Think of it," Huttle said in his cell. "Here was a man collecting between $10,000 and $12,000 every day and getting a salary of $70 a month and allowed no expense account.

"For three years I spent my own money being a good fellow to the road's customers. The time came when I was unable to do this and I was forced to take some of their money. The shortage, according to an account I have kept, is $300 and not $2,200."

NOT THAT SETH E. GORDON.

Similarity of names caused Seth E. Gordon, an employe of the Adams Express company, residing at 11 South Leavitt street, a lot of trouble yesterday. He supposed he was the only person possessing this name until an Evanstonian possessing a similar one was brought into the Speeders court. The Seth E. of Chicago was kept busy denying he was the guilty party. He does not drive a motor car.

DUNNE GOING TO BORDER

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 11.—Gov. Edward Dunne, Adj. Gen. Frank S. Dickson, and Colonels M. R. Kelly and James K. Finn, both of Chicago, will leave Sunday for the Mexican border, where the Illinois state executive will make an inspection of the Illinois units. Gov. Dunne will be the first state executive to make a personal inspection of the troops of his state.

AMERICAN TRADE WITH RUSSIANS GAINING RAPIDLY

United States trade with Russia shows a much larger percentage of increase than that with any other belligerent country. Exports to Russia in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1916, were ten times as much as for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1914, while exports to France and Italy increased about fourfold, and to Great Britain threefold.

Furthermore, the character of the exports to Russia indicate permanency in the expansion. A large proportion is made up of industrial products useful in peace times as well as for war purposes. American manufacturers regard Russia as their best field for foreign trade after the war for the following reasons:

During the ten years between the Russo-Japanese war and the present war Russia's wealth doubled. Russia's population is large, three times that of South America, and virile. The peasantry has been awakened by the war and vodka has been abolished. The empire's resources are rich beyond calculation, and the impending economic development promises to parallel that of the United States in the pioneer days.

Russians Seeking Machinery.

All classes of Russians are coöperating for the first time to adopt modern methods and machines, especially those of the United States, with which the most intimate and elaborate relations are sought. Information received here from Ambassador Francis at Petrograd is highly encouraging to producers and distributors who are willing properly to supply the things needed by Russians.

American bankers and business men who have personally looked over the opportunities throughout the empire say the demand will be unlimited for high class machinery and engineering supplies and tools, etc., and there will be no quibbling about reasonable prices or terms and no doubt as to the financial stability of the buyers.

American capital in considerable amounts is finding its way into Russia now, being attracted by the extraordinarily high return upon the investment. It is believed that ruble exchange will recover relatively fast after the war. The form of Russian investment most sought by American capital is the Russian government 5½ per cent international loan, due in 1926.

Loans to Net High Profit.

This loan, bond dealers say, stands to net 13 per cent if held to maturity and exchange fully recovers.

It is calculated that Russia will build 6,000 to 7,000 miles of railroad annually after the war. Covering one-seventh of the earth's surface, the empire has less than one-sixth as many miles of railroad as the United States, about one-third of its size. For transportation as well as industrial development Russia must look largely to United States capital, as the neighboring countries will have all they can do to take care of themselves. English, French, Belgian, and German capital has been largely invested in Russia.

Before the war Germany almost monopolized the Russian market, partially by reason of a commercial treaty and partially through remarkably shrewd methods of trade exploitation. Fully $100,000,000 of American exports to Russia annually, the great bulk of the business, moved in German ships and passed through German hands, which seized the prestige as well as the profit.

Seeking Copper Control.

Indications are that the belligerent nations are actively endeavoring to secure, or at least tie up, the copper output of the United States for 1916. Representatives of Germany and Austria are in the market with inquiries for quantities larger than ever before named in a single transaction. The effort is apparently to secure from 250,000,000 to 500,000,000 pounds for delivery in 1917.

Large producers are naming 26½ to 27 cents per pound for small lots for October-November-December delivery, but have named no figures on large quantities. It is understood that if the negotiations, now in the preliminary stage, are concluded favorably, the copper will be stored here until the end of hostilities and then shipped to Germany, Austria and Turkey.

Promise of a Battle Royal.

Suit has been begun in the federal court at Kansas City by the Universal Oil Products company against the Standard Oil company of Indiana, claiming the Burton process of making gasoline is an infringement on the Dubbs patent owned by the Universal company.

It is understood the Armour interests are back of the Universal, which of course means that the latter have crossed swords with the Standard Oil company.

Moving to Chicago.

The speedometer business of the Stewart-Warner company will be removed from Beloit, Wis., to a special department provided for it with the company's Chicago plant. The Beloit plant will be converted into a foundry, employing upward of 600 men, where all of the company's castings will be made.

This is an entirely new departure, as heretofore all castings have been purchased from outside sources. New additions to the Chicago plant of the company, which will be ready in a few weeks, will practically double the company's floor space and enable the working force to be increased from 2,000 to 2,500 employés.

Gulf States Steel.

Net earnings of the Gulf States Steel company in July, after allowing for heavy reserves and depreciation, were $202,042, an increase of $155,070 over July, 1915, or 331 per cent.

The estimate for July is within $2,000 of the estimate made by reliable sources in the earlier report. These earnings are at the rate of 40 per cent on the common stock.

Chicago Stock Exchange.

Union Carbide shares were easily the leader in point of activity as well as in the extent of price changes. The latter were decidedly upward. The gain was 6½ points, which marks an advance of 15½ points in a week. It is claimed the company has earned four times its regular cash dividend during the last year, or about 40 per cent on the stock. The company has a promising and a practically clear field, as most of the largest consumers are concerns that are allied with or owned by the Union Carbide company. Prest-O-Lite, now classified with Union Carbide group, was quoted yesterday at 96. Line Air Products was 185 bid and 192 asked. Union Carbide went to 198½.

Most of the remaining securities dealt in were in small lots. Stewart-Warner made a good advance, closing at 103½ from a start at 102.

Money and Exchange.

Money rates in Chicago steady at 4 per cent on collateral, 4@4½ per cent on commercial paper, and 4½@5 per cent over the counter. New York exchange sold at 10c discount. Chicago bank clearings were $63,407,678.

About 70 per cent of last year's grain crops are now estimated as probably in the Great Northern railroad's territory, although last year's yields were the largest ever known. Officials who make this estimate believe increased tonnage in other commodities will make up for the loss in grain. There has been an increase of over 100 per cent in ore tonnage and satisfactory gains also in other commodities.

MARKET TONE UNCERTAIN.

New York, Aug. 11.—The course of prices in today's trading indicated rather plainly the uncertainty and confusion prevalent in speculative circles. Opening prices were firm to strong, these giving way to general recessions and points of weakness before midday. Later the movement became more irregular, rails as well as specialties often pursuing opposite directions.

Reading, again the market leader, imparted strength to the entire list in the final hour, when it recovered from its early heaviness and advanced 3 points, to 103. Other rails were held in partial check by conflicting rumors affecting the mediation conferences, but hardened at the close.

Among specialties General Motors was the outstanding feature, supplementing yesterday's gain of 25 points with an additional fifty on reports of another large prospective dividend. The preferred shares rose 4½ points.

Other Motors Show Gains.

Average gains of two points were made by Studebaker, Maxwell, and Chandler Motors. Similar gains were made by kindred issues on the curb, Stutz scoring a new high record at 66.

Equipment and munitions issues were visibly strengthened by the remarkable annual earnings of American Locomotive, which showed a fivefold increase over the preceding year. New York Air Brake, which is in receipt of further foreign contracts, gaind 6 points, with 1 to 3 points for other shares of the same group.

United States Steel varied only fractionally and closed at a slight advance, but Bethlehem Steel gained 13 points, with a moderate advance in Crucible Steel. Shipping shares repeated their recent activity, but proved more than ordinarily susceptible to realizing sales.

Coppers were more firm, but made little headway, despite the circulation of reports indicating a recurrence of last year's enormous foreign demand for the refined metal.

Sugar and Oils Steady.

Bonds were irregular, with a slight concession in Anglo-French 5s. United States bonds were unchanged on call, but the coupon 4s advanced 1 per cent on an actual sale.

IN FOREIGN STOCK MARKETS.

LONDON, Aug. 11.—Money and discount rates were quiet today. A spurt in home rails was the feature of the trading on the stock exchange. The advance was due to Chancellor McKenna's statement of the financial conditon of the nation. Foreign issues showed firmness, diamond stocks advanced again on the good support, and Kaffirs were firm but inactive. The Russian groups were steady, but shipping shares reacted under profit taking. American securities were firm, but transactions were small. Bar silver, 31¼d per ounce. Money, 4¾ per cent. Discount rates, short bills, 5⅝@5¾ per cent; 3 months, 5⅝@5¾ per cent.

NEW MILWAUKEE ELECTRIC REGISTERS ITS TITLES.

The Chicago and Milwaukee Electric railroad will hereafter be known as the North Shore and Milwaukee railroad. The transfer of the property owned by the former company was registered with the recorder of deeds of Waukegan yesterday.

The property represented in this transaction is that owned by the company in Illinois only and its value is $1,200,000.

Officials of the new corporation say that $13,000,000 in mortgages and trust deeds will soon be recorded in Waukegan for the railroad.

Denby Motor Truck.

C. G. S., Lafayette, Ind.—The Denby Motor Truck company reports that it has been paying quarterly dividends on its $250,000 of preferred stock, but has not started payments on the $500,000 common. It says production has increased each month since January. No figures on earnings are given. The balance sheet of Jan. 1 last shows $89,079 of accounts payable and $3,973 of dealers' deposits as the only liabilities besides capital stock. Of the $843,052 of assets $93,292 was in plant, $88,200 in stock subscriptions, most of which have been paid since, and about $260,000 in cash receivables and inventory. The balance, $396,171, or about 47 per cent, is good will.

National Rubber.

A. E. W.—The statement that the large rubber companies make more than 25 per cent profit on their sales is far from the truth. The annual reports of most of them show 14 or 15 per cent profit on net sales. This does not include any charge for depreciation. The Goodrich company reported about 20 per cent last year, but the average of four years is less than 15. The National Rubber company's "literature" bases promises of big earnings on a prospective output of $4,500,000 worth of tires on which it expects 25 per cent profit. The company furnishes no information about its past earnings or present financial condition.

Brief Answers.

L. H. B., Janesville, Wis.—The Wisconsin Drainage company is engaged as a contractor in draining marsh land. In 1915 it paid 45 per cent on $70,000 capital. Since then it has increased its capital stock to $150,000. Its equipment is valued at $150,000. It has been in business ten years.

A. B., Michigan City, Ind.—The Tribe of Ben Hur has had a declining membership and an increasing death rate for some years. Under such conditions a readjustment of assessments was inevitable. The trouble is with the system, not with the management of the order.

W. B. P., Herrin, Ill.—Most Wyoming asbestos stocks are hazardous speculations. A number of companies were promoted three or four years ago and for a few months there was a market for the stocks. Then the market disappeared.

J. G.—If you buy shares on a margin and the shares are assessed, evidently you will have to sell or pay the assessment. No one else will pay it while you hold the stock.

E. A. S., South Bend, Ind.—Thunder Mountain companies were failures. The district was the subject of a gold mining fever twelve or fifteen years ago.

A. G.—The new motor company you ask about has been reviewed. It is still in the purely speculative stage.

CANADIAN CROP INJURED; FROST DAMAGE FEARED

Bullish Reports from Northwest Fail to Lift Prices; Coarse Grains Easy.

The news was extremely bullish from the Canadian northwest yesterday, but in the local wheat market there was heavy selling pressure throughout most of the session, which offset the new buying, while local longs who have sold out recently were waiting for lower prices before reinstating their lines. Light to heavy frosts were reported at several points in Canada, and the Winnipeg market held firm most of the day, closing a little higher. Fears were entertained of more frost last night. Prices here finished ¾@1¼c lower.

The possibility of further reverses for the Austrians, which would renew talk of a separate peace, was a bearish factor, and it was believed market leaders wished to steady the market in order to increase the export trade. Foreigners while raising their bids steadily have been unable to keep up with the swift speculative advances.

Rust Spreads in Canada.

Aside from the frost reports northwest, the rust news was bad from Canada. Le Count said the principal wheat section of Saskatchewan was badly infected with rust, with some places as bad as in South Dakota. His reports are being confirmed by Inglis, and also by Canadian interests that a week ago were extremely optimistic over the crop outcome.

Northwest reports were indicative of little improvement. So far as the action of the market is concerned, many traders take the position that the advance has discounted serious damage both in this country and in Canada. Big margin demands also are likely to discourage new buying. However, much will depend on Canadian developments, for if the crop is cut down any more the buying movement is likely to be renewed at any time on a big scale.

Cash Demand Broadening.

The cash demand here was good and there were sales of 125,000 bu. It is significant that country offerings are small with country holders showing no disposition to sell even at the advance. Mills report a slow business, as buyers have not yet become accustomed to the rapid increase in values. The seaboard reported 1,000,000 bu taken for export, including 500,000 American wheat by the Dutch government. Foreigners were credited with buying futures both at Chicago and at Winnipeg.

American shipments were 1,353,000 bu for the day and 6,098,000 bu for the week against 4,523,000 bu a year ago. Argentina shipped 368,000 bu; India, 808,000 bu; and Australia, 1,144,000 bu. Northwest receipts show a falling off, 202 cars against 371 last week and 81 last year. Winnipeg arrivals were 435 cars; last year, 45. Cables were unchanged to 1d up.

Rains Cause Corn Selling.

Rains over a considerable part of the corn belt checked the buying demand and encouraged local selling. The reactionary tendency in wheat also was a factor, and in spite of good support by the bulls, there was a heavy tone with final prices showing net losses of ⅝c to 1⅜c. Cash prices were ½@1½c lower, with sales of 135,000 bu, including 50,000 bu to exporters. Country selling was small, but there was a little new corn offered from southern Illinois for December shipment.

Cables were unchanged. Argentine shipments were 3,112,000 bu, compared to 4,276,000 bu a year ago, and from this country weekly clearances were liberal at 1,578,000 bu against 271,000 bu a year ago. Clearances for the day were 88,000 bu.

Oats Hedging Is Heavy.

Oats receipts continue heavy, and there is steady hedgingpressure. The easier tone in other grains also was a depressing influence. The close was ¼@½c lower. The shipping demand was fair and there were sales of 165,000 bu, including 50,000 bu to exporters. Sales to go to store were 300,000 bu. Receipts were 727 cars here, with 2,017,000 bu at western points, against 882,000 bu a year ago. Clearances were 674,000 bu. Argentine exports for the week were 2,150,000 bu.

Provisions were higher early, but sold off later. Hog prices at the yards were up 10@15c, and the strong tone helped stimulate some buying support. Western packers were credited with selling on the advance, and during the latter part of the session the demand was poor. Receipts were 16,000, with 13,000 the estimate for today. Western receipts were 61,900, compared to 63,500 a year ago. Liverpool prices were 1s off for hams and 6d up for cash and September lard.

Rye and Barley Higher.

Rye was stronger. Cash No. 2 sold at $1.12@1.14, and No. 3 at $1.12. Sample grade sold at 90c. Receipts were 8 cars.

Barley 3@5c higher for choice grades. Malting ranged at 80c+$1.00, and sold at 84c@$1.00. Feed ranged at 70@75c, with sales at 72@75c. Screenings 48@63c. Receipts were 20 cars.

Timothy seed was quiet. September $5.75 bid and $6.00 asked; October $5.50 bid and $5.75 asked, and March $5.75 bid and $6.00 asked. Country lots nominally $4.00@5.75.

Duluth flax closed 9@10¾c higher, with cash on track and September $2.21½, November $2.25, and December $2.21½. Receipts, 1 car. Minneapolis 10½c higher with cash on track $2.21½@2.26¼. Receipts 6 cars. Winnipeg, 6@10½c higher, with October and November $2.03 and December $1.98¼. Receipts, 27 cars.

NEWS AND GOSSIP OF BOARD OF TRADE

Inglis wired Logan-Bryan that from Portal to Yellow Grass, Sask., wheat was badly rusted and would go 5 to 10 bu. Late wheat is rusting and may be badly damaged. Le Count wired Barrell from Foam Lake, Sask.: "All this northern territory is affected with black rust. Some early fields only slightly, but most of the crop is late and I am fully convinced now that the crop will be extremely light in this province. I saw fields west from Yorkton that were as badly affected as in South Dakota. The Saskatchewan government report denying black rust except in a small portion of the province is not true as the principal wheat area of the state is rusted. I think frost likely tonight. If frost occurs now 75 per cent of the wheat in this province will be damaged."

More profit taking by bulls in wheat was in evidence yesterday, and there appeared to be selling on the advances by strong interests. This selling was supposed to have been based on the fact that prices have advanced rapidly, and that under ordinary conditions a further setback would be in order, especially if the demands for heavy margins curtailed outside speculation.

Developments in Canada will be the big influence for the present. Reports from that country yesterday were bullish, and there were light frosts at a good many places with fears entertained of lower temperature again last night. Heavy frosts, it is admitted, would do serious damage as much wheat is still in the milk. Foreign markets showed a quieter tendency as was the case in this country.

Cash wheat prices were steady relative with a good demand from mills. Corn was about ½@1½c lower and oats unchanged to ½c off. Shipping sales were 125,000 bu wheat, corn 135,000 bu, and oats 165,000 bu. Sales to exporters included were 50,000 bu corn and 50,000 bu oats.

Bradstreet's reported exports of wheat and flour from both coasts this week at 6,098,000 bu, a decrease of 1,738,000 bu. Corn exports were placed at 1,578,000 bu, increasing 257,000 bu. Comparative totals follow:

	Wheat and Flour.	Corn.

Argentine shipments of wheat this week decreased 1,144,000 bu. Corn shipments decreased 578,000 bu; oats decreased 310,000 bu and flax decreased 31,000 bu. Comparative totals follow:

	This week.	Last week.	Last year.

Foreigners continue to buy wheat on a liberal scale. The Dutch government bought 500,000 bu American wheat yesterday, according to New York reports, and total sales were said to have been around 1,000,000 bu, including some Canadian grain. Premiums at the gulf hold strong, and receivers say there is no increase in pressure from the country, farmers generally holding. The movement is comparatively light.

Argentine visible supply of wheat this week increased 736,000 bu and corn increased 782,000 bu. Comparative totals follow:

	This week.	Last week.	Last year.
Corn	16,422,000	15,640,000	9,384,000

Rains were quite general in northern Illinois, eastern Iowa and Indiana. In the southwest there was little precipitation with temperatures still high.

Receipts inspected yesterday: Wheat, 261 cars; corn, 118 cars; oats, 727 cars; rye, 8 cars; barley, 20 cars. Hogs estimated for today, 13,000 head.

General advances of 15@20c were made in hog values at Chicago yesterday, in some instances the gain being even greater. Top sales were made at $10.80 and the bulk of transactions were at $10.20@10.70. Yesterday's high price was the best since April, 1910, when $11.00 was paid, and the general market is $1.00 higher than a week ago. All packers were good buyers, although outside orders were small. It was rumored one of the local houses underbid and secured a large foreign meat order, and that the keen competition among local packers resulted in the sharply higher market this week. Receipts were 16,000 head. Pigs were generally 10@15c higher.

Steer cattle ruled firm with a prime drove of Illinois-fed shorthorns selling at $10.85, the best price of the week and a new high for the month. Cows and heifers were easier under indifferent demand as result of packers' getting a liberal run of light stock from the south direct. Bulls also weak. Calves were unchanged. Receipts were 3,000 head.

Sheep Steady; Lambs Higher.

Native sheep and yearlings comprised the entire supply of fresh offerings in this division, and they ruled steady. Native ewes sold mainly around $7.25. Native lambs were 15@25c higher while range lambs showed 10c gain. Best native lambs made $11.10 while range lambs topped at $11.35. Offerings were small. Receipts of sheep and lambs were 7,000 head.
